Milking Machines Must Be Kept Clean

The New York City Department of Health has issued an edict that all milking machines must be kept clean or the producers will be excluded.

This new order has arisen out of the situation that many new milking machines are being added to the New York milk shed because of the shortage of help, the operators of which are apparently uniformed as to the necessary care of the machines or are heedless of the requirements.

Reason given by the department for the unsatisfactory condition of milking machines thruout the milk shed include:

Failure to dismantle completely all milking machine parts and to clean and sterilize same properly.

Lack of satisfactory metal cleaning rods and stiff bristle brushes designed to reach all corners and crevices of the equipment and inadequate supplies of good washing powder.

Failure to replace rubber parts which deteriorated due to extended use. Rubber parts which become porous are unsanitary and should be replaced both for reason of sanitation and for the efficient operation of the machine.

Failure to maintain sterilizing solutions in a clean condition and at proper strength and the use of crocks instead of solution racks or dry storage also are adding to the insanitary condition of the equipment.

Cable—Rogers

Miss Gertrude Millicent Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers of Greenwood and Corporal Francis E. Cable, one of Andover's popular young men, son of Mrs. Margaret Cable of Wellsville, were united in marriage Saturday, Feb. 21st in a very pretty wedding ceremony at the 101st Infantry Chapel, Camp Edwards, Mass., by Major F. X. Carty, Catholic chaplain of the 101st Infantry.

They were attended by Sergeant Richard T. Cunningham and Miss Suzanne K. Eaton of Buffalo. Guests included the officers' staff and several members of Battery B and their wives.

The wedding dinner was served at the Daniel Webster Inn at Sandwich, Mass.

Mrs. Cable is a graduate of the Greenwood High School and of the Elmira Business Institute. Corporal Cable is a graduate of Andover High School and is now serving with the 422nd Battalion, Anti-Aircraft, now stationed at Camp Edwards, Mass.

The News joins the many friends of the newlyweds in hearty congratulations.

No Men Called For Examination In March

State Headquarters has notified Local Boards that the 24th Pre-Induction physical examination call for delivery of men during March has been cancelled, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York State Director of Selective Service, reported today.

It was stated the boards will not be required to deliver men for pre-induction physical examination during March, but the order does not mean the cancellation of the 23rd Induction Call for the same month. Men inducted in March have been given Army pre-induction physical examinations during February or earlier.

General Brown said that telegraphic advice from National Headquarters indicates the pre-induction physical examination plan is being abolished. No Army pre-induction examinations will be given during March and, thereafter, registrants will be sent direct to induction stations, examined, and, if acceptable, inducted immediately. Only those rejected will be returned to their homes. Men found acceptable and inducted, may request furlough to return to their homes and resign their positions or wind up their business affairs if lack of this opportunity will entail hardship upon the soldier.

Under the new plan, which is a return to the first plan used by Selective Service, registrants should be warned not to resign positions or wind up their business or sell property until they have passed the physical examination and have been inducted into the Army.

To Show Fire and Bomb Control Pictures

Following the regular meeting of the Exchange Club this (Thursday) evening, two reels of moving pictures, one silent and one sound, will be shown. The pictures, entitled "Stop That Fire," and "Fighting Fire Bombs" were obtained from the National Defense Council by the Andover Fire Department.

Anyone wishing to see the pictures may do so by coming to the Childs' Restaurant at 8 p. m. this evening or to the Andover Central School auditorium Friday morning at 9 o'clock where they will again be shown.

Must Secure License For High Explosives

Users and dealers of high explosives must be licensed after March 1. Licenses may be obtained from County Clerk William W. Bush at a cost of 25 cents.

The license law applies to all persons using high explosives for blasting purposes, oil well shooting, dealers handling explosives and manufacturers of explosives.

The law is of particular importance in Allegany county, where hundreds of quarts of nitroglycerine and dynamite are used in shooting wells blasting out stumps on farms and for oil well location.

