Eighth Graders! Begin to Plan!

The June registration for those eighth graders planning to enter high school in the fall is near at hand, and it is time for those students to begin planning what subjects they will take during their four years in high school.

It is hard to select subjects when one has finally become a high school pupil unless one has previously decided what field one would like to enter upon graduation from high school (or college, as the case may be.)

When one is a junior and suddenly decided to be a history teacher and prior to his decision has taken no history courses, it is hard in so short a time to arrange a schedule which will include enough history to enable one to pursue this type of career. This is true in other fields as well, of course.

So, try, eighth graders, to visualize what your future occupation will be and to follow that path thruout your high school years. JB

We Thank You

First of all, we, the Senior class, wish to extend our thanks to the Andover public which attended our play "Spring Fever" thus making it a financial success.

To Miss Colberg we express our utmost appreciation for the time and patience she spent in directing the play so splendidly—also to Miss Anderson who assisted her.

We thank those behind the scenes in the play, Mr. Maloy for acting as adviser for the advertisement and business management of the play.

Miss Linehan and Miss Snyder for the clever program which they created.

The band and Miss Hanneman for providing music between acts.

The Juniors for ushering and Mr. McGee for the auditorium supervision.

Miss Mahl and those people who loaned costumes, we thank you.

We extend our gratification to Marjorie Bergman and Miss Anderson for their work in securing properties used in the play and to Mr. Fribolin, Mr. Ingerson, and Wilbur Lehman for assembling the stage equipment.

Last but not least we thank Mrs. Bretsch, Miss Hanneman, Miss Colberg, Miss Sequin and Miss Rettenwald for their splendid work in "making up" the cast. PEL

"Spring Fever" Nets Over $50.00

The Senior play, "Spring Fever" which was presented to the public last Friday evening, April 24th brought in a total of approximately $85 from the afternoon and evening performances and is expected to net a little over $50 profit for the class treasury.

The play seemed to be a success dramatically as well as financially, according to all reports, and was well received by the village as a whole. VO

Junior Prom Friday Features Rod Tucker

The Junior Class of A. C. S. will hold its annual prom in the gymnasium Friday evening, May 1, from 9-1 o'clock.

Music for dancing will be furnished by that well-known Wellsville maestro, Rod Tucker, and his country club band.

The theme for this year's dance is outstanding by way of its uniqueness.

Center of attraction will be a large rainbow, including the pot of gold, imaginary flowers and falling rain. Attractively original program will be in keeping with the decorations.

Price of admission is $1.10 per couple, tax included. The dance is semi-formal.

Whither After High School?

Some Seniors know exactly what they intend to do after high school graduation. They have made definite decisions and well founded plans. Some intend to become nurses, others teachers and still others engineers. Part of these have chosen the institution they wish to enter and a certain few may have filled out entrance blanks. These stable minded creatures are well off and no cause of worry to themselves or their advisers.

Then there is a group of undecided, restless students—ones who know that they wish further education but who don't know what to do. Some of these just haven't hit upon a vocation which appeals to them, or for which their training and ability is suited. Most of these eventually find themselves and turn out to be successes. It is a perilous task both for the Dianas of uncertainty and their teachers to find themselves. Students have a certain fear of the uncertainty of the future and lack a stepping stone to connect high school with life on the opposite bank. Until they find that stepping stone in the middle of the stream of uncertainty, whether it be a job, or fitting themselves for a job, they will never reach the other side and step firmly on life.

The remaining Seniors fall into a group for which we have no sympathy—those who wait for something to happen. Some just trust God to hand them success on a silver platter. They just effortlessly sit back and trust that something will turn up. Maybe it will, but "just usually" it doesn't.

America is at war and its future depends partly on what the young people of America do with their lives. So if you haven't decided "whither to go," then do so now.—Find your spoke in the cog of Democracy and America and make the wheel go around and keep going. JR

Student Council and Faculty Sponsor Vocational Week

A series of lectures and informal discussions, part of the vocational week program planned by the faculty and the student council have been in progress in the library this week from 2:30 to 3:45 daily. These meetings, attended by Juniors and Seniors are intended to help these young people to choose and go about entering certain vocations.

