AndoverHighSchool TIDBITS

The local Midget team did not hit on all five last Thursday night after the first quarter so it lost to Canisteo 35 to 23. As the game started everything pointed toward an Andover victory but aided by a couple of spurts the first in the final seconds of the first quarter in which they caught up to the locals and another in the third where they got several baskets ahead in the second half. At times the game was very fast but then each team would relapse into poor basketball.

The boys of the Purple and White had difficulty in finding the basket. If they had been as accurate as in the previous games well there might have been a different story as well as a different score.

A Wellsville grammar school team was scheduled to play here in the preliminary. They did not but in an appearance. In place of this preliminary game we had two very good grade games. The first was won by Harvard 6 to 4. Their opponents were Princton. Of course the players were members of grades four, five and six. In the bigger boys' game the Army defeated the Navy 12 to 11. The Army and Navy includes boys from the seventh and eighth grades.

Eighth Grade News

The Eighth Grade are having a contest. There are two sides, the captains of each side are Elizabeth Snyder and Herman Ingraham. The contest includes:

Perfect attendance—plus ten.
People being absent—minus one.
Average 75 per cent. or above in all subjects—plus five.
Sent to the office—minus five.

This contest is to expire in the month of April. The losing grade is to entertain the winning side.

The Way of Life By Bruce Barton

YOUR EYES AND YOUR BRAIN

This is one of the greatest tragedies of modern life. Men are forgetting how to walk.

They travel by taxicabs and street cars; they travel by automobile; they project their personalities over a telephone wire.

But they do not walk.

There is a double loss in this.

A loss in health, first. Most of the diseases of modern men originate in the intestines. Formerly men and women walked enough to keep the stomach muscles firm, the intestines healthfully agitated.

Now men and women even more so—sit all day slumped in.

Germs settle down inside them gladly; and Death, his work made easy for him, laughs.

There is another loss, equally great. A loss in mental keenness and mental wealth.

Did you ever take a walk in the country with someone who knows really how to walk?

Someone of the type of the naturalist Linnaeus, for instance?

Linnaeus walked into Oland, and found the lands of the farmers ruined by sand blown from the beaches.

He discovered that the roots of a certain beach grass were long and firm: he taught the farmers to sow that grass along the beach, and so preserved their lands from ruin.

He walked into Thorne, and found that at a certain period in every year the cattle fell sick and died.

It was a curse, the people said—the act of angry spirits.

But Linnaeus, examining the pastures, uncovered a noxious weed, and showed the farmers how the work of one laborer for a few days every season would root it out.

In his walks he examined and catalogued 8,000 plants, vegetables, and flowers.

How many plants, vegetables and flowers do you think you could identify if you were to see them in their native state?

"Few men," said Dr. Johnson, "know how to take a walk."

But those favored few enjoy a glorious and mysterious privilege.

To discover where the violets first bloom in the spring—

To be able to tell directions in the woods, by knowing that large pines bear more numerous branches on their southern side—

Or that grass grows on the south side of ant-hills and whortle-berries on the north—

There are few pleasures more richly satisfying; none that pay larger dividends in health.

The man who goes into the country once a week is a better citizen than the man who never goes, even tho his eyes see nothing more inspiring on his walk than a golf ball.

Flabby legs usually mean flabby brains.

If you would think clearly, speak forcefully, work effectively, get out into the country when you can—and walk.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

Stories in the Snow

Many interesting stories are told by the tracks found in the snow while hiking thru the woodlands during the winter months. Animals and birds leave a trail that tells distinctly what their movements have been in their day or night of seeking food, playing, resting, and sometimes tragedy.

An excellent method of teaching youngsters the nature of wild animals and birds, their tracks and habits during the cold weather period is to take them on a trip thru the snow covered fields, marshes and into the deep forest. Here they will discover startling stories in the quiet solitude and add much to their knowledge of the actual habits of the denizens of the outdoors.

Probably the most common track seen will be that of the cottontail, snow-shoe or jack-rabbit. Their trails will be discovered in the swamps and evergreen thickets and at the edge of the forest, or along the banks of a stream. In many instances the tracks of a weasel, mink, bob-cat, lynx, wolf or fox will also be discovered following the trails of rabbits, and perchance you might come upon the spot where the hungry animal captured his quarry and devoured him.

Deep in the woods you will see deer tracks and "rounded out" beds where the fleet-footed animal has rested. Wolf tracks, especially the lanky timber wolf and lobo, are usually seen where the deer seek cover and protection, which is usually deep in some cedar swamp where the moss and soft ground vegetation can be uncovered for food.

The smooth surface of the frozen river bed is always used by many animals during winter in their journey after food. Here you will see the tracks of mink, otter, beaver, racoon, muskrat, wolves, fox and almost every native furry inhabitant of the outdoors. The river bed makes easy going and the animals make much better time in their long nightly trips afield.

George Holmes

George Holmes, formerly of Clarksville, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eva Johnson of Keller street, last Thursday afternoon. His age was 70. He had made his home with his daughter for the last seven years, and had been in ill health for some time, suffering from heart trouble.

