VETERAN DISBANDS LAST MAN'S CLUB

Charley Lockwood Sets at Table With 33 Vacant Chairs and Drinks Toast to His Comrades.

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—A weary old soldier sipped a toast in bright Burgundy today, faithfully fulfilling his covenant with the dead and writing the final chapter in the Saga of the Last Man's Club.

About the long table which had Charley Lockwood at its head stood 33 vacant chairs, each with a bow of black, as the 87-year-old veteran of the Civil War drank wine in memory of his comrades, fulfilling a vow of 46 years standing.

His thin face was solemn as Lockwood repeated a bit of verse and poured from the bottle set aside at the organization meeting of the club a swallow of the amber liquid. He quaffed it as the members had decreed when they first met July 21, 1885, to observe the anniversary of the Battle of Bull Run in which they fought together.

Each year there was a reunion and each year there were more vacant chairs but today was the first when only one veteran appeared. With his promise kept, Lockwood closed the records of the club and prepared to return to his home at Chamberlain, S. D., for no longer will there be reunions—the destiny of the organization has been achieved.

Completing the patern for the ceremony, so carefully laid out long ago, Lockwood addressed his simple toast to "My Comrades," and then repeated a verse read at its first meeting, his voice ringing out clearly in the dining room which stands on the site of the banquet where the initial meeting was held.

"The camp fire smoulders—ashes;
"The clouds are black athwart the sky;
"No tap or drums, no bugle call;
"My comrades, all, goodbye."

Then he took up the bottle and drank as cheers from the roomful of old pioneers, friends, widows of former club members and relatives were given him. Next to him sat Mrs. Samuel Bloomer, widow of the color-bearer of Company B, First Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, of which the club members were all former members. It was with this unit they all volunteered in answer to Lincoln's first call in April, 1861, serving thru four years of warfare, losing more than half of their numbers at Gettysburg.

County Association Meets Here

The Allegany County Past Noble Grands Association met in Andover Thursday, July 18th, with representatives present from nearly every lodge in the county.

At 1 o'clock luncheon was served the company by the Andover ladies. Among the out-of-town members in attendance was Mrs. Krese of Wellsville, who has been a Past Noble Grand in the order for over 50 years and is now the oldest Past Noble Grand in Allegany county.

At the business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Chloe Barfield of Cuba, the following ladies were elected to fill the offices for the coming year: Mrs. Blanche Shavaller, Bolivar, president; Mrs. Margaret Place, Alfred, first vice president; Mrs. Finella Granger, Cuba, second vice president; Mrs. Susie Parker, Whitesville, secretary; Mrs. Ellen King, Wellsville, treasurer.

A short program was presented at the close of the business session. A violin solo, played by Mrs. Denzel Baker, with Mrs. A. L. Bloss accompanist, was received with a round of applause, the ladies responding to an encore. Miss Helen Vickers played very skillfully a violin solo, with Mrs. Harold Hardy at the piano, and Miss Marion Swartz gave a vocal solo, playing the accompaniment on the violin herself.

A Maypole dance, by eight young girls, under direction of Mrs. Hardy was a pleasing number on the program. Readings were given by Mrs. W. N. Rice and Mrs. Backus.

July 31st the Association will meet at Island Prak for their annual picnic.

Firemen Called to Rexville

In the early hours of Monday morning, the fire alarm for an out-of-town call, was sounded and within a short time the boys were away with the LaFrance pumper and chemical truck. The call came from Rexville, where three frame buildings were in flames, a grist mill, cider mill and warehouse. The fire had such headway it was impossible to save them.

HOOVER TO CUT GOVERNMENT COSTS

Searching Study Directed to Every Branch of Federal Service to Meet Drop In Income.

Washington.—In the hope of bringing about important reductions in government expenditures during the present fiscal year, without, however, interfering with the program in aid of employment, President Hoover has initiated scrutiny of the outlay of every branch of the government.

What the total that can be saved will reach is as yet unascertainable, but it is the President's purpose to take up an anticipated slackening of income tax payments next year.

The matter was thoroly gone into by the President and his full Cabinet at a meeting July 18. The department heads were strongly urged by the President to hold expenditures below estimates so as to aid in avoiding a deficit.