Dr. Benjamin Crandall of the vocational guidance department of Alfred University gave the first lecture of the week. He emphasized the need of planning one's life and the importance of choosing the right profession. His talk was most interesting, especially some of the examples cited which showed the great importance of "getting off on the right foot."

Mr. I. A. Parrish, scheduled to speak Tuesday was unable to come until a later date so a very informal discussion was held on that day, in which Mr. Bretsch answered questions asked by the students and announced the kind available and requirements for earning certain scholarships.

Wednesday's program was divided in two parts. Mr. John Church, personnel manager of the Moore Turbine Co. of Wellsville spoke to the boys on the opportunities for young men in the Wellsville industries. Mrs. Carol Carpenter, county health nurse, spoke to the girls on nursing as a career, how to go about it and the qualities in a person fitting her for the nursing profession.

This afternoon Sergeant Raymond F. McArdell of the U. S. Marine Recruiting station of Olean, spoke of opportunities in the armed services, both for high school graduates and those with advanced training.

Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Ludwig Dale of the Federal Commercial Schools in Hornell will speak in a Junior-Senior high school assembly at 1. At 2:30 he will speak to Juniors and Seniors on opportunities in the business field. He will also demonstrate the right and wrong way to apply for a position and how to act during the interview.

The Juniors and Seniors greatly appreciated these discussions and much valuable information was gained. All wish to thank those who made this possible. JR

Baseball Tag Days Thursday, Friday

Baseball "tags" will go on sale in the school and community this week Thursday and Friday. All who give ten cents or more will be given a tag and will be admitted free to all of the home games. The proceeds will go towards paying the expenses of the games. This year non-local umpires must be used in the county League games which increases the expenses considerably.

Grade News

In the kindergarten Sally Jones has been added to the list of Defense Stamp buyers. They have collected $7.50 this week which makes a total of $43.50.

Mrs. Allen's first grade has purchased $3.80 worth of Defense Stamps this week, making a total of $27.30.

There is also a bulletin board "Keep Them Thriving" to express the idea of good health.

Betty Reinard has been welcomed as a new pupil.

In Miss Clark's second grade the children have been making Indian booklets. They have collected $8 for Defense Stamps this week.

Miss Butler's second grade is making Indians and learning sign language.

In Miss Butler's third grade they are studying transportation. They are having a Health Campaign. There are 16 on the Health Honor Roll.

Miss Perkins' room welcomes two new people, George and Agnes Greenman.

Miss Jordan's people are making Robin Hood booklets.

In Miss Swartzenbach's room the girls and boys made drawings of a good and bad tooth. They are drawing scenes of different countries. They have a chart of the birds which they have seen.

Miss Jackle's room is making Rip Van Winkle booklets.

Miss Baker's eighth art class is making murals to indicate "God Bless America" and "The Star-Spangled Banner." CMH-SM

CHIT-CHAT

The Juniors are sponsoring their second big social event of the year, the Junior Prom this Friday evening.

This week is vocational guidance week. It was arranged by the Student Council to have a speaker each day to talk to the Juniors and Seniors on "Choosing a Vocation" after graduation—A very helpful idea.

Where are the social hours at which we used to have so much fun? Now that the play is over, why can't we have one?

It is strongly rumored, also that the Juniors and Seniors would like to have a picnic.

Why was it that Stan Ruger was so "crippled up" Sunday?

One doesn't have to write one's own notes now, does one, Elaine?

The Senior play was a great success, according to many reports we have heard.

The steady bombardment of notes on a certain junior lass in the third period study hall seems to be holding out well, eh Marilyn. PEP-CG

The avenue seems to be quite the place for appendicitis. Perhaps it's catching.

The decorations for the Prom caused quite a bit of "tearing" around and excitement. For a super-duper time come to the Prom tomorrow night.

That was some party held down on the avenue Wednesday at 3 o'clock.

We hear that Miss Daly and Miss Anderson are being escorted to the Prom by "Dithers," "Jitters" and "Soap-Behind-the-Ears."

