SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LOYALTY TO CHRIST

International Sunday School Lesson for October 11, 1942.

Golden Text. "What things were gain to me, these have I counted loss for Christ." — Philippians 3: 7.

Lesson Text: Mark 2: 14-17; John 6: 66-69; Philippians 3: 7-11.

The call of Matthews to discipleship by Jesus was similar to the call extended to the others of his chosen band. These men whom Jesus selected as the group to be taught and trained by him to carry on his work when the time came for him to leave this world, were called while they were busy at their everyday tasks of life. Jesus took them as they were, mostly untaught and untrained, saying unto them, "Follow thou me," and the record declares that these men immediately forsook their ordinary, everyday business affairs and followed him.

This was the case with Levi, the son of Alphaeus. While in Capernum, and after healing the palsied man, Jesus passed by where Levi whom we know as Matthew, was sitting, carrying out the duties assigned to him by the Roman Government — that of tax gatherer from his fellow Jews — which made him the object of their scorn and hatred. To this despised man Jesus said, "Follow me," and, according to the gospels of Matthew, Luke and Mark, "he arose and followed him."

Apparently, Matthew, knew Jesus, had heard him speak and his heart was ready for the call to discipleship. As brought out in our lesson for February 22nd, it was not difficult for Jesus to get followers. He was a new leader and there is always a strong attraction, which almost amounts to fascination, about a new leader. Jesus had personal magnetism that seemed to attract men the moment they looked at him. Thus it seemed to be with Matthew.

However, with the passage of time, the fascination for the new leader passes. The crowd is no longer attracted by the leader's personality. It is then that the cause he represents or the message he brings is given attention. The people in Jesus' day expected him to acclaim himself as their king and then free them from the yoke of the hated Romans. When they realized that this was not his mission, "many of his disciples went back and walked no more with him." Seeing the fickleness of the crowds and the shallowness of their loyalty, Jesus turned to the Twelve and asked, "Would ye also go away?" In reply, Simon Peter, speaking for them all, asked "Lord, to whom shall I go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."

Ask your heart this reaching question just now, "Have I been, like the crowds in Jesus' day, merely "fascinated" with Jesus, ready to forsake him when the going gets hard, when it isn't convenient to be faithful, when it isn't the popular thing in my community to stand firm in my Christian convictions? Or, am I, like Peter and the other disciples, although conscious of my shortcomings and sinfulness, convinced that He only has the words of eternal life and he only is worthy of my faith and loyalty?"

After accepting the call from Christ, which came to him on the Damascus Road, Paul, probably the most outstanding disciple of Jesus Christ the world has known, remained loyal. His loyalty cost him much, in physical pain — being whipped and stoned for the gospel's sake and being imprisoned only because he preached Jesus Christ — in mental suffering and social ostracism — his friends of former days would have nothing to do with him, and, for a time, neither would the members of the early church.

Even with all of this, Paul was able to declare. "Yea, verily, and I count all things to be loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord; for whom I suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but refuse, that I may gain Christ, and be found in him, not having a righteousness of mine own, even that which is of the law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness which is from God by faith; that I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, becoming conformed unto his death that by any means I may attain unto the resurrection from the dead." — Phil. 3:8-11.

Evening Defense School To Start Soon Here

Farm Machinery Repair Course to be Continued. New Courses in Milk and Potato Production Soon.

Starting Monday, October 26, the Federal Defense School program which was successfully run here last year, will be continued this year, according to announcement made by Carl Fribolin, local teacher of agriculture who is supervising the program.

The farm machinery repair course which proved very popular with the men last winter will be continued and will feature the repair of all types of farm equipment including tractors and trucks. Welding, both acetylene and electric, will also be included. This course will be held two nights a week from 7 until 11 o'clock. The first meeting will be held in the school shop Monday evening, October 26. Brinton Baker of Alfred Station will continue as instructor.

Two new courses will be held in addition to the farm machinery course, one in potato production and one in milk production. These courses, designed primarily for the farmers, will take up methods for increasing the production of these important commodities. Mr. Fribolin will act as instructor in these courses, and the lessons will include discussions and study of practcal methods. Outside speakers, movies, trips and demonstrations will add variety to the lessons.

The milk production course will start the week of October 26, meeting twice a week, probably on Wednesday and Thursday from 7 until 10. The potato production course will be given later in the year.

The courses are open to any men who may wish to come. Bring your machinery to be repaired or your production problems to be solved. There is no cost for the courses.

Yannie—Olsowsky

Mr. and Mrs. August I. Olsowsky of 20 Brooklyn Street, Angelica, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lucille Olsowsky to Sergeant Emilio Yannie, Jr., of the U. S. Air Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Yannie of Andover. The marriage ceremony took place in Battle Creek, Mich., on Sept. 14th.

Bride and bridegroom are residing in Battle Creek, where Sergeant Yannie is now stationed.

