SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

TUESDAY: THE DAY OF CONFLICT

International Sunday School Lesson for May 17, 1942.

Golden Text: "The stone which the builders rejected, the same was made the head of the corner."—Mark 12:10.

Lesson Text: Mathew 21:23; 23-39

In our lesson for this week, we come to Tuesday, the Day of Teaching. Returning to Jerusalem from Bethany early in the morning, Jesus entered the Temple and began to teach those gathered around him. His audience was a mixed one. In it were the Twelve, others who had followed him from place to place, those who just happened to be in the Temple and the Scribes and Pharisees who followed him hoping to trap him into saying or doing something upon which they could base charges against him.

Instead of being questioned by them, however, Jesus turned the tables on them and asked them a question: "What think ye of the Christ? whose son is he?" They gave the expected answer, "The son of David." Then Jesus asked them another question, "How then doth David in the Spirit call him Lord?" and quoted to them from Psalm 110, where the Psalmist declares: "The Lord said unto my Lord, - Sit thou on my right hand, Til I put thine enemies underneath thy feet."

Jesus then continues, "If David then calleth him Lord, how is he his son?"

Realizing that they were trapped themselves, these supposedly learned men retired from his presence and dared not ask him any further questions. William Alexander Grist declared, "It was undeniable even by his interrogators, that Jesus surpassed them in the knowledge of subjects which they claimed as their own; hence they retired from the struggle in conscious defeat. We also are constrained to confess that a mind which so swiftly and naturally eluded all traps, baffled all sophistry, and convinced even some of his foes that he spoke God's truth without fear, must have possessed a quality of superb intellectuality."

Then, by parabolic teaching Jesus taught that the people of Palestine, who were regarded as the greatest sinners, were nearer the Kingdom of God than were the hypocritical Jews (Matt. 21:32). He warned the Jews that they were rejecting the Son of God, and that because of this rejection, the kingdom would be given to the Gentiles (Matt. 21: 42-43.) He revealed that only the prepared in heart would come into God's kingdom (Matt. 22:12-13.) He taught that every citizen has duties both to the state and to God (Matt. 22:21). He also clearly taught that there will be a life after death (Matt. 22:23-33.) And, in reply to the question, "Which is the greatest commandment in the law?" Jesus gave the very heart of the Christian teaching: that one should love God with all his being and his neighbor as himself.

Contained in this lesson text is a question which comes at one time or another to every heart. "What think ye of Christ?" The answer to this question in the individual heart will result in either the acceptance of him, or his rejection. Let's put this question to our own heart today Just what do I think of Christ?

The supreme need of this restless, feverish, nervous sinful age is Christ. More than elimination of disease, better government, higher wages, more equitable distribution of wealth, more scientific knowledge, better education or even world brotherhood, we need the spiritual recovery that only he can bring to this world. Acceptance of Christ and inculcation of his ideals and teaching into society would bring about all the reforms mentioned above. For forgiveness of sin, for light, for sanity, for stability, for honesty, for a true revelation of God, we must turn to Christ.

"What think ye of Christ?" The Bible tells us he is the Messiah, the Son of God. He was and is the Savior of the world. Pilate declared, "I find no fault in this man." John the Baptist declared, "Behold, the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Peter says, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Andrew declared, "We have found the Messiah." Thomas, after his period of doubting, shouts to the world that Jesus is "My Lord and My God."

"What think ye of Christ?"

April Milk Value Sets Record Of Nearly $14,500,000

Uniform Price Set at $2.30 as Saving in Diversions Adds $200,000, Administrator States.

A new record for the value of the milk in the New York metropolitan milk pool was set for the second month in a row when N. J. Cladakis, administrator of the metropolitan milk marketing area, announced that dairy farmers in the six states of the milkshed will share $14,437,520.09 as the farm value of the milk they delivered last month to the New York pool.

The richest pool on record was reported after the market administrator determined that the uniform price of April milk is $2.30 a hundredweight (46.51 quarts).

"The new peak in value," Mr. Cladakis pointed out, "was achieved in the very first month of the operation of the federal-state marketing orders with restricted diversion payments. Curtailed diversions saved nearly $200,000."

"Reckoned at the uniform price, the April pool will yield $13,913,583.89. Extra butterfat and location payments in the amount of $523,936.20 will bring the return up to $14,437,520.09. The return of a year ago, with butterfat and location payments added in, was $11,166,763.24. The rise of $3,270,756.85 is a gain of 29 per cent.

"Computation of the April pool revealed that our forecasts of nearly three weeks ago of a price of $2.28 and a return of $14,250,000 were sufficiently accurate in spite of the handicaps of the new provisions in the marketing orders."

"Poppy Week" May 23 to May 30

The annual "Poppy Week" of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary begins this Saturday, May 23rd and continues thru Memorial Day.

The poppy project of the Legion has proven a very successful endeavor. The poppies are made thruout the year by disabled World War veterans confined to hospitals and the money from the poppies goes to these men to purchase little extras that are not supplied by the Government, thus providing a means whereby these men can make a little money for themselves and not feel quite so "down and out" and dependent on some one else.

In Andover the poppy sale is conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Wear a poppy in honor of those boys who sacrificed so much for you in 1917-18.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hann welcomed a son born Friday, May 15 at Tullar maternity hospital in Wellsville.

This is a very worthy cause and should be given whole-hearted support by Andover people, who wish to do their bit in this emergency.

Andover's quota for this drive has been set at $200.

Exchange Club Sponsors Bond Windows Here

The Andover Exchange Club voted at its regular meeting held last Thursday night at Fenner's restaurant to sponsor a project of Defense Bond and War Savings Stamps windows among the merchants in Andover as a patriotic endeavor and to help stimulate the sale of Bonds and Stamps here.

The bullet, which was a .32 calibre, went thru Morton's left index finger, struck the boy in the right chest and lodged near the spine.

Don't Forget That Scrap Metal

Today and tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, are scrap metal days in Allegany county.

Everyone is urged to round up all kinds of scrap metal and turn it in to the Allegany Farm Bureau. In Andover scrap metal will be received at the W. F. O'Connell Co. and the Farmers' Feed Supply.

Remember, no amount of metal is too small and anything made of metal can be used. You will receive a weigh slip of your metal and be reimbursed after the pile of scrap is sold.

Three Teams Tied In Local Softball League

Bill Dugan's long home run with two men on base climaxed a five run rally that enabled the Giants to knock the Dodgers out of first place in the weekly softball games. The score was seven to two.

In the other game the Yankees made a valiant try to break into the victory column but were nosed out by the Cardinals 11 to 9.

The five run rally staged by the Giants in the fifth inning broke up a pitching duel between "Mike" Gath and "Bill" McGee to give the Dodgers their first defeat.

The Cardinals scored four times in the first of the seventh to nose into a first place tie with the Giants and Dodgers. Howard McAndrew hit a home run for the Yankees.

The next games scheduled will be played this Friday evening, May 22 instead of Monday, when the Yankees meet the Dodgers and the Cardinals will tangle with "Bucky" Schwarzenbach and his team.