Why is it some people like to practice so well fourth period?

The Junior girls are taking up note writing we hear. Watch for blushes when they read this.

Annual Genesee Country Music Festival, May 21-22

Andover Central's band and girls' chorus will participate again in the Annual Genesee Country Music Festival, held at Houghton College this year on Thursday and Friday, May 21 and 22. Because of difficulties of transportation, the third day will be omitted and there will be no concert at night. Everett R. Dyer, president of the Genesee Country Interscholastic Music Association, expects that more schools will attend the festival at Houghton as the state sectional contest is held this year at some distance from the Genesee country.

This festival, originating a number of years ago, is unique in this part of the country in that it is non-competitive. All programs are chosen by the organizations taking part and no required numbers are performed. In previous years, the bands, orchestras and choruses have had required numbers to practice before hand and to play at the festival because of the concerts given by the massed organizations in the evening. This year, the schools will be spared the expense of buying this special music. The groups of boys and girls who sing or play instruments are given the benefit of criticism both for their work and strong points by adjudicators who hold high positions in their fields.

Thursday will be choral day with Miss Helen Hosmer, director of the Crane Department of Music of Potsdam Normal School, adjudicating mixed choirs, girls' and boys' choruses, junior choruses and vocal soloists.

Band and Orchestra Day will be Friday with Professor Walter Beeler, Band Director and Head of the Department of Instrumental Practice Teaching, Ithaca College returning as band adjudicator. Paul White, conductor, guest conductor, composer and instructor at Eastman School of Music will be present again this year to give criticisms on orchestral work.

A double program will be carried out on Friday with the bands and orchestras playing in the auditorium and the instrumental soloists performing on some other part of the campus. Special attention is being given to soloists and more of them have been encouraged to take part.

The registration fees have been considerably reduced this year, being ten cents per student per organization.

Plans are being made to feed many of the students on the campus because of the crowded condition of the eating places in Houghton during the festival.

PURPLE PANTHERS SWAMP SCIO 16-0

The Purple Panthers of Andover Central School gained their first league victory last Tuesday by beating the Scio Central team.

"Jake" Shellman pitched beautiful ball during the whole game, limiting the opposition to two hits.

"Naze" Dolan started the local's scoring by smashing a home run over the left fielder's head in the second inning. Two more runs were scored in this frame by a hit and two errors.

Ryan singled to open the third and was forced at second while Holt reached first. West got on by an error and they both scored when "Whitey" Gorsuch drove a long triple to left field.

Dean walked to start the fourth and Horan received life by an error. "Pepper" Ryan then hit a ball between the left and center fields that went for another home run, scoring three more runs.

The sixth was another big inning for the locals when they crossed the plate six times. "Whitey" Gorsuch and "Chuck" Holt were the main offensive power when they drove out two more long hits to score more runs.

Shellman, besides pitching, gained two hits for himself. Holt, Ryan and Gorsuch also received two hits.

Dolan's home run was the first big drive of the day. The whole infield played good defensive ball, making only two errors. Jack Dean and Jim Driscoll both played an outstanding defensive game.

Umpire: Palone, Belmont.

Language Classes Make Projects

The Latin and French classes of ACS under the direction of Miss Jane Colberg, are working on projects which must be completed on or before May 5 and 6.

The Latin III projects will deal with the influence of the life of Cicero's time on present day life.

The Latin I class is making projects directly connected with Roman civilization and customs.

The French II students are making maps showing the position and importance of French colonies in this war.

The best projects may be shown at the exhibit, May 18. RJB

The Ag students are at present constructing a power lawn mower.

According to reports we can now congratulate Mr. Fribolin. Girls aren't usually much good at Ag. work, but they are pretty nice to have around. FMM

PURPLE PANTHERS MEET ANGELICA HERE FRIDAY EVE

The local baseball nine will be seeking its second victory when they meet Angelica on the local field tomorrow night (Friday).

The Purple and White won their first league contest from Scio last Tuesday.

