SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

ADAM AND EVE: Temptation and Sin

International Sunday School Lesson for July 12, 1942.

Golden Text: "The soul that sinneth it shall die." — Ezekiel 18: 4.

(Lesson Text: Gen. 3: 1-3, 23, 24.)

It is man's nature to inquire as to the beginning of things. So, we find, in every race primitive stories explaining the status in which early man found himself. Myths and legends, we call them, but often they reveal a part of truth — that part which the primitive author had experienced or learned.

Our Bible was written by an Oriental people and it is often necessary to bear in mind the poetic imagery so frequently met in its passages. Literal interpretation of every detail is not necessary nor always helpful. In the picture, however, the early Hebrew was painting the revelation from God which had in a marvelous way come more to him then to other men. That is the big difference between some of the Hebrew explanations and those by other early races.

The Story of Eden tells us how sin began. It pictures a glorious paradise, or Eden (this name means delight,) inhabited by the first man and woman, enjoying happiness in close intimacy with the Creator. Then comes temptation, in the form of a serpent; through weakness the human couple disobey the divine mandate, and punishment is pronounced upon them. Profound spiritual truths are in the story—the choice of good or evil, the fact that sin and its penalties, the existance and pricking of conscience, and the individual relationship to his Creator.

The location of the Garden of Eden is not entirely certain, but, inasmuch as mention is made of the River Euphrates, the consensus of opinion accepts its location as in the great plain of Babiyon. Here the first man started his earthly career joined shortly by the first woman. It is interesting to notice that this biblical man in much the same fashion as science does, poor, naked, with no shelter, and yet not realizing the meaning of duty and righteousness. However, it is not very long before they learn, through bitter experience, the dangers which come with freedom of choice.

One writer calls attention to the fact that in creating the world God had formed it mechanically perfect. It still remains so. Water will always freeze at the same temperature. Planets and stars obey the rules of the universe without variation. The same Creator could have made man, likewise, an automatic part, governed by fixed laws, but he did not do so. Man differs from the rest of creation in the possession of a freedom of choice, able to accept the blessings of God, or reject them, at his own will, but subject to the inevitable law that sin brings with it penalty and punishment.

Adam had been forbidden to eat of the "tree of the knowledge of good and evil," and he had relayed this message to Eve. Satan, in the guise of a sergent, brings to Eve the first great choice in the exercise of her freedom of will. His approach was shrewdly planned. First, he misrepresents the order, then when Eve includes the touching of the tree in the divine prohibition, according to Jewish tradition, he pushed her hand against the tree. Nothing happened and the serpent then denied the truth of God's statement that eating of the tree would bring death.

Eve's approach to the actual commission of sin was gradual. First, she was deceived by appearances, the tree looked good, just as all sin puts on a false front. The appeal to appetite and the sense of beauty overcome any moral prohibition and she ate of the forbidden tree, as did Adam. Confronted with their guilt, both offered excuses: Adam blamed the woman. Eve blamed the serpent, but each was held responsible for their own deed. Out of the favored garden the guilty pair was driven with the penalty of God pronounced upon them.

St. Francis Cable Blasts "Willie" From "Over There"

"Cabe" Evidently In Best of Health Judging From His Former "Pep" With Pen and Phrasings.

The following interesting and usually jovial letter was received this week from Francis E. Cable, now a Sergeant in the U. S. Army forces on duty outside the U. S., in which he again stresses his deep fondness for "Wandering Willie." The letter follows:

July 4, 1942, A. E. F.

Dear Willie:

Hello you refugee from a State institution. How's tricks? I hear by the grape vine that you have been lonesome because I haven't written you lately. I bet that you think all I have to do is write foolish letters to an equally foolish guy like yourself. Oh well, you are OK Willie. It's the world that's wrong.

I am also informed that you were suffering from a cold in the head. You shouldn't complain a bit. In fact, considering your mental capacity, you should get on your knees and thank the Lord for having that much in your head to brag about. If a person could only look inside your head I'll bet your brain would look like a spark plug in an airplane hangar.

I get the Andover News OK and as it is a few weeks old by the time it reaches me, I do enjoy reading it. Seems to me, Willie, you have been slipping lately. What's wrong? Was your ghost writer drafted?

All kidding aside, there must be an awful scarcity of men back home with their enlisting and the draft. Somebody said that men were so scarce that they changed the curfew in Andover. Now the kids stay out after 9 o'clock and all men over 85 have to get off the streets for their own protection.

And say, Willie, every time I read the paper it seems somebody has brought up something new to save. One week it's scrap iron and rubber, the next it's waste paper and tin cans or string. One fellow saved four miles of string. The Government took it and the State took him.

It's good tho, to know the people are willing to do all this work to help win the war. They seem willing to save any useful commodity.

I was just thinking what a boon this rubber shortage is to small babies. Now people won't be so anxious to pick them up and coo over them like they used to.

