The melting of the snow that fell last week was very beneficial as springs were dry and a grave outlook for coming winter.

The exciting question of the presidential campaign will soon take a rest and in the absence of all engrossing topic, why shouldn't we take into consideration the formation of a fire company.

The potato and apple trade is still booming here. Every day this week has seen several cars loaded.

Ward Oatley has sold his vacant lot on East Avenue to L. C. Van-Fleet and O. Rosebush.

No school this week. The Teachers Institute is being held in Belmont. Prof. Armstrong of this place is one of the assistant instructors.

M. H. Harmon has sold his house and lot on Dyke street known as the Marsh Bundy place to Henry Bullard, who expects to occupy the home at once.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beebe will soon commence housekeeping in the house recently occupied by W. E. Green who has moved into the building lately vacated by Gideon Trowbridge.

Scout Quota For Andover This Year Is $100

Each and every year the Andover Boy Scout committee puts on a drive in order to raise their quota to support the Seneca Council of the Boy Scouts of America, which council is made up of the two counties of Allegany and Cattaraugus. The quota given to Andover this year is $100, all of which would be expended within the Council.

As every citizen of Andover is aware, the Boy Scouts perform many tasks without compensation in order to aid in the village and community, and the Andover Boy Scouts are no exception to this rule. They have acted as messengers during all the blackouts which have been held in Andover and are on call at any time that they are needed for messenger service by any of the authorities. They are always willing to aid in any search or assist anyone to locate lost persons or lost objects.

The Andover Scouts now has 31 members. They meet each Wednesday evening at the Andover Central School under the leadership of Carl Fribolin, Robert Ingerson and Raymond O'Laughlin and are instructed by these men who give up their Wednesday evenings in all of the various crafts pertaining to Scouts, to mention a few, electricity, carpentry, woodwork, farming, leather work, life saving, first aid, pathfinding, woodcraft and many others. But, in order to support such a troop in Andover it is necessary that we have a central organization such as stated above and that is the main reason that the drive for funds is going to take place within the next two weeks and all the citizens of Andover will be approached by a solicitor and asked to contribute something to this good work.

JOHN J. BENNETT, Jr.
Democratic Candidate for Governor

Our Veterans Committee asks you to vote for John J. Bennett, Jr., for Governor of New York State on Tuesday, November 3rd, for the following reasons:

John J. Bennett, Jr., knows State Government, having served New York State with distinction for the past 12 years as Attorney-General. To this high office he has been re-elected since 1930.

John J. Bennett, Jr., a World War 1 veteran, a past State Commander of the American Legion, has been actively interested in the problems of the returned soldier and the disabled veteran. History does and will repeat itself. Our boys will return when peace comes. Again John Bennett will be the friend of the veteran, helping him back to health and economic independence.

You must be interested in the kind of man John Bennett will be as Governor of our State—because—your boy, your brother or your neighbor's boys may badly need his understanding and help during this terrible war and when peace comes.

When you go to the polls on November 3rd, think of these things, and vote for John Bennett.

LIBRARY NEWS

Plans are in the making to observe Book Week in the Andover Free Library this year as in previous years, which will be nationally celebrated Nov. 15 to 21st. The slogan for this year is "Forward With Books." Today as never before it is necessary to give all children an opportunity to get acquainted with books—timely, topical books as well as the timeless classics. To help both boys and girls develop standards of judgment and build citizens who know and use books. Book Week provides a splendid opportunity for these young people to increase their knowledge of books and to help others to do the same.

Set aside this special week to visit our library and enjoy the books that are found here.

Undergoes Operation

Clarence Kemp underwent an operation for the removal of the appendix at Jones Memorial hospital in Wellsville last Wednesday. Reports from the hospital are that he is making a satisfactory recovery.

WANDERING WITH WILLIE

NO, we did not die (darn it) but just sort of slipped, but with the hunting season and all coming along we thought some of the boys would like you folks to know how they have been making out. So (shall we tell 'em?) we'll dood it!

A happening occurred recently when a group of more or less local hunters spent most of the time in the beautiful afternoon weather last week—looking for a gun. They all got off to a good start, with guns enough to go around, but after shooting the little "bwown wabbit" they discovered that there was one of them short a gun. It's OK over on this side of the water to lay your gun down Ray, but over in the Jap territory that would be most unethical.

And then there was the duck hunter who hied himself on top of the biggest and best muskrat house he could find so that he could get a good shot—and he did. When he pulled the trigger he went off the top of that that house end over end (we mean George S.) But he didn't get his boots wet as that was the only part of him that was above the water. They were resting on the edge of the house while George was getting a fish's eye view of a pair of boots and lots of sky.

He got two ducks tho.

AFTER wandering about the rural sections ourselves while doing a little hunting, we were surprised to see the junk that still lies about—and the owners will neither let folks know that it is there or pick it up themselves, just sort of dog-in-the-manger patriots.

And along about the middle of winter when they finally wake up as to the real necessity of the government getting this junk they will holler and hoot about what they want to do to help Uncle Samuel beat the Japs and Heinies, and will run up against a blank wall because that old pipe and other waste material will all be covered with the "white and beautiful."

Is there any on your farm that greets the eye of every visitor who happens to drive up your way? Perhaps he was a bit more patriotic than you junk-grippers, and will naturally see that stuff a mile away.

Let's keep it moving. — Either sell it, donate it, give it to the hired man, the mail man or any man, but get it out of hiding before it's too late.

Prominent Wellsville Man Dies Unexpectedly

Grant T. Norton, 70, prominent Wellsville business, civic and fraternal man, died unexpectedly at his home in that village Friday evening October 23rd, from a heart attack.

Mr. Norton had lived in Wellsville and vicinity all his life, where he was an oil producer. He has also been active in the Masonic and Elks fraternities, the Brookland Club and the Wellsville Rod and Gun Club.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Covill of Wellsville and a son, Lytle Norton of Sacramento, Calif.

Services were held at the home Wednesday afternoon.
