Are You An American?

Are we Americans appreciative of our rights and advantages as individuals in a democracy? Do we realize how much we have to be thankful for or do we let our grievances become uppermost in our minds?

I heard a certain person say that high school students today are not serious enough. They do not realize that war is serious, not a farce. They are out for all they can get and do not intend to sacrifice anything that will in any way lessen their personal enjoyment.

I am inclined to agree with them to a certain degree. Some of us, for instance, grumbled because we couldn't go 50 or 60 miles for our Junior-Senior picnic when we should thank our lucky stars to be able to go to Cuba Lake. In Europe and the Far East, too, the people scarcely have time for rest and many do not even have enough to eat, say nothing about a picnic. They have black bread and cabbage while we grumble over the lack of 40-cent-a-pound ham sandwiches and the quality of the ice cream.

Gluttons? No, we have just forgotten the meaning of the word appreciation and have not learned the joy of sacrificing.

Let's be better Americans and try to utilize the capacity for appreciation which God gave each of us. Be thankful for what we have! JR

If You Can Fish You Can Study

When you go fishing you sit on the bank of the creek or pond and wait until a passing fish nibbles at the bait. The patience a fisherman exhibits is really remarkable.

Yet, some of these same fishermen when they study, don't seem to remember any of the principles of fishing. Patience certainly is a most valuable asset in school work.

If there is an assignment to be read, don't slam the book shut just because it isn't as interesting as a dime novel. Use a little of the patience that you use in fishing. Open the book and begin to read and really put your mind on it. Don't watch every move made by every person in your end of the study hall.

You may want to read "Scholastic" or "Life," but use your perseverance and read your lesson.

If you can fish and enjoy fishing you certainly can use your "fishing ability" and learn to study! JB

Latin III Class Attends Banquet

Four Latin III students of ACS, accompanied by the Latin teacher, Miss Jane Colberg, attended a Language Festival sponsored by Alfred University at Alfred Friday evening.

The program began at 4 o'clock with a student guided tour of the campus which ended at 5:45 o'clock. During this time a carillon concert given by Prof. Ray Wingate, was enjoyed by the guests. At 5:45 a banquet was held in Social Hall. Students were seated at various tables with one Alfred representative. Between courses Professor Ringo, the University Spanish teacher, led the group in singing songs in various languages. After the dinner the Latin, French, German and Spanish language clubs of the university presented a program.

The evening's outing ended at 9 o'clock when the students, Doris Mead, Elaine Pope, Jean Rogers, Jean Button and teacher, Miss Jane Colberg returned home. JB

Sugar Rationing Held at School

Sugar rationing for residents of the Andover Central School district was held in the school cafeteria Monday thru Thursday of last week with a total of 2,085 applications made. Of this number 2,003 people received sugar ration books. The registration was done by the high school and grade teachers between the hours of 4 and 8. The teachers and townspeople are to be commended for the fine way in which they co-operated in the nation-wide program. VO

Boy Scout News

Part of the money which the Boy Scouts received from collecting and selling papers for National Defense has been put in the troop treasury and a part has been given to the boys themselves. The Scouts sold the papers in Buffalo.

The Scouts went on a hike during Easter vacation. They stayed at their cabin in Quigg Hollow for three days. The second day it began to snow so they were forced to remain "snowed in." SM

Guess Who?

A certain Junior lass traverses the halls in red,
Has snapping bright blue eyes and a blond curly head.
She goes in for deep subjects, Latin and chemistry—
Her heart interest, a Junior lad, is, of course, no mystery.

And for candy, gum and attention, she's a terrible tease.
She has the highest scholarship of anyone in her class,

County Farm Gives Registered Jersey Bulls to Victory Program

Three registered Jersey Victory bull calves have been contributed by the Allegany County Farm at Angelica in the American Jersey Cattle Club's war time gift of 1,000 registered Jersey bulls to the nation.