The budget for the current fiscal year beginning July 1, according to the President, totals $209,000,000 above the actual expenditures for the last fiscal year. The largest increases are for speeding up of buildings, inland waterways, and public works generally, in order to relieve unemployment, and the very considerable increase in outlays for veterans' relief.

In discussing the matter the President issued a statement as follows, in part:

"There has been some confusion as to the amount of increased expenditures imposed by the last Congress by the mistaken inclusion of authorized programs which extend over many years, such as public buildings, roads and rivers and harbors and only in a small part fall on each annual budget.

"Also some comparisons of federal expenditures include the post office outlays. It has always been the practice to include only the post office deficit. Otherwise, real comparisons would be destroyed by the variations in post office operations.

"Including the estimated postal deficit, the total budget estimates of expenditures for the present fiscal year are $4,403,254,457 as compared with actual expenditures for the last fiscal year of $4,094,152,487, or an increase of $309,101,970, being an increase of five per cent.

"The discussion today was directed to measures for reduction of expenditures below these estimates, with a view of meeting possible reduction of revenue arising from slack times."

FORMER PASTOR'S FAMILY IS BUSY

June Proved Month of Many Activities for Family of Rev. F. M. Baker of Cleveland.

June was a busy month in the family of Rev. F. M. Baker of Cleveland, former pastor of Whitesville Methodist church and who is now superintendent of the Cleveland Goodwill Industries.

During the latter part of May and the first part of June he and Mrs. Baker (formerly Chloe Rose) took an auto trip thru New England to the home of his brothers and the scenes of early pastorates, finally attending the National Conference of Social Workers in Boston of which he is a member.

On June 9th, their older son, Kenneth, received his Master of Arts degree at Ohio Wesleyan University, having gotten his Bachelor of Arts degree in June of 1929.

Kenneth has just received an offer of an instructorship in psychology at Northwestern University in Chicago and expects to begin his work there in the fall.

Miss Ruth Baker, the older daughter, at the same time finished her second year in the Fine Arts course at Ohio Wesleyan.

On June 16th the younger son, Warren, was married to Miss Mildred Hanson of Cleveland and, of course, the father officiated. Warren has a business connection with Sterling & Welsh, high class furniture dealers in Cleveland, where he has received several promotions.

On June 18th the younger daughter Josephine, graduated from East High School in Cleveland and is planning to take her college work at Ohio Wesleyan.

Mrs. Baker spent the month with her cousin, Miss Minnie Rose here in Whitesville.

These six Bakers, in whom Whitesville folk have a deep interest are certainly scheduled to outdistance the "Seven Baker Brothers" and the News is happy to chronicle these events in the lives of its former residents and wish the circle a long continued round of happiness and success.

The above was taken from last week's Whitesville News and is of interest to News readers. The Rev. Baker is a former pastor of Andover M. E. church and with his wife and children were residents of this village.

Timothy J. Forhan

Timothy J. Forhan died at his home in Wellsville, Thursday morning, July 17th, from heart disease.

Mr. Forhan was born in Wellsville August 30, 1867, son of Eugene and Mary Sullivan Forhan. The greater part of his life had been passed in Wellsville.

For many years he was employed as a telegraph operator on the Erie railroad and was stationed at Carrolton and Salamanca. Mr. Forhan was well known in Andover where his death was learned with deep regret.

Besides his wife, deceased is survived by one son, Eugene and the following brothers and sisters: Miss Catherine Sullivan and Mrs. Lillian Harrington of Wellsville, Mrs. Thomas Duffy of Scranton, Pa., Mrs. Edward Horan of Andover, Mrs. Harry Sullivan of Tampico, Mexico, John Forhan of Cleveland, Ohio, and Eugene Forhan of Drumright, Oklahoma.

Mr. Forhan was a member of the Holy Name Society of Immaculate Conception church and funeral services were held from there on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock with the Rev. Father Tracy officiating. Burial in Sacred Heart cemetery.

Andover Firemen Parade

Andover firemen with the LaFrance pumper, all spick and span, were in Belmont yesterday to participate in the big county firemen's parade. Williams' Boys' Band furnished the music for the Andover company.