The funeral took place Saturday at 2 o'clock at the Baptist church in Clarksville, as it was not possible to hold it at Mrs. Johnson's home on account of the illness of her young daughter. The interment was in Clarksville cemetery.

Mr. Holmes leaves two sons, Frank of Andover and Floyd of Hornell; two daughters, Bertha, Mrs. Thad Holley of Shinglehouse, Pa., and Mrs. Johnson, also 14 grandchildren.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Johnson, whose husband died four months ago, and whose daughter has been ill for a number of weeks.—Cuba Patriot.

The Porch Chair

In the good old summer days, in a time of simpler ways, when the heavy work was done, and to westward drew the sun, having freshened up a bit, Aunt Susannah used to sit in a front porch rocking chair, took a heap of comfort there. 'Neath the maples by the walk passersby would stop and talk. They could holer their hello, or for gossip closer go. Everyone was welcomed there, her salon that rocking chair, with another one to spare. We go flitting here and yonder, all our cash on autos squander, we can never sit and ponder. Too much energy we're showing, moving for the sake of going. Let us pause and mourn a bit for the days when folks could sit. Death kissed Aunt Susanah's brow, from the porch rocks on now she can see the cherubim flit about from limb to limb, rounding out their tummies nice with the fruits of Paradise. Surely there her friends, out walking, stop for a bit of talking, surely to her ears are given pleasant gossipings of Heaven. If I land there, as I hope, she will give me all the dope.

Mrs. O'Brien: "Was your old man in comfortable circumstances when he died?"

Mrs. Finnegan: "No, 'e was under a train."

The price of seed does not mean anything; two bags of clover may look exactly alike and one of them be twice as valuable as the other for seeding purposes in this climate.

The difference in the price you are asked to pay between seed of verified origin and government test and seed that may come from obscure sources is so little that you hardly know it and you positively risk crop failure when you consider only price.

We are proud of the seed we have to supply you this season; it was selected with great care. Its origin, purity and vitality is vouched for and you will find our prices extremely low.

Orders are booked at present values and the price guaranteed.

Beat Bach and Wagner

"Name the world's greatest composer," said the musical instructor.

"Chloroform," promptly replied the young man who had studied medicine.

Is your paint-starved house food for neighborhood gossip? Just take a good look and satisfy yourself.

Use Benjamin Moore's Paint, hire a good painter and get a real job at a right price.

Many a man has been rated as lacking in community spirit, as being unable financially, or even as a business failure because he let his buildings run down for want of paint, and a few minor repairs.

A good paint job is an investment only when the paint used is of a quality that will stand heat and cold, wet and dry, hot sun and frost—in fact, all kinds of weather and quick changes.

Moore's Paint will cost you more per gallon, but will paint your building complete for less money. No paint can spread farther, cover better or wear longer.

We have sold it for more than 15 years and it has never failed to give full service.

By actual test it has been found that animals badly infected with lice require one-fourth more feed, and full production is impossible from a lousy cow.

Gray Lawn Farm Louse Chase will kill the lice on livestock quickly, safely and economically.

Poultry will treat themselves if given a dust box mixture. Very little of the powder is required and the simple method of applying makes it cheap to use.

Your money back plus ten per cent. if Gray Lawn fails when used according to directions. We stand squarely behind these goods.

A Sanette Garbage Can will improve appearances around the kitchen sink.

Never in the history of seeding has it been so important to know where and under what conditions your seed was grown, its germination and vitality; its strength to stand the extremes of our winter climate will depend very largely on those facts.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Regular meeting Edward Seaman W. R. C., Saturday night.

The Meat Basket of W. B. Child in Angelica was destroyed by fire last week.

Mrs. W. M. Woodruff of Dyke street entertained at bridge, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Martha Orvis is reported seriously ill with pleurisy at the home of her son, Ernest Orvis.

The streets have been in an extremely dangerous condition owing to the ice the past two days.

Pancake supper at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening, March 6th—5:30 until all are served.

Mrs. George Barrett is having a two weeks' vacation from her duties as clerk at the Tuttle Variety Store.

The contract for re-building the church, which was damaged by fire, at Alfred last fall, has been awarded to Earl Leonard of Richburg.

The S. D. Baptist Ladies' Aid Society will serve a 50c dinner Sunday, March 2nd, at the church, beginning at 12:30. Everyone invited.

Warren Perry, living on the Taylor farm, east of the village, was hurt Tuesday when driving to the village and a bridge gave way, letting the car into the creek.

The body of Mrs. Mary Denroache of Belmont was brought to that village for burial from the Episcopal church home at Geneva, N. Y., where she died February 17th, aged 94 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hammond have moved into their new home on Water street, and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Laven are moving into the rooms vacated by them in Mrs. Bessie Hawkins' house.

Dr. John Common has been recommended for re-appointment as postmaster of Andover by representative Daniel A. Reed of Dunkirk. Dr. Common has given Andover efficient postal service during his term.