These registered bulls will be given as outright gifts to 1,000 selected farmers who own grade herds. Owners of purebred Jersey herds are not eligible because club officials feel "they already have the best."

Owners of grade herds must make application not later than May 15 and the list of awards will be released August 17. Herd owners can secure applications from the American Jersey Cattle Club.

CHIT-CHAT

We hope now that registration for sugar rationing has ceased, a few more social hours may be scheduled again before June, which is not so far away.

What seems to be of such interesting reading material in certain magazines, Dorothy, Marilyn, Doris and Anna?

Are there actually some new romances a-buddin', Marilyn and Dorothy?

Dot B's cousin must have enjoyed last Tuesday evening as we hear M. H. "stepped out" again Friday.

Art played that "difficult" cadenza in band most snappily last Thursday. Was it by accident?

When a certain Junior girl starts stepping out with a "college man" it's really something, eh, Dot?

Well, we see the annual Junior-Senior picnic is scheduled for June 2. More fun, we hope.

"If we can't go a place one way we'll try another" is the motto of three ACS girls who finally arrived at the track meet last Wednesday.

"Bon" and "Jour" are certainly novel nicknames. When did it originate M. H. and P. K.?

The cheer leaders are still awaiting the day when that Senior boy consents to take their pictures. A sunny day would help.

What a laugh four girls got when they discovered the "ideal" hospital at which they hoped to take up training was nothing more than an asylum for the insane!

The Seniors are busily planning for their ball and are working for a novel decoration scheme, but more ideas are sought by the committee.

Some of us wonder what Don and "Zeke" catch at the pond besides fish, if anything!

The "blackout" proved as interesting, if not more so, as some expected.

ACS welcomes to its midst a new addition to the Freshman class, George Phillipson. We hope he'll become acquainted soon and join us in our activities.

That was quite a little cycling you had last Saturday, eh, Elaine? Wasn't it pretty cold?

Which is it, Chuck, the blonde or the brunette? We need we ask?

It's good when one can hit the target one aims at, but it's something else to aim at one target and hit the other. How do you do it, Doris Mead?

If you could only let go of the string, Catherine P., you'd make a good archer.

It's a wonder Holt's garage wasn't weakened with its "Air Raid Wardens" last Friday, eh, M.S. and J.D.?

PURPLE PANTHERS NIP CANASERAGA IN 2ND LEAGUE WIN

The Andover high school baseball nine won its second league game over a strong Canaseraga team by a count of 4-3.

The game was played under poor weather conditions as it was cold and it rained thruout the game.

"Jake" Shellman pitched his usual reliable game and set the opposition down with six hits.

The locals scored three runs in the first inning when "Jack" Dean singled and stole second. However, "Franie" Horan struck out and "Pepper" Ryan was walked. Dean and Ryan both stole, placing men on second and third. "Chuck" Holt hit a grounder between second and third base which the shortstop was unable to handle and both men scored and Holt went to second. "Naze" Dolan then singled in Andover's third run of the inning. The Purple picked up another run in the fifth inning which proved to be the winning score.

Canaseraga pushed across three runs in the fifth when Andover threw the ball badly to the bases, causing four errors in this inning.

Umpire: Palone, Belmont.

HOW, WHAT AND WHY?

Special to the Andover News

The Andover News has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and mention the name of this paper you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one postcard. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

Stop Missing Hills

T. S. asks: "What can be done to cut down on the number of missing hills in the potato field?"

Prof. Ora Smith of the vegetable crops department replies: "First, plant well sprouted seed pieces rather than those which are still dormant; second, treat the seed with a chemical, such as yellow oxide of mercury, cold or hot corrosive sublimate, or formaldehyde, to control the disease known as rhizoctonia.

"Third, cure the cut seed pieces before planting them, or plant small whole seed. To cure them properly means that cutting should begin several weeks before planting; then the seed pieces are kept in storage between 55 and 65 degrees F. and with humidity as near saturation as possible.

"Fourth, plant seed pieces about 12 inches apart or less in the row and adjust the planter so that 100 per cent seed pieces are dropped.

