THIS WEEK IN ALBANY

Albany, June 1.—Just before he left for a well-earned rest and a bit of fishing in Bermuda, Governor Lehman appointed two commissions whose work and findings will play an important part in the future of a large number of New York State residents.

One of the commissions, consisting of nine members, will aid the industrial commissioner in the gigantic task of administering the state unemployment insurance fund.

During the next three years, or until March 1, 1938, the state will collect payroll levies to build up the fund. When benefits start on that date, it is expected the fund will have reached a total of $70,000,000, an excellent cushion against future depressions and resultant unemployment.

The commission represents the general public, employers and employees, each having three representatives. Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews is a member ex-officio.

The second commission, consisting of seven members, will delve into the whole subject of state aid to localities, as well as that of state and local taxation.

Governor Lehman appointed the group without considering the political affiliations of the members. For example, one member is Nathan L. Miller, last Republican governor of New York State.

The question of state aid to local communities is one deserving of serious consideration and the calibre of the commission named assures an excellent report next February.

At the present time the state distributes $180,000,000 a year in aid to localities, or more than 60 per cent of all the revenue collected by the state. That factor should be considered when one discusses the size of the state budget. It means that more than 60 cents out of every dollar taken in goes right back to the cities, towns, villages and counties, the state acting only as a collection agency.

—o—

When midnight struck last Tuesday night, so-called "heart-balm" suits were outlawed in New York State, broken hearts losing all cash value.

The suits are barred under the McNaboe law, enacted this year. That statute became effective 60 days after Governor Lehman signed the bill, or on May 28th.

Criminal suits may be filed still, of course, but it is made a felony for a lawyer or anyone else, to write a letter demanding cash settlement for breach of promise, alienation of affections, criminal conversation or seduction.

Several other states are about to follow New York's example in this matter. Evidently lawmakers generally do not believe a financial award can patch up a shattered romance.

—o—

Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman, has completed the first part of his state-wide speaking tour designed to restore the G. O. P. fortunes.

Democratic leaders gave Chairman Eaton a free hand until they could learn on what grounds he would call for election of a Republican Assembly next fall.

Speaker Irwin Steingut of the Assembly said the other day that he is still in the dark concerning the Assembly issues promised by Chairman Eaton.

"Unconsciously, he has offered a splendid argument for the four-year term for Governor.

"Governor Lehman has served only five months of his second term. He has 17 months to go. Isn't it ridiculous for Mr. Eaton to discuss the gubernatorial election, which takes place in November, 1936, when there is an Assembly election next November?

"Can it be that the Republican state chairman has no valid argument to offer the voters against continuation of Democratic control in the Legislature?"

Lucy Stone Club Entertained

Miss Emily Barney delightfully entertained the Lucy Stone Club at the Barney home in West Union, May 26th. About 40 ladies were in attendance, who unanimously report a wonderful day.

The newly organized Young American band, under the leadership of Fay Bloss, made their first public appearance Memorial Day, doing themselves very creditably and making a fine appearance in their new red suits.

The ladies upon the defeated side in the Hawthorne Circle most charmingly entertained the winners at luncheon Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Millie Barney.

P. C. Lynch and B. B. Hann are drawn as Grand Jurors and L. M. Trowbridge as Trial Juror to serve at the June court.

Mrs. Jennie Rhinevault went to Belmont Monday.

Frank Bloss and John Paine played with the Alfred band Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Burdick of West Virginia were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hincher, Wednesday.

Miss Fannie Fulmer left Andover Wednesday for Chicago, where she will visit friends in that city and vicinity for the next three months.

Mrs. Otto Simms was in Andover packing and sending her household goods to Wayland the past week.

Stepped on the Brake

"It's scandalous to charge us $10 for towing the car only three or four miles," protested the motorist's wife.

"Never mind, dear," replied hubby, "he's earning it; I've got my brakes on."

Rain and Leaky Roofs

The yearly supply of moisture in this section is always about the same. We have long dry spells and then a good rain comes along to even up things.

Roofing is a problem that confronts us the year around, and a "stitch in time" proposition is the best if you would have roof protection at reasonable cost.

We maintain a complete roof service, paint, cement, prepared material, felt or metal. Our customers are using it every day. You better join in and get everything in shape while the weather is good and when the work can be done comfortably and easily.

Casco Glue

For that unusual job where all others fail.

Aviation asked for a better glue. Casco was the answer.

In packages at 10c and up.

Trust Your Labels

Yale Lock—Disston Saws—Eagle Files — Moore's Paints — Mazda Lamps and many other items we might name have won their place by always being strictly dependable and giving utmost value. Their labels spell confidence—we try to keep our service on the same level.

Be Sure!

That you carry an extra set of batteries and a bulb for the flashlight on that camping, fishing or motor trip. It is just maddening to have the light go out at a critical time, and no supply within a few miles.

Our 10c batteries are worth the money. Get your supply before you forget.

So-Lo

The plastic that renews the glands in footwear. You know that a stitch in time saves; well, this shoe mender will do a lot better than that and costs so little. You can line the brakes on your motor car with So-Lo—the price is right at 25c. So-Lo is self-vulcanizing and long wearing, a tube will do wonders.

Metallic X

A most remarkable mender, and has such a wide variety of uses. One man says he has yet to find an article he cannot mend with Metallic X.

It is particularly good for repairs on metal parts that are hard to get at with a soldering iron. Use it cold with your fingers, a paddle or a rag. Used according to directions, it will not disappoint and will save much future expense.

Comes in a tube like toothpaste and sells for 35c.

She: "How do you like my new bathing suit?"

He: "Fine. There is just enough of it to bar you from a nudist colony."