Fall Court Term Is Postponed

The regular fall term of county court scheduled for this week has been postponed by Judge Hopkins because of the late season and the fact that farmers are still busy with crop harvests.

No civil cases were listed for trial and the one criminal case will be held over.

Beat This Beet!

The garden of "Fred" Potter and Patrick McLaughlin has produced the best beet we have heard of this season. "Fred" brought the beet into the News office one day last week and it measured 21 inches in circumference one way and 20½ inches the other. The beet was of the red variety.

Home Bureau News

The last meeting of the Home Bureau was held October 8, under leaders Mrs. James Lynch, Mrs. Orin Beach and Mrs. Orla Baker. The meeting was about play at home and neighborhood good times, stressing the fact that because of gas and tire shortage it would be necessary for more community entertainment for young and old.

The next meeting will be held October 22 with an all-day lesson on foods. Mrs. Oliver Kemp, leader. The meeting will start at 10:30 a. m. sharp with the dinner which we took ourselves, at noon.

Mrs. Common and son John expect to join him later if the station is permanent.

"Junk Jamboree" Is Scheduled For This Sunday

All Persons Wishing to Join In Junk Gathering Asked to Report at Fire Hall for "Active Duty."

This Sunday, Oct. 18, has been set aside for an all-out "Junk Jamboree" by the Andover Fire Department in an effort to get in all the scrap possible before snow and cold weather sets in.

The Firemen's Auxiliary is furnishing sandwiches and coffee to the workers at the Andover fire hall all day, with a general good time, along with lots of hard work for anyone interested in spending part of the morning or afternoon in assisting in this urgent drive.

Persons having junk, especially those in the rural sections are asked to either call the Fire Hall, Phone 489 any time Sunday or drop a card to the Andover Fire Department as soon as possible so that your junk may be gathered before snow makes it impossible to dig out this necessary war material.

"Many hands makes light work" is all too true in a drive of this character, so anyone, whether a member of the department or not, who can spare even a couple of hours' work will welcomed with open arms at the fire hall any time Sunday that it is convenient for them to work. Trucks will be on hand to care for at least 30 workers, so let's not be bashful.

Get in the scrap! Call 489 Andover or drop a card to the Andover Fire Department—and you have done your part.

The drive in Andover up to date has netted approximately 50 tons of scrap metal, but many tons have still to be collected before snow and cold weather sets in.

Kenneth Gath Enlists in Air Corps

Kenneth Gath enlisted in the Air Corps Tuesday and will report to Fort Niagara this Saturday.

Letters and News Briefs From Boys In Service

The following interesting letter from Gerald "Bud" Dolan, written on a red-ruled thin parchment paper arrived this week. "Bud" is now located in the Solomons, scene of considerable fighting at this time.

Guadalcanal, Solomon Is.,
September 25, 1942

Dear Mom and All:

Everything is going O. K. here in the Solomons, and I'm well and in the best of health. I hope you are all well and that things are going right at home.

I still haven't had any mail out here, but keep on writing and some day I'll get a slew of it. I'm really going to appreciate getting it too. We don't get much news out here, so give me the low down on big league baseball when you write. I'd like to know how Notre Dame is doing too. You might try sending a couple papers. I don't know whether or not I'd get them, but I'd sure like it if I did. Make one of them an Andover News.

Let me know how all the kids are doing and how Naz and the rest of the football team is making out.

Out here we haven't had any candy or much sweets of any kind yet, so I'd sure appreciate it if you would send me some. Buy some candy bars or any kind of candy and tie it up good in a tin box. You could even throw in some fudge and cookies too. I know you'll send it, so thanks a million.

I don't know how long it will be before we get things taken care of out here, but I don't think it will be so long. I'm anxious to see you all again, so when it's over I'll be home as soon as I can. So long for now and keep on writing.

Love to all, "Bud."

P.S.—This stationery used to belong to the Japs.

Tuesday Night's Blackout Goes Over Smoothly

The blackout Tuesday night was again successful in Andover, with all officials and departments functioning 100 per cent.

The yellow signal came thru at 7:55, the blue at 8:35 and the red at 8:50. Both whistles were blown immediately and Andover residents with a very few minor exceptions responded immediately. Officials were on the job and the few tardy lights were very quickly extinguished.

The all-clear was sounded at 9:18.

Prof. Boras of Alfred Exchange Speaker

Prof. Harold Boras, professor of Education and Psychology at Alfred University was guest speaker at the regular meeting of Andover Exchange Club held at the Bungalow Diner Thursday evening.

Prof. Boras gave the Exchangites an interesting talk on "Mental Hygiene and the War."

Doctor J. Robert Common, a charter member of the club who left for army service Tuesday, was presented a gift from the club and the best wishes of the members.

The club also voted to hold its annual Halloween party again this year, along the same lines of previous years and committees were appointed to carry out the event.
