This Saturday Junk Rally Day In Andover

Dig Out Your Scrap Metal. It Is Badly Needed by Your Country. Want 17,000,000 Tons.

The most serious problem confronting our war effort today is the shortage of scrap iron and steel. There is sufficient scrap hidden around the country, the job is to locate and collect it.

The War Production Board is calling for 17 million tons of scrap before snow flies. That is a big order, but it is the only way that uninterrupted production can be maintained in our industrial war effort.

Quotas worked out call for 100 pounds of scrap iron from every house in a rural community and 500 pounds from every farm, so you can figure out for yourself how much scrap is expected from Andover.

Andover has sent its men into the service. Andover people are buying War Bonds to furnish money for their training and now it is up to us to provide them with the necessary equipment to carry on the fight. That equipment has got to come from the scrap of every home, farm or business establishment in America. So get it out of hiding and into the hands of the junk dealers, who are trained to sort it and prepare it for shipment to the mills, where the need for it is acute.

Junk Rally Day in Andover will be this Saturday, by that time phone Holt's Garage or any of the members of the local Salvage Committee which consists of C. M. Holt, H. W. Jackson, R. E. Spicer, Howard Burdick and Ralph Burgett, that you have a quantity of scrap ready and a junk dealer will collect it and pay for it when taken. People having only a small amount of scrap which they wish to donate to this cause can leave it at Holt's Garage or call the garage and it will be collected.

The local firemen will also cooperate in the scrap rally by assisting residents in moving any heavy objects from attics, garages or backyards and will assist the local Salvage Committee in collection.

Scrap tin and waste paper will not be collected in this drive. Save them for later collections when called for.

BARRETT'S DAIRY

Letters and News Briefs From Boys In Service

The following letter from "Don" Hardy to his mother, Mrs. Bertha Hardy, tell of his transfer to Nashville, Tenn., and interesting incidents and travel:

Sqdrn. G, Section 4,
A.A.F.C.C., Bks. 20
Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Mom:

I got the papers just before I pulled out last Saturday night. I read them on the train and it was swell to read about the old town.

Well, here's the story: We left the barracks at Ft. Myer's, Fla., at 9:15 p. m., but first let me tell you about the earlier part of the evening. We had a mild hurricane about 6 and it rained and blew harder than I ever saw it before. The rain came actually in sheets. It was black as night at the height of the storm and lasted for about an hour. Consequently there was about a foot of water all over except in the road. As the waterline is only a few feet below the surface of the earth the water stayed on.

Well, we left the barracks at 9:15 p. m., barefooted and our pants rolled up to our knees. Four hundred strong, we went in a column of fours to the train. Some fun! However, the train was late so we laid down in the road on our raincoats and snoozed until 11:30 before the train arrived. When we got on the train we rolled into ready-made Pullmans and slept peacefully until 8 a. m., when we found ourselves about 200 miles north and still in Florida. Due to the number of men and the fact that we didn't pick up our diners (two) until 10:30 a. m., our car didn't eat breakfast until 1:45 p. m., dinner at 5 and, believe it or not, no supper until 1 a. m. the next day. Meals were regular, however, after that because we only had one meal before arriving at Nashville at 9:30 a. m. Monday. Our route went up thru Florida to Tallahassee; then north thru Alabama and Georgia into Tennessee.

This camp is an Army Air Force classification center for classifying cadets as pilots, bombardiers, navigators and washouts. The camp is built in hills and hills are all around us. Beautiful trees and grass. They are first I've been close to since I left home. Texas was bare and hot. Florida was swampy, muggy and flat, but Tennessee is hilly with trees and grass and has the same general climate as home, only it is still hot here during the day, but cool at night. —It's raining a gentle drizzle now, typical of our fall rains back home.

I took my stiff physical today and can only say I hope there was nothing wrong. Tomorrow or the next day we get a mental and psychological exam which is supposed to be pretty tough. So far I'm just a cadet unclassified.

Well, I guess this is it for now. I'm tired and lights go out soon.

Love, DON.

The American sailor eats 1,985 pounds of food a year; soldier, 1,844 pounds; civilian, 1,446 pounds.

A letter from "Bob" Perry to his parents states:

4th Sep. Recruit. Bat.,
Training Center
New River, N. C.