"This should keep the number of missing hills to a minimum."

Freshen Butter?

Miss L. B. S. writes: "Please tell me what can be done to freshen butter which was made last summer."

Prof. E. S. Guthrie of the dairy department answers: "I fear the only answer will be disappointing. It is taken for granted that you have only a small amount of butter and cannot adopt methods used by a large renovating factory.

"So far as I can say, no method will improve the flavor very much. I have studied the problem a good deal, and have tried to make butter oil by melting the butter in boiling water and re-separating it thru the common cream separator. Even this makes very little improvement in the flavor."

Buds Wither and Drop

Mrs. M. G. writes: "As soon as the buds on my house plant Fuchsia start to develop, they wither and fall off, and there are no blossoms. I have similar trouble with geraniums. What is wrong?"

C. G. Keyes of the floriculture department answers: "The problem of bud-drop and bud-blasting is common on many house plants, particularly gardenias, fuchsias, and some begonias. No reliable information on the cause is at hand, tho several explanations are offered.

"One explanation is that the air moisture is too low in our homes. Bud-drop may also be increased by keeping the plants too dry.

"It is possible that light in our homes, which is low compared with outdoor light, may be responsible. The plant would then not manufacture enough food to permit the bud to go to complete development."

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

I am a girl of 25 years old. I used to write to a 17 year old boy in CCC camp. I met him before he went to camp and we were engaged to be married. This year he broke his engagement with me and stopped writing. I wrote him a letter about two months ago, but he never did answer it. My mother doesn't like him and says I can't write to him even if he answers.

Do you think the reason he quit me was because I was older? I can't forget him. I just sit and cry whenever I think about him.

A Broken-Hearted Girl.

Alabama.

Answer:

No boy of 17 is old enough to get married. This boy was probably lonesome. He liked you and found you to be a good companion before you started getting serious, and when he realized you were thinking about getting married, he also realized that he was about to tie himself up for life before he was prepared to make a living or ready to assume the responsibilities of a married man.

You are eight years older than he and while such a difference in age seems to work out in some cases, it is usually so after the man has become mature and his ideas and standards of life have been definitely formed.

For instance, a man of 30 and a woman of 38 have a much better chance for happiness than a boy of 17 and a woman of 25. For a boy of 17 is liable to like a very different woman when he gets to be 25 than he does in his teens. He may wonder when he gets older what he ever saw in his girl-friend of yesteryear.

I am not trying to hurt your feelings, but to show you how lucky you are that he has gone. It is so much better to have it over now than to find out after you married him that he was disappointed and unhappy and to have him walk out on you.

Instead of crying, get up and do something. Try to meet some men nearer your own age. Do your bit in helping to win the war and try to improve yourself mentally as well as physically. If you become an interesting, attractive person, you won't have time to be crying over some irresponsible 17-year-old boy.

Good luck, LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

There is a certain girl in our school whose main interest is boys. She isn't considered pretty and she wears clothes that we consider sloppy, yet all the boys seem to enjoy being around her. She does not have any girl friends but she dates every Tom, Dick and Harry.

We would like to know how nice girls can compete with girls of this type.

"Two High School Girls"

Oklahoma.

Answer:

Perhaps this girl is a very friendly, sociable person and does not look down her nose at other people.

Just because she is not pretty and wears sloppy clothes does not mean that she is not nice. She may not be beautiful or even dainty, but some of the most attractive people lack these attributes. There are such things as personality and the ability to be interested in other people. These two traits are regular friend catchers.

Now while you haven't told me anything about this girl to prove that she isn't nice, there is a possibility that you have left unsaid some things that would show her to be undesirable.

In that case her popularity will soon wear off for such cheap popularity is dearly bought and seldom lasts. Meet such competition by being attractive, friendly, nice, but not prissy, and uncritical of other people. Don't cheapen yourself by permitting familiarities. Such a course will pay dividends in the end.