If the gas ration goes into effect they won't be able to call the Old Berg a "one-horse town" will they? Can you picture everybody driving horses again, Willie? Just think of all the people coming to town in top buggies or surreys—The school running stage coaches to bring in the kids—And Ed Walsh and Rob Church using the pony express. Oh yes, "Chuck" Holt could put in ads as follows: "Get your buggy greased and Simonized at our garage."

Say Willie, maybe if I stop and take another dribb (H2O) I'll have guys in high collars, with derby hats riding high-wheeled bicycles and women wearing long dresses and using hat pins again. Now you take a drink Willie and we will have fellows going to court their girls on Sunday night and looking at the family album or at pictures thru a stereoscope (look that word up)—(You had it right. Willie). One of us must be "nuts" and maybe it's you, Willie, so I'll sign off.

I hear that the cannibals are thinking of sending out missionaries to the so-called civilized people of the world. It's a good idea.

Your only friend, F. E. C.

Girl Scout News

Two patrols of older girls in the Andover Scout Troop had the new experience of enjoying an overnight hike and outdoor cooking last Tuesday and Wednesday at the Boy Scout camp.

At the last Scout meeting, after singing songs and discussing troop business, some of the girls who had brought with them nosebag lunches went on a short supper hike to the grove.

On Saturday afternoon the two patrols of younger girls had fun hiking and roasting marshmallows.

There will be two more Scout meetings this summer.

Friendship Man Named County Legion Head

George E. Rowe of Friendship was elected commander of Allegany County American Legion at the annual Legion County Convention held in Belmont last Thursday evening.

Other officers elected include: Frank Gayford, Fillmore, Ralph Temple, Andover, Lawrence Pflager, Wellsville, vice commanders.

Fred Bennett, Friendship, adjutant.

Wm. C. Greene, Belmont, finance officer.

Milan Barney, Whitesville, sergeant at arms.

The newly elected officers will be installed following the State Legion Convention to be held in Syracuse August 13 and 14.

Andover Wins Two Prizes at County Firemen's Parade

Andover carried off two of the prizes awarded last Thursday evening at the parade of the annual convention of the Allegany County Firemen's Association held at Angelica. The Andover Firemen's Auxiliary won first place as the best appearing auxiliary and the American Legion band took second honors as the best band in line.

At the business meeting of the association held Wednesday afternoon Walter P. Hand of Belmont, active in recent standardization programs, was elected president of the association for the coming year.

Other officers are: Frank Royce of Cuba, first vice president; Fritz Graves, Wellsville, second vice president; Karl Buehring, Wellsville, secretary; J. F. Dunning, Bolivar, treasurer; Jack Jones, Wellsville, one of the organizers of the association which was formed 27 years ago was named sergeant-at-arms, an office created this year.

The delegates adopted a resolution in memory of the late George Hallock, one of the county's best known and most loyal firemen.

Andover was well represented at the annual business meeting.

New York Milk Pool Pays $2.32 For June Milk

July 14.—Falling three cents below its forecast level, the uniform value of the milk dairy farmers of the six states of the New York milkshed delivered in June worked out to day at a price of $2.32 a hundredweight and surpassed the uniform rate of the previous June by 37 cents. The rise over last year was a gain of 19 per cent.

Announcing the price today, N. J. Cladakis, administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, pointed out that it "failed to reach the expected level of $2.35 principally because the volume of cream stored in June was nearly 60 per cent under a year ago."

"Our prediction that production he would run under a year ago," he continued, "was fully borne out when it was found that the New York pool contained only 668,771,670 pounds as compared with 676,099,795 pounds a year ago. June is the first month with one exception since February 1941 that production in the milkshed has dropped below the same month of the previous year.

"Despite the failure of the estimated price to score a bull's eye, it did not affect our estimate of $16,000,000 as the gross farm value of the June pool. The actual farm value is $16,158,418.28 as compared with a return of $13,789,182.72 from the June 1941 pool. The margin is a gain of 17.2 per cent to the credit of the current pool.

Eleanor DeRemer Home From Turkey

Miss Eleanor DeRemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John DeRemer arrived in Andover Sunday, after passing three years teaching in the American Collegiate Institute for Girls at Izmir, Turkey.

Miss DeRemer crossed the Atlantic from West Africa to Virginia on a freighter, notwithstanding the report given in a previous bulletin released by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions at Boston, Mass., that she was enroute by plane.

Albert Fisher, 14, Fatally Injured By Erie Limited

Popular Young Andover Boy Succumbs Friday In Wellsville Hospital Following Tragic Accident

Tragedy visited Andover late last Thursday afternoon when the Erie Limited struck and fatally injured Albert Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fisher, at the Main street crossing.

According to witnesses of the accident Albert unquestionably thought that the red flasher signals at the crossing were caused by a freight train which was standing near the depot, as he apparently was watching that train and walked onto the crossing directly in front of the Erie Limited which was approaching from the other direction. The train struck him a glancing blow, hurling him some feet from the tracks.