The starting lineup will probably be the same as the first game, with "Jake" Shellman pitching and "Naze" Dolan doing the receiving.

LOCALS INVADE WELLSVILLE IN THE OPENING TRACK MT.

The Andover Central tracksters invaded Wellsville last night (Wednesday) to open their 1942 track season in a dual meet with Coach Sid Miles' boys.

The local team shows promise of a successful season, with about five lettermen returning and many more of the newcomers showing promise.

The entry list for the Wellsville meet was Dean, Shutt and Kilbane in the 100 yard dash; Vars, Lehman and Kilbane in the 220; Oakes, Dunham, West, Ordway and Clair in the 440; Temple, Karcanes, Dolan, Snyder and Potter in the 880; Witter, Kaple, Gorsuch in the mile, while Dean, Gorsuch, Dunham and Smith high jumped; Vars, Lehman and Shutt did the broad jump and Dean and Baker entered the pole vault.

Andover was well represented in the weights with Emery, Holt, Temple, Oakes and Ruger putting the shot, while Lehman, Emery and Holt hurled the javelin. Ruger, Holt, Smith and Witter threw the discus.

The Spring Day Meet will be held in Wellsville on May 9. The local team will also compete in this event.

A dual meet has been scheduled with Canisteo on their home track for May 13.

Louisa's Letter

To Troubled, in N. C.:

Of course you shouldn't marry this boy. To begin with, you are too young to get married and from your letter I don't think you know what you want to do.

Perhaps if you behave yourself nicely, your parents will not object to you having friends among the boys. But stop thinking of marriage for the present. Have a nice time and try to learn as much as you can at school while you have the opportunity.

Good luck, LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

What are the requirements in order for a girl to take a course in welding or for airplane flying? What are the requirements of a Red Cross nurse or an ambulance driver?

How can I get rid of pimples and backheads? I have tried things but nothing seems to do any good.

"WONDERING"—Okla.

Answer:

I presume that the first part of your letter refers to government welding and airplane flying and I really have no information on these, right at hand. However, I am sure that your local Red Cross secretary or the Director of Civilian Defense in your community can give you the information you want.

There are classes in almost every town for those who wish to take the Motor Corps Course or First Aid. To be a regular Red Cross nurse you have to be a graduate nurse from some hospital. Home-nursing classes are also being given by the Red Cross and those who take such courses will be called on for service when the supply of regular nurses gives out which is very likely in case of air raids or sabotage. So you can prepare yourself with these.

If you live in the country, you might write to the Red Cross secretary in some town which is close to you and get specific information.

As to blackheads and pimples—some people find that they are checked by cutting out fatty or starchy foods. Chocolate is bad for certain complexions. Keep the skin cleaned by steaming with a hot towel once a day. After washing the face thoroly, rinse with cold water to close the pores. Try not to pick at the pimples because fingers cause them to become infected.

I hope you find out the things you wish to know. You sound very patriotic.

Good luck, LOUISA

Winners Announced in League Essay Contest

Coreene L. Chapman, high school student from Genesee, Pa., won the district essay contest just completed in Allegany county, N. Y., and Potter county, Pa., according to an announcement by S. W. Clarke of Andover, district director of the Dairymen's League.

Walter Campbell, Scio Central School, placed second, and Joyce Reynolds, also from the Genesee school, was third. Two Andover high students tied for fourth place. They are Jean Rogers and Catherine Perry. Leo Bessette, Wellsville, was given honorable mention.

Director Clarke and county president Glenn Talbott, Fillmore, appointed the following judges: Rev. W. L. Greene, Andover; Editor Hubert D. Bliss of the Allegany County Democrat, Wellsville and Frank P. Tuthill, Fillmore, superintendent of schools.

The contest in this district was one of the 28 carried on in various sections of Dairymen's League territory on the subject "Equality for Farmers Through Cooperatives."

Local units of the Dairymen's League offered special prizes for the best essays from the schools in their particular areas and the winning essays then were submitted in the district contest.

The winners will be invited to read their essays at a district meeting of the league. Pictures of these contest winners will be published in the Dairymen's League News.
