Instructions For Control of Incendiary Bombs

The following instructions, released by the Andover Fire Department pertaining to incendiary bombs and fires should be carefully studied by all:

Altho some people still believe in the saying that "it can't happen here" events of the past few weeks have proven otherwise. No one knows just when or where they may be in a building struck by incendiary bombs, but by being prepared and being able to keep cool and fight the blaze and bomb, no serious damage should result.

The incendiary or magnesium bomb is practically impossible to extinguish and water is the only safe and certain way of bringing these bombs under control. Many commercial fire extinguishers, adaptable for smothering or extinguishing incipient fires are worthless against incendiary bombs as the burning bomb when struck by a stream from these extinguishers will not only explode more violently but give off a poisonous gas that will make it impossible to remain in the vicinity of the bomb. A pail of sand, in which to lift the burning bomb and a long-handled shovel, besides your garden hose, stirrup pump or pack-pump outfit are the main implements to successfully bring these bombs under control.

In the near future the Andover firemen will demonstrate control of these bombs and moving pictures of actually fighting fire and bomb will be shown.

The instructions important to all and which should be memorized are as follows:

Be Sure You—

1—Be sure you can get to the bomb by stairway or ladder.

2—Be sure you always have bath tubs and pails filled with water and a hose tap connection in the house.

3—Be sure you have a garden hose with an adjustable nozzle and a stirrup pump or pack pump outfit and a long-handled shovel, dark glasses, old leather gloves, a powerful flashlight and a plywood or metal shield.

4—Be sure you definitely locate the bomb's position.

5—Be sure you use only water spray on the bomb. Careful application of spray will reduce burning time of bomb from 15 to 5 minutes.

6—Be sure you search for remaining fires in the area where the bomb has rested and on the floors below.

7—Be sure you open windows to allow smoke to escape.

8—Be sure you clear unused garrets and top floors of all stored burnable material.

10—Be sure you realize that a few bombs may contain a small explosive charge. Incendiary bombs are generally safe to approach two minutes after impact.

Do Not—

1—Do not lock interior doors.

2—Do not depend solely upon public water supply.

3—Do not keep your fire fighting equipment in inaccessible places.

4—Do not get above the fire area.

5—Do not hit the bomb with a solid stream of water and do not use commercial extinguishers unless approved by your fire department.

6—Do not be satisfied when the bomb is burned out. Search carefully for hidden fire.

7—Do not be without light and air.

8—Do not become frightened and leave the building—fight the fire.

9—Do not neglect good fire prevention housekeeping.

10—Do not fear incendiary bombs—respect them—keep cool. Where possible advance upon an incendiary bomb behind a shield of plywood or metal.

Observation

"Take any article," droned the professor, "when it is bought it goes to the buyer."

"What about coal?" interposed a weary voice.

The professor gazed over his glasses at the student.

"Well, what about coal?" he snapped.

"When coal is bought doesn't it go to the cellar?" asked the bored student.

Issue Lenten Regulations For Catholics

Rev. Charles J. Keller of the Andover Blessed Sacrament church received the following Lenten regulations for Catholics, which will be in effect for the duration of the war:

1.—In virtue of faculties granted by the Holy Father, the law of fasting is dispensed for all Catholics, and the law of abstinence is relaxed to the extent that Catholics are bound to abstain from flesh meat and its juices only on Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and the Vigils of Pentecost, All Saints and Christmas.

2—In place of the fast, Catholics are exhorted to practice other forms of penance, such as abstinence from intoxicating drink, daily attendance at Holy Mass, daily recitation of the Rosary, daily visits to the Blessed Sacrament, daily performance of the Way of the Cross.

3—It is respectfully urged that Catholics carry out the spirit of the Holy Season of Lent by attending the special devotions held in their churches, and by frequenting the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist.

4.—Charity to our fellowmen should also be a part of our observance of Lent. The prayer for the success of the Catholic Charities Appeal should be a regular part of our private and public devotions, and the money saved by the privations we impose upon ourselves should be given to comfort the distressed.

5—Dances, card parties and other entertainment for the church or for Catholic organizations or societies are hereby strictly forbidden during the Lenten season. Gatherings should be of a cultural or educational nature with emphasis on religion during this season.

6—The time for the fulfillment of the Easter Duty: from the first Sunday of Lent, Feb. 22, to Trinity Sunday, May 31, inclusive.

7—While marriages are allowed during Lent, the Nuptial Mass and Nuptial blessing are forbidden.

Catholics who are engaged in works of National Defense and must work after midnight, in virtue of faculties granted by the Holy Father for the duration of the war, may receive Holy Communion under the following conditions:

1—They must abstain from solid food for at least four hours before Holy Communion.

2—They must abstain from liquids for at least one hour before Communion.

3—They must abstain from alcoholic liquids from midnight.

Local Silk Mill Goes on Over Time Schedule

The Steuben Silk Mills, Andover's new silk industry, has been making rapid advancement in the past few weeks and is now forced to go on an overtime schedule in an effort to keep production in line with its orders.