Dr. Leahy was at the scene in record time and after administering first aid the youth was taken to Jones Memorial hospital in the O'Laughlin ambulance where he passed from life at 12:30 p. m. Friday, July 10, 1942.

Albert Leonard Fisher, son of Claude E. and Nina C. Tuttle Fisher, was born Nov. 18, 1927 in Niagara Falls and had lived with his parents in Olean and Wellsville before moving to Andover in 1939.

"Skippy" as he was affectionately known to many, was a popular young man, well liked and admired by Andover people in general, an honor student in the Andover Central School in which he had just completed his freshman year, and very apt along mechanical lines. His workshop was filled with well made airplane models, electric apparatus and other evidences of his handicraft. His untimely passing is deeply felt by Andover people who extend much sympathy to the bereaved family.

He was a member of the Andover Presbyterian church and a member and patrol leader in Andover Boy Scout Troop No. 42.

Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Thomas F. Fisher of Wellsville and a sister, Mrs. William J. Martin of Andover.

Farewell services were held at the home on Elm street Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Winfred C. Pero, a former Andover pastor officiating, with interment in the Woodlawn cemetery, Wellsville, members of the Andover Boy Scout troop acting as pall bearers, guard of honor and honorary bearers.

Those from out of town attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bell and family, Olean; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fisher, Millerton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fisher and family, Olean; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Fisher, Olean; Mr. and Mrs. Emery Pease and family, Elmira; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Earley, Millerton, Pa.; Mrs. Lawrence Deming and daughter, Endicott; Mrs. Edna Brown, Olean; Mrs. George Hollamby, Weston's Mills; Mrs. Ida Teachman, Weston's Mills; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Perry, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Trenberth, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkins, Arkport; Mr and Mrs. E. H. Martin, Galeton, Pa.; Mrs. Anna Benjamin, Wellsville; Kenneth Fisher, Lawrenceville, Pa.; Mrs. George Atwood and Kenneth Atwood, Wellsville; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Fisher, Olean.

Letters and News Briefs From Boys In Service

Pvt. Donald Hardy wrote the following interesting letter to his mother, Mrs. Bertha Hardy giving his new address and telling of his trip to Texas:

Sheppard Field, Texas
July 11, 1942

Dear Mom:

Arrived here about 2:30 p. m. Saturday. It is a brand new field, about three months old, and buildings are still going up. This is a big replacement center for just the air corps and has a roster of about 45,000 men. It's divided into streets and avenues. Streets run east and west and avenues north and south. We're on the corner of Third street and Avenue F. The barracks is a two-story affair with 40 single cots on each floor. Our bunch from Ft. Niagara has stuck together and we are all here in the same barracks.

It is hot here, the closest that I've been to the place down in the devil's house. At 8 p. m. it is still 96 degrees outside and about 90 inside. For two weeks we have to be in bed at 9 p. m. I'll finish this tomorrow, goodnite! I still like it!

Good Sunday morning everybody. Today it is hot—not a cloud in the sky. We rolled out at 5:45 and it has been hot ever since. Just downed a pint of strawberry ice cream (12c a pint) and I feel pretty good. They feed us good here, even better than at Fort Niagara. Here you go into the mess hall and take as much as you want, but you must eat all you take. If you take too much you have to eat it anyway.

Well, here's what happened enroute:

Left Fort Niagara at 7 p. m. by bus to Niagara Falls. There were M.P.'s all along the way. They kept the six buses all together and stopped all traffic even a train. We left Niagara Falls by Pullman sleeper at 8 p. m. (This was Thursday night). We layed over in Buffalo from 9:30 to 11:40 p. m., then pulled out just as we were crawling in bed. We arose at 5 a. m. and were passing thru Marion, Ohio way the other side of Cleveland. Ate a wonderful breakfast in the diner at 7:45 and while eating we crossed into Indiana at Muncie. At 9:05 we arrived in Indianapolis. Then we traveled for 250 miles thru country which was flat and rolling, but no hills like home; not very thickly populated and mostly farmland. We traveled in luxury all the way with air-conditioned Pullman cars. There was a lot of high water in Illinois. At 11:45 we had dinner and crossed the Missouri River into St. Louis at 1:20 p. m. (CST). We sat in our cars in a maze of railroad tracks 'til 3:25 p. m. It became very hot and muggy standing still even with the air-conditioning. We ate supper at 5:45 p. m., while traveling along the Missouri River outside of St. Louis. We were re-routed due to high water here. Saturday morning we woke up and looked outside at 6 a. m., at Muskogee, Okla. No hills and you could see for miles, but always in the distance could be seen a line of hills along the horizon.

During the night we traveled thru Missouri, across the southeast corner of Kansas into central Oklahoma. We then were about 250 miles from Sheppard Field. During the night we picked up ten carloads of soldiers bound for this field. We ate breakfast in McAlester, Okla. Country there was sparsely populated; rolling country like that near Buffalo. Saw a herd of at least 500
