HOW, WHAT & WHY ?

The Andover News has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and mention the name of this paper, you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges.

Address your queries to How, What and Why, Room 201, Roberts Hall, Ithaca, N. Y.

The Milk Committee

A. D. B. asks: "What is the emergency milk committee of the New York milk shed and what does it plan to do?"

The committee of nine members was selected from the county committees of all dairy counties, and has six representatives from New York state and one each from Vermont, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. It announces that all of the producers' interests are represented in this group which, it says, was formed to help raise the milk price for all dairymen by sponsoring a move for one big co-operative organization. The plan, as sponsored by the committee, is to send no more milk to cities than consumers want; to manufacture surplus milk in the country; and to cut distribution costs.

Fertilizer Facts

Mrs. M. V. D. asks: "We are going to make a small vegetable garden this year. What kind of fertilizer would be best? If manure is used, should it be put on in the spring or fall?"

No fertilizer is better than well-rotted manure. If it is old manure it may be put on either in the spring or the fall. If it is fresh, it should be put on in the fall.

I am sending you a copy of our Extension Bulletin 74, which will give you reliable information.

More About Moths

C. R. H. asks: "If, paradi" crystals are those used with a vacuum cleaner?"

The paradichlorobenzene crystals are not used in connection with vacuum cleaners. The best way to get the full value of these crystals is to put them in a cheesecloth bag and confine them in an air-tight box or trunk with the garments or fabrics which are to be protected from the moths.

Where to Sink Wells

O. B. asks: "Will you please give me information in regard to locating and digging wells in very rocky ground, and what treatment is required to make rain water, caught in a cistern or tank, fit for domestic use?".

Professor B. B. Robb of the college of agriculture says that the best place to drill a well is where it will be most convenient, rather than to rely on methods of water-finding devices such as divining-rods, witch-hazel wands, and the liks.

Water caught in a cistern should pass thru several wire screens overlaid with charcoal during its descent from the roof to the cistern. This will remove major impurities, but cistern water should not be used for drinking. It is excellent for washing purposes because it is so soft. Nevertheless, it has many impurities because it washes from roofs and eaves-troughs. These cannot be kept housey clean. Cistern water boiled would not be harmful but it would not be palatable.

Rid Roses of Lice

Mrs. G. H. E. asks: "Please send me information regarding the prevention of lice on rose bushes.

An effective spray for aphids or plant lice on rose bushes is made by taking one teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate, one ounce of mild laundry soap, and one gallon of water. Dissolve the soap in half the water. It will dissolve more quickly if the water is hot. The nicotine sulphate is added to the remainder of the water and the two mixtures are combined. The soap is necessary and must not be omitted. This sprayed on the rose bushes will do the trick.

I am sending you a copy of Extension Bulletin 162 which tells about the control of aphids.

Odd Fellows Dance

Thursday evening, May 26, there will be another of those popular dancing parties at I. O. O. F. Hall. Music by the Bloss Orchestra. Remember the date.

Giant scales that weigh moving trains are now in use.

Meat loaf bakes quickly in patty tins, and is attractive and easy to serve.

ASSOCIATION

The reason of our valuation, for liking or abomination, lies largely in association. Some chapters of man's life could well be half explained in terms of smell. Bill Jones does not, I've heard him say, care for the scent of new-mown hay. You ask him why, he answers, "Well, it has a kind of hard-work smell." Best of all flowers that ever come, I love the late chrysanthemum because a girl once gave me some. Those flowers are dust which breezes stir; as for the girl I married her. Sweet fern, some Yankee hillside bore, can change me to a boy once more, and lilac blooms win half their praise from memories their odors raise of distant friends and vanished days. You too can find, I well suppose, in fragrance of a morning rose, more meaning than your neighbor knows. Some smells I love may give you shocks, because they are not orthodox. I'd like to smite my lyre and sing of acid phosphate in the spring. I'd turn not with disdainful sniffs from other fertilizer whiffs or any rural smell that could bring back the day's I've counted good. The roots of my appreciations are bedded in associations.—BOB ADAMS.

Food Values

Primitive mankind at a very remote age discovered that they could live quite comfortably on nuts and certain succulent roots; the food supply of this age is made up quite largely of those same varieties only somewhat improved by time and careful breeding.

In these days Peanuts have become a highly important food product, and you may name it vegetable or nut whichever you please and either way you will have wise men to support your statement.

Peanuts are low in price, but easily eaten and satisfying. Let us weigh you out some really good ones—8c a pound, Saturday, May 21st. Other days 10c a pound—3 pounds 25c.

Onion Sets

Our supply of Leonard's Ebenezer is getting low; if you wish this quality set, you cannot obtain them elsewhere in Andover and those offered by others as a substitute do not produce a crop equal in either quantity or quality.

Big Ben

The clock with a pedigree, is out in a complete new dress.

More dignified, more quiet in operation and good looking enough for the most critical, really it is quite marvelous, that so fine a product may be had for so little money.

The new price is $2.95; it appears that the dollar clocks are in for tough sledding when Big Ben steps down below the $3.00 mark.

Plastic Wood

Now available in ten cent tubes; get the habit of using this handy product.

Soft like putty from the tube, but hard as rock when set; it will take all the squeak and slack out of old furniture.

Rubber Gloves

For the housekeeper who has to do all sorts of home work—10c each.

Priced Tires

The market is loaded with tires built down to a price and there isn't a single one of the so-called big tire makers but what are offenders in this regard. You don't hear one squawk about the brands on which they have built tire reputation but pages of extravagant type fill the mails and cover the bill boards, claiming merit that does not exist.

If these bootleg brands are so good, why don't they put on a guarantee that gives the user some protection? Plenty of these tires go wrong but when it happens to be on your car just try to get an honest adjustment.

We won't sell a tire that we cannot adjust on merit, right on the spot, and give our customers the treatment they have a right to expect. Compare our prices with any first-grade tires and see how much money we can save you and at the same time deliver you a quality of product that insures safety and satisfaction.

Copper Boilers

At the lowest prices in the history of this article, pure Anaconda Copper sides and bottom, planished outside and mirror finish inside; full No. 9 size. A full dollar drop in the past two months—Now $2.95.

Electric Irons

A reduction of 40 per cent. in the price of Universal Electric Automatic Sad Irons allows us to offer you this splendid utility with the round heel, wrinkle proof base for $4.95, was formerly $8.50.

This iron has safety switch, finger touch heat control, is super automatic, and if you will ask those already using it, they will tell you that no other on the market would suit them as well.

"Dad, what is a mortgage?"
"Oh, it's something that comes with an automobile, my son."

Repair Kits

Lower in price and more self-vulcanizing patch than is usual.

Wonderful value for a quarter.

Barber (shaving a customer): "Will you have anything on your face when I've finished, sir?"
Victim: "Well, it doesn't seem likely."
