The Beginning of Lent

YESTERDAY was Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent. It is the door to a season which has always been one of self-denial and self-examination. Thruout the Christian world Lent is being observed yearly by more and more people. Many there will be, of course, who pay no attention to the Lenten period and many others will not even know of its observance, but it has an important place in the Christian year and means much to great masses of people all over the globe. The six Sundays of Lent, followed by Good Friday and then the glorious Easter festival with its great outbursts of gladness, are all times for church attendance. The doors of Andover's churches offer a wide open welcome.

The Lenten season is an ancient, if not primitive institution. The earliest allusions to it speak of it as established usage handed down from the fathers of humanity. The forty-day period, commemorative of our Lord's forty days' fast, or of the similar perfunctory fasts of Moses and Elias, commences each year with Ash Wednesday. Omitting the Sundays, on which the fast is not observed, there are forty days intervening between the start and Easter Sunday.

Now, while the continuance and strictness of the fast is left largely to the judgment and choice of the individual Christian, the observance of the Lenten season is regarded with much favor among nearly every Christian denomination in the United States, if not the world.

To the average church-goer Lent may mean simply a period for renewing religious activities, for pledging new allegiance to a particular faith. To the layman, whose periodic pilgrimages to a house of worship frequently are themes for sermons prophesying religious decadence, Lent means nothing more than the dictionary definition "a period of fast."

Lent should be to the people who are, or profess to be, largely Christian, a period of moral and spiritual stock-taking, a period during which they should scan their Christian faults and seek a remedy for them.

A man may own a million dollars, but the chances are that he owns only one front collar-button.

For us, none of the toothpastes, powders, or liquids work out the way the announcers tell us they will.

It's getting so you need a college education to be an elevator boy.

Your wife won't like it if you tell her she's right when she knows she's wrong.

Are You One of the Team?

THERE are two classes of people. Those who serve and those who observe, those who do and those who undo, those who work and those who fling mud at the workers. Go into any town and see. Ask the busiest, most harassed person in the thick of the fight for some community good, and hear the discouraged, "Oh, there are so few of us here to do everything!" Ask one of the idle bystanders and hear the bitter whine: "Oh, there are a few here who RUN everything!" The drones jeer and sneer at the workers who bring in the honey. But the honey is for the whole hive!

In the scholastic realm of sport there can be only a certain number on the team, but do we hear complaint? No! The whole institution surrounds the few who are running the show. Thousands of eyes follow their every move with anxious sympathy, hearts beat high, muscles strain, the very breath of the multitude is held, and then cheers and encouragement pour from thousands of throats. The grandstand never expects the team to play alone!

We all know the power projected from the sidelines to the players. That incalculable something that gives a runner his second wind, a boy the stoicism to fight on wounded, the leader an added brilliance of mind. It is the same thing that in an audience causes a singer to outdo herself and become the artist, imbues an orchestra with extraordinary feeling and fire, transforms mere actors into geniuses, and moves speakers to such eloquence as influences their whole generation.

So are we all necessary to each other. Not all of us have outstanding gifts, but the gifted few must be lifted partly by our strength

Think what power those few who "run everything" would have if we all played the game! If we were loyal to our players in work as we are in play! If we watched with yearning hearts and straining muscles, cheering them on to victory when defeat seems near. Such team-work could make over the world!

Pass It Along

ONE great service organization has in its code of ethics, "Be careful of your criticism, liberal with your praise." Another, "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sand; their virtues upon tablets of memory." If all of us followed these admonitions, how much we would add to the happiness of those with whom we associate.

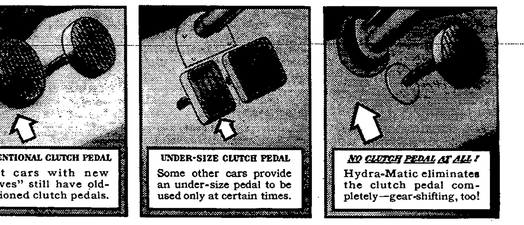
When we hear or read something favorable or good about a person, it is well to pass it along. When we have pleasant business relations, it is wisdom to favorably comment on the transaction. It cheers and makes a person feel better; costs you nothing and, incidently, pays big dividends.

It is not surprising that the younger generation is so impulsive and jittery—seeing that it has practically been raised on gasoline and jazz.

Perhaps the kangaroo was a primitive, sketchy attempt on the part of Nature (foreseeing a future need) to design a safe pedestrian.

An Arkansas woman advertised for a husband. She got one at a cost of $9.00. He enlisted in the Army and was killed. She got $3,000 insurance and a widow's pension for the rest of her life. Yet some will tell you that advertising doesn't pay!

GOING!..GOING!..GONE!



CONVENTIONAL CLUTCH PEDAL
Most cars with new "drives" still have old-fashioned clutch pedals.

UNDER-SIZE CLUTCH PEDAL
Some other cars provide an under-size pedal to be used only at certain times.

NO CLUTCH PEDAL AT ALL!
Hydra-Matic eliminates the clutch pedal completely—gear-shifting, too!

COMPARE FLOORBOARDS OF CARS WITH THE NEW DRIVES! SOME HAVE A CLUTCH PEDAL, OTHERS HALF A CLUTCH PEDAL, BUT ONLY *HYDRA-MATIC HAS NO CLUTCH PEDAL AT ALL!

*OPTIONAL AT EXTRA COST

	DOES IT ELIMINATE THE CLUTCH PEDAL?	DOES IT DO AWAY WITH ALL CLUTCH PUSHING?	DOES IT GIVE YOU FULLY AUTOMATIC SHIFTING?	DOES IT GIVE FULL ACCELERATING POWER WITHOUT MANUAL SHIFTING?	DOES IT HAVE A SPECIAL PICK-UP GEAR?	DOES IT ALWAYS START IN GEAR WITH NO FREE WHEELING?
HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES
DEVICE "A"	NO	NO	NO	NO	YES	NO
DEVICE "B"	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
DEVICE "C"	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
DEVICE "D"	NO	Optional	NO	NO	NO	NO
DEVICE "E"	NO	Optional	NO	NO	NO	NO

CHECK the "Clutch Chart" above before you buy! It gives you a quick, graphic picture of what Hydra-Matic Drive does—and how other "drives" compare with it. But only actual experience can show you how superior Hydra-Matic Drive is in all-round performance as well as in driving ease. Come in and try it today!