Dear Mom and All:

Just a line to say that I arrived O. K. yesterday, and that I was plenty hot and dirty from the ride up on the train. I had to get up at 12:30 a. m. yesterday to be in Port Royal at 6 a. m. We arrived here just in time for chow so I only had a few seconds before "lights out" last night to drop a card. One D. I. from our platoon at Parris Island came up and also a sergeant from there. He was plenty tough down there but I guess he considers us Marines now and he is using us pretty decent. In fact I was surprised to see what kind of a guy he could be.

The climate is a little cooler here and there are fewer mosquitoes. We sleep in tents, one squad to a tent.

We all got up as usual at 4:15 this morning but were instructed that we could sleep until 5:30 here which made us feel much better. We also have access to the P.X. at night as long as there is a D. I. with us. We aren't limited on the time for taking showers here and when the whole squad is ready to "turn in" at night all I do is report them all to the D. I. and we can go to bed any time after 8 p. m. I will be issued a shooting jacket this mornnig and I will go out on the range for "snapping in" at about 1 p. m.

We were also issued mosquito nets so we can sleep in comfort now. How is everyone at home? Hope you are all O. K. After last night's rest I am feeling good. Have the kids write; I don't have much time to answer them separately.

Love to all, BOB.

Allegany Relief Costs Are Lower

Belmont, Sept. 17.—A still further decline in the cost of Allegany county home relief for August is reported by Dr. I. G. Howe, welfare commissioner. The figure for last month was $5,368.62, as against $6,029.62 for July. The cost for August this year is almost $3,000 less than it was for August 1941, when the outlay called for $8,264.33.

Two reasons are believed responsible for this drop in cost: Many persons have been given work because of the present acute shortage in labor and in other instances because of increased earnings, relatives are now able to provide assistance to dependent members of their families.

Greenwood Men Electrocuted While Drilling Well

Steel Boom of Drilling Rig Hits High Tension Wire While Being Raised Saturday.

Raymond Young, 55, and his son-in-law, Harold Sampson, 33, both of Greenwood were electrocuted about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the steel boom of the drilling rig they were operating came in contact with an electric wire carrying 4,600 volts on the Mrs. Jessie Ostrander farm in Karr Valley.

The men had gone to the farm to clean out a well. They backed their truck up to the well and were raising the steel drilling boom when the boom came in contact with the electric line which was about 25 feet from the ground.

Mrs. Ostrander saw the men lying on the ground and sensing that something was wrong called authorities. A crew from the New York State Electric and Gas Corp. was called who turned off the current so the men could be removed.

Young was lying on a steel guy wire attached to the boom and Sampson was lying on the other side of the truck where he apparently had been turning the crank which raised the boom.

Mr. Young is survived by his wife, mother and a daughter, Mr. Sampson by his wife, his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Double funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Greenwood Tuesday afternoon.

Robert Dean Selected As Juror On Murder Trial

Robert E. Dean of Andover is one of the 12 jurors selected to hear the first-degree murder trial to be held in Allegany county in many years. The only other first-degree murder in the county in our recollection was the famed Wagner case, which involved the shooting of two State troopers. This trial, however, was held in Buffalo.

The trial is well under way and expected to continue thru this week and next.

The jury, in order of selection, follows:

George Wood, Scio, garageman; Mrs. Myra Brainard, Friendship, housewife; Robert Keller, Cuba, farmer; Clarence Preston, Fillmore, sexton; Maurice J. Graham, Wellsville, bank teller; Robert Dean, Andover, highway foreman; Lynn Corbin, Belmont, farmer; Ray L. Christman, Wellsville, oil contractor; Leon Coyle, Alma, farmer; Mrs. Harriet Austin, Wellsville, organist; Gordon Smith, Independence, merchant and Gerald Wightman, Wirt, assessor.

The alternates, who will act in the event of the illness or incapacity of any of these, are Stanley Lyons, Cuba, clerk and Patrick Ward, farmer of the town of Ward.

Hollowell—Jones

Miss Yvette E. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurber Jones and Richard M. Hollowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hollowell, were married at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, Sept. 19th, at the Methodist parsonage in Wellsville. The Rev. Guy M. Ovenshire officiated. Ronald Hollowell and Miss Irene Jones were the attendants.

RECREATIONAL AUTOS OUT IN GROUP-RIDE PLAN

Group riding doesn't mean that the automobile left at home should be used for recreational or social driving. It should be used only for absolutely essential purposes.

In other words—when you're a member of a car-sharing club make sure that your car isn't used for recreational or social driving on days when you are "doubling up" with someone else.

This means co-operation between workers and housewives, and families where there is more than one car in the garage and more than one driver in the house.