The mills are now running two shifts of ten hours each, six days a week. They have 84 looms in operation and eight more which will be running in a few days, besides the necessary machines required in the production of the silk for weaving and last week had a payroll of over $1,200, which is much appreciated in this village after so many years without a stable industry.

The mills at present are making rayon sheer for the Shiego Fabrics and have orders enough to keep them busy for some months. They also are making up samples of parachute cloth, in case it becomes necessary for them to enter this field in the war program.

Andover is justly proud to have a company of the high calibre and business ability that the Steuben Silk Mill officials have displayed since locating in our village and we bespeak for them continued successful operation of the mills.

Test Air Raid Alarm Held Friday Evening

A test air raid warning was staged last Friday evening from the Wellsville area, which includes Andover, with very satisfactory results.

In 36 seconds from the time the call was put in at Wellsville the call was received in Andover and in two minutes the central stations in Andover were all called. The fire trucks were at their destinations, one at the central school and the other at the intersection of Route 17 full manned in three minutes.

Chief Warden Holt wishes to thank the telephone operators and all others for their fine co-operation in this test and congratulates them on the efficient manner in which the test was handled. The only criticism which arises out of the trial is people rushing to their phones the minute the alarm sounded and thus tieing up the lines which greatly handicaps the operators in getting their necessary calls thru.

Don't use your phone when an alarm sounds unless it is absolutely necessary. Firemen are supposed to answer the calls in person at the fire hall, not by phone, and citizens who have no other means of contact are requested to wait until the operator has time to complete the calls necessary.

Clifford Bixby Tells of Weather In South

Camp Croft, S. C.,
Feb. 14, 1942.

Dear Claire and All:

Well I have a minute to spare so I will drop you folks a line to let you know that I am well as can be expected. The weather here has been rather nice, with the exception of a rain now and then. The sun shines all day long, the nights quite cold. We have to use three blankets. I hear you folks are having real winter weather up North in the land of snow and ice.

The boys here are from every state in the Union, a lot of them are from New York City and came from Camp Dix. Our eats here are not as good as they might be, as we have so many extra men in camp. They are coming and going every day. You just make a few friends and away they go to some other camp.

We can't write anything about what is going on in camp, so I can't tell you much on the Army slant, so you will have to excuse me on that score. They keep us very busy now. We don't have any more Saturday afternoons off since the war. Even our training period is cut short, only eight weeks now.

Your sportsman friend.

Group Discusses Juvenile Leisure Activities Here

On Monday evening, Feb. 16th, a group of about 40 people met at the Andover Central School library. Miss Dorothea Snyder, presiding, explained the purpose of the meeting was to examine the resources available here for the welfare of children and to determine how these may be used more effectively. This project is being sponsored by the State Charities Aid of New York, at the request of the Children's Division of Public Administration.

Miss Snyder then introduced Miss Kerr, field representative of State Charities Aid, who explained that her agency acted in an advisory capacity only—to stimulate citizen groups to consider their own local problems. She described similar groups being organized in Alfred-Alfiond, Fillmore and Bolivar.

The topics suggested for consideration are: Health in community; education thru the school; religion in the community; families and their dwellings; study of delinquency and leisure time services.

Since considerable interest has been voiced in supervised activities for children in our community this topic was chosen to be the first study.

Miss Snyder asked different representatives of the churches, school and civic organizations to speak regarding the activities sponsored by them. There was a general discussion and it was decided to submit a questionnaire to the students and the parents, in order to determine their special interests.

The group expects to have subsequent meetings to plan on adequate programs based on these findings. Anyone interested in participating in the study are invited to get in touch with Miss Dorothea Snyder or Mrs. R. E. Temple, co-chairmen.

Third Registration Totals 1,315 In This Area

A total of 1,315 men between the ages of 20 and 44 were registered in this draft area over the week-end. This brings the total number of men registered under local Draft Board 534 up to 3,843.

The board will meet March 9th to assign serial numbers to the registrants just registered preparatory to the drawing, to be held in Washington later in the month.

Sweet—Phillips

Miss Florence A. Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Jessie G. Phillips of Wellsville and Milton H. Sweet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Sweet of Andover were united in marriage at the Methodist church in Wellsville by Rev. Charles Kemp at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Lawrie L. Witter of Boston, Mass., was attired in a gown of white marquisette with inserts of lace at the waist and in the sleeves and a finger tip veil of net with a cap trimmed in seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white snapdragons.

Mrs. Robert Erwin acted as matron of honor. She chose a pale pink gown identical to that of the bride. She wore in her hair a cluster of pink snapdragons and carried an arm bouquet of the same flowers.

Robert Erwin acted as best man for Mr. Sweet. Ushers were Charles D. Fuller and Thomas J. Morley.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Phillips, selected a street length gown of print silk jersey with corresponding accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Sweet, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a street length dress of navy crepe remaine with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for about 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweet left on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home at 145 So. Clinton street, Olean, where Mr. Sweet is employed as salesman for the Rhodes company.

Uncle Ab says the pronunciations of some news-casters add to the horrors of war.