Gas Co. Explains New War Order On Gas Consumption

No New Equipment Can Be Added for Domestic Purposes. Present Users Will be Supplied With Gas

The Empire Gas and Fuel Company, Limited has been instructed by the War Production Board to notify its consumers that Limitation Order L-31, curtailing the consumption of natural gas, imposes the following restrictions and prohibitions upon deliveries of natural or mixed natural and manufactured gas in the area served by the Company, among other utilities, after March 1, 1942:

It forbids utilities to deliver gas to any new non-residential consumer or to increase deliveries of gas to existing non-residential consumers for the operation of any new gas equipment, unless one of the following conditions is fulfilled:

(1) The consumer has, before the date of the new or increased deliveries, installed standby facilities of sufficient capacity to replace the new or increased deliveries in case it becomes necessary to shut off deliveries of gas.

(2) The consumer cannot reasonably use any fuel other than natural or mixed natural and manufactured gas because of technical utilization factors or process requirements.

(3) The Power Branch of the War Production Board has given advance approval to the new increased deliveries.

It forbids utilities to deliver, and all consumers, whether industrial, commercial, residential or other classification, to accept deliveries of natural or mixed natural and manufactured gas for either of the following purposes:

(1) For the operation of central space heating equipment (or heating equipment supplying the major portion of the heating requirements of the premises) unless the equipment was installed on or before March 1, 1942, or, in the case of new construction, the particular gas heating equipment was specified in the construction contract and the foundation under the main part of the structure in which the equipment is to be installed was completed prior to March 1, 1942.

(2) For the operation of central space heating equipment (or heating equipment supplying the major portion of the heating requirements of the premises) which has been converted from other fuel to natural or mixed natural and manufactured gas, where the conversion has not been completed on or before March 1, 1942.

Under the Order, both the consumer and the utility are held responsible for prompt compliance with its terms. The company is urging immediate and whole-hearted observance of both the letter and the spirit of the Order so that the largest possible amount of gas may be made available for the production of war materials.

Donald Joyce Writes From Fort Knox, Kentucky

The following interesting letter was received this week by R. E. Dean from Donald Joyce, telling of camp activities and army life:

Fort Knox, Kentucky
Feb. 23, 1942

Dear Bob:

Well I am still in the army and am in the best of health. But I am a busy boy. One day I have one job and the next another, but now I sure have a job to last for three months.

If you have seen the folks, I suppose you already know I started to go to mechanics school a week ago Saturday and so far I like it very much as it is what I have always been interested in. If I can only get Diesel after I finish this, I will be happy. They sure have a wonderful school here, and there isn't any reason for a person not knowing the course when he finishes. In the building I am now at, basic engine and air fuel systems, they have 24 GMC motors and 24 Dodge motors. So far we have stripped them twice, studying all the parts and their use and mechanism. Our instructor is a civilian who sure knows his motors and he doesn't mind passing it on to some one else.

I could write all night on the school but I better get to bed, 4:30 comes awful early in the morning. I have to be at school at 5:45.

Say hello to all the gang for me, and I hope all of them and yourself are feeling good. Tell all the boys I would like to be slinging sand with them but that I believe I am where I will do the most good—just in case.

Keep things under control and keep fit.

Your friends, DON

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, who passed away February 17, 1941:

Dear Ena, we still miss you
Tho it's been only a year;
When'ere your name is mentioned
Our eyes are dim with tears.

This time of year brings memories
Of things you planned to do
When summer came, and sun shine
Made everything look new.

But God had other plans for you
He wanted you to rest
So He took you from our home
To reign amid the blest.

We never will forget you,
Your step, your smile so sweet;
Your image carved into our heart
Will stay until we meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Matison
Sister and Brothers.

Schools to Issue Sugar Rationing Books

The task of issuing sugar rationing books to every man, woman and child in the nation will be given to the nation's public school teachers, according to an announcement made recently by Leon Henderson, price administrator.

It is expected that the first copies of War Ration Book No. 1 will be distributed within the next few weeks. One person in each family may apply for sugar stamp books for the entire family, and he will be required to sign an application stating the amount of sugar in his household. All supplies of more than two pounds per person will be considered hoarded sugar, and the person will have stamps torn from his book to equal the amount of sugar on hand. No sugar will be sold to such persons until after the sugar on hand is used.

As a discouragement to dishonest reporting of family sugar supplies, the application will carry on its face the warning that false reports to the government are punishable up to $10,000 fine or ten years imprisonment.

Each book will contain 28 numbered stamps, each good for the purchase of a definite amount of sugar, probably 12 ounces, during a designated week. As sugar is purchased, the storekeeper will tear out the proper stamp and paste it on a master card which he must turn in, when filled, to replenish his supplies for the following week.