The weather man was most gracious to Belmont for their three day Centennial Celebration at which Andover was well represented each day.

The fine program arranged was all that could be wished in detail and splendidly carried out.

John Flynn

Andover relatives received word of the death, Tuesday morning of John Flynn in a Buffalo hospital.

The body was brought to the home of his sister, Miss Julia Flynn on Maple street, Wednesday by Undertaker E. J. Dawson.

Funeral services will be held this (Friday) morning at Blessed Sacrament church.

NAVY TREATY IS RATIFIED 58-9

Senate Has Adopted the Norris Resolution; Scores of Other Resolutions Are Steam-Rollered.

Washington, July 21.—America approved the London Naval Treaty today.

The pact was ratified by the Senate at 4:25 p. m., by a vote of 58 to 9 and the special session called by President Hoover was adjourned, sine die, at 5:02 p. m.

The vote on ratification came after Administration forces, exerting every pressure, had thrown out nearly a score of reservations offered as a last move by the treaty opposition.

The little band of oppositionists, led by Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, had staged a remarkable fight of more than two weeks. Its attack against the pact, the heavy broadside delivered against the treaty provisions, went largely unanswered.

The Administration strategy was to keep a quorum, keep silent and keep crowding for a vote.

One Reservation Passed

Only one reservation got Administration approval and was accepted. It was that of Senator Norris (R), of Nebraska, declaring ratification of the pact was upon condition that no secret alliances or agreements were in effect between the signatory powers.

Significant was the rejection of the reservation by Walsh, of Massachusetts. It was offered as a test of the sincerity of the treaty supporters. It provided that the United States should build up its navy to the full strength of the treaty provisions.

Much had been said by treaty proponents of the "parity" provided by the pact. Walsh took them at their word, and wanted to get the Administration on record as favoring such "parity" with Great Britain as the treaty provided.

The Senate, however, rejected his reservation, indicating the Administration stand, not for actual parity, but for "paper" parity.

Issue Side-Stepped

Likewise, the Administration sidestepped the reservation by Senator McKellar, defining "freedom of the seas." The treaty is silent on that issue.

As soon as the treaty was ratified President Hoover received the news at the White House. There was no statement from the President, but it was indicated he would have an expression tomorrow.

The London Naval Treaty grew out of overtures between Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and President Hoover last fall. As a result, a conference was called at London last January.

Attempts at a five-power agreement failed. Great Britain, the United States and Japan agreed.

Mrs. Emerson Dies at Alfred Station

Hornell, July 22.—Mrs. Madelia Emerson, 85, died today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delfry Ormsby in Alfred Station. She was a lifelong resident of Alfred. She was the widow of the late George Emerson, and a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

Her only immediate survivor is a brother, Walter Ormsby of Alfred Station.

Funeral services were held Thursday from the Seventh-Day Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Edward VanHorn will officiate.

KEEP IT COVERED

Bald headed men must be endured, But garden bald spots can be cured.

Have you a little bald spot in your garden, a place where earlier crops have been harvested and where no later ones have been planted? One cure for garden bald spots is a planting of late snap beans. Lettuce may cover some space too. Lettuce heads better in the fall than in the spring. Big Boston is the standard variety for late planting. Spinach planted late for a fall crop does not go to seed as it does in early summer. Turnips are another fall crop. Even when it is too late for vegetable planting, bare spots may well be sown to rye. It will grow a bit this fall, and more in the spring, making humus to be turned under. It should not be allowed to grow too rank in the spring before it is buried.

Green leafy vegetables wilt if allowed to stand in oil, so add the salad dressing just before serving.

Straws are convenient additions to the family picnic.

Andover's Longevity

There are at least 14 young people in the village of Andover, each of whose age is over four score years. They are:

William McDonough	91
Addie Coleman	89
Mrs. Lydia Ann Warfield	87
Mrs. Sarah Jamison	86
Nettie Bundy	86
H. D. Smith	85
Jesse Snyder	85
John Deming	84
Mrs. D. McGuckin	84
Mrs. Martha Orvis	84
Philitus Brewster	82
John Macauley	82
Henry Bennett	81
Mrs. Anna Stephens	80

The combined age of these is 1,186 years.