Edward Gardner, employed on an oil lease near Bolivar, was hurled 50 feet when an explosion occurred at a tank upon which he was standing to thaw out a stop. He was badly burned on the face and body.

Miss Zeta Joyce lost her balance while crossing the creek near the silk mill during the high water this week and fell into the stream. Ray Drake jumped in to help her and men from the mill had to assist the two in getting from the water, due to the swift current.

The barn on the H. E. Robinson farm, south of this village, came near going up in smoke this week, when the tenant overturged a lighted lantern in the hay. The prompt assistance of nearby men in smothering the flames saved the building which was filled with stock and farm machinery.

The A. J. Deer Co., of Hornell has recently closed a contract for a $300,000 job. Their work will be to turn 2,000 electric coffee mills and meat grinders from 25 cycle service to 60 cycle service in Buffalo. The work is to be done for the General Electric Co., of Buffalo.

Wallace Boyd purchased the late George Hartrum property on Harmon street which was sold last Monday on administrators' sale to settle the estate. The place sold for $800. It is an old landmark in the village. When built and occupied many years ago by the late Dr. Baker it was considered one of the finest residences in this section.

The relatives of the late William A. Holmes of Belmont, who was killed February, 1929, when his car went thru a guard rail, into the Genesee river on the Wellsville-Belmont road, have brought action against the state for "fatal personal injuries" and "property damage" sustained by Holmes, because of alleged negligence of the state in not properly guarding the point.

Regular meeting Thomas Lynch Auxiliary, Tuesday evening.

Forty million dollars is the estimated cost of the taking of the coming census.

Another party at I. O. O. F. Hall tonight (Friday). The Hollander's orchestra as usual.

Wesley Johnson of Knapps Creek had his leg broken in two places, when run over by a tractor.

Mrs. Arling Baker entertained a company at bridge Tuesday evening at her home on Center street.

The Rebekah Club was very nicely entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Denzil Baker at her home.

The body of Thomas Terwilliger, who died at the county home at Angelica, was taken to Fillmore for burial.

Undersheriff Harry Kemp delivered Adelbert "Dad" Kellogg to the Monroe County Penitentiary, Wednesday.

Lynn Trowbridge, who has been employed on the night shift at the Hornell silk mill, has been transferred to the day force.

New maple sugar is on sale at our stores. The recent warm weather brought a good run of sap from maple orchards with south exposure.

Andrew Bros., former Olean jewelers, have purchased 114 acres and 18 producing wells located on White Hill, Alma township, formerly owned by the Triangle Oil Co.

The parties being held each alternate Friday night at Odd Fellows' Hall are proving most enjoyable and are well patronized with capacity houses. Tonight is the night—(Friday) Feb. 28th.

Word was received in Andover, Monday of the death of Mrs. Charles Mourhess, who had been ill several months, at her home in Washington, D. C. The body was taken to Mohawk, her former home, for burial, Tuesday.

R. L. Dickinson and family have moved from Wellsville to Andover this week, into apartments in the property known as the "castle" on Hill street. Mrs. Dickinson will be remembered by Andover people as formerly Miss Nellie Mead of this village.

Three Gold Star mothers of Allegany county are listed among those who will be taken to France by the government to visit the graves of their soldier sons buried there. They are Mrs. Ella E. Canfield, Friendship; Mrs. Carrie Kingsley, Cuba and Mrs. Ina Bird of Swain.

Announcement is made of the marriage, Monday evening, February 24th, of Miss Kathryn Jones of Allentown and Lyle R. Norton of Belmont. Mr. and Mrs. Norton are enjoying a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and other eastern points and upon their return will make their home at Whitesville, where the groom is employed.

Miss Mae Rogers, employed at the Brundage Tavern, had a close call from what might easily have been a fatal mistake, Monday evening, when she took a dose of lysol thinking it medicine which she had been taking. The two bottles being placed side by side in the medicine cabinet. Fortunately she discovered her mistake and did not swallow any amount of the drug. First aid was given her at the tavern and after some delay a physician was located.

Some Experiences In South America

The Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Charles A. Robinson, Friday evening, Feb. 28th, at 7:30. All men of the class and every other man who would like to join it are invited.

After the business session, Rev. John McIntosh of the Baptist church will deliver an address. His subject will be "Some Experiences in South America."

Refreshments will be served.

Arlein V. Houghtling

Arlein, the little three-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Houghtling died Tuesday, Feb. 25, at their home on North Main street. The attending physician, Dr. Taylor of Whitesville pronounced the disease as erysipelas. Funeral services were held from the home Wednesday and burial made in Hillside cemetery.

Gold Star Mother Killed

Mrs. Emma Boettner, 69 years of age, of Scio, was instantly killed Sunday noon as she was crossing the highway in front of her home to get a pail of water when hit by a Studebaker sedan driven by A. M. Darlow of Wellsville. It is believed the woman became confused and walked directly in front of the car.

Mrs. Boettner had been a lifelong resident of Allegany county and highly respected. Two daughters survive and two sons lost their lives in the World War.