Their average age, 84⅔ years.

Andover has a population of 1,242 which makes one person in each 88 5-7 over 80 years of age.

Now who says Andover is not a healthy place in live in?

New Hot Weather Drink

John Horton, our popular barber on Main street, knows how to make goose wine. This is very nice drink especially when served cold in hot weather. It is a favorite drink with people of Turkey, Aribia and the East Coast of Africa. It is very easy to make and anyone wishing instructions see Mr. Horton. No charge to anyone.

JOHN C. McDONOUGH.

Five Hundred at Cuba Lake

Members of the Five Hundred Club enjoyed a fine dinner Sunday at St. James Hotel, Cuba, and the remainder of the day at Cuba Lake. Many compliments are heard of the excellent menu and fine service given by landlord and Mrs. Floyd Scott, former Andover residents.

Mrs. Mary Hill Coon

Mrs. Leona Davis received a message, Wednesday of the death that morning of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Hill Coon, at her home in Westerly, R. I.

Deceased was the widow of the late Prof. Henry Coon of Alfred. The body is to be brought to Alfred Saturday for burial.

HEADLIGHT DEVICES GIVEN APPROVAL

Officials Say Widespread Illumination of Road is Necessary in Order to Drive Autos Safely.

Charles A. Harnett, commissioner of motor vehicles, has approved the use of 32-candlepower bulbs for all headlighting devices appearing on the approved list, thereby taking another step to provide safety for the drivers of automobiles at night. This action was authorized by a recent amendment to the Vehicle and Traffic Law, which heretofore limited the automobile light source to 21-candlepower, for use in this state.

The purpose of headlamps is to provide road illumination for the benefit of the operator behind them, so that he may guide his car safely at night. To provide proper floodlighting effect more light than can be secured with the 21-candle power bulb is needed. The trend of development has shown that the operator, to drive safely, should have a good part of the road and the side of the road well illuminated. This widespread illumination can be obtained only with the increased amount of light provided.

An investigation of the lighting qualities of the headlamps on the approved list has shown that the use of a high candlepower bulb will not affect glare. Poor adjustment, not increased candlepower, is responsible for glaring headlamps. For this reason all certificates of approval will be amended in accordance with the requirements of the law, so that 32-candlepower bulbs may be used legally on all approved lighting devices.

It is believed the use of the more powerful bulb will provide sufficient light for the motorist when the headlamps are properly adjusted. He should see that the headlamps of his car are correctly adjusted. Otherwise the headlamps will give poor illumination for the operator, and without increasing it, will cause a continuance of the evil of glaring head lights in the eyes of approaching motorists.

WILL PROTECT LAWYERS' FEES

Only Attorneys at Law May Ask For or Receive Fees or Compensation Under New Law.

An exchange says: For many years it has been customary for justices of the peace, civil engineers and others not attorneys at law, to draw deeds and receive compensation for this service. Frequently some of the persons preparing these instruments have made serious mistakes because of their unfamiliarity with the task or ignorance of the law governing such transactions.

Hereafter, however, compensation for preparation of instruments affecting real property may be asked or received only by attorneys, the penal law having been amended by adding a new section to follow section 271 and which is known as Section 271-a. The amendment provides that:

"No person, association or corporation shall ask or receive directly, compensation for preparing deeds, mortgages, assignments, discharges, leases or any other instruments affecting real estate, wills, codicils, or any other instruments affecting disposition of property after death or decedent's estates, nor pleadings of any kind in any action brought before any court of record in this state, except a person who has been regularly admitted to practice as an attorney at law in the courts of record of this state. This section shall not apply to any corporation or voluntary association lawfully engaged in the examination and insuring of titles to real estate, in the preparation of any deeds, mortgages, assignments, discharges, leases or any other instruments affecting real property insofar as such instruments are necessary or incidental to loans made by such corporation or association."

It is provided in this amendment that a person who violates this law is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail, not exceeding one month or by a fine of not less than $100 or more than $250, or by both such fine and imprisonment.
