"Have You a Shout for Victory?"

What's the matter, Andover?—Don't you like contests? This recent one concerning new basketball cheers certainly sounds worthwhile to me. It doesn't seem possible that there might be anyone who wouldn't feel proud to be awarded a season ticket, which would allow the owner to go to all home games free of charge. Of course, if there are only three or four entries in this contest, no one is liable to win a prize because the Intramural Council, which is sponsoring this contest, reserves the right to award prizes only for worthwhile cheers.

Well, then, if you would like a season ticket, why not sit down and write a cheer? It doesn't take excessive brain work. This contest doesn't close until Nov. 15th, so everyone has over a week to concentrate on this subject.

If the high school students don't have enough initiative to write cheers, why don't you Junior high pupils write some? Perhaps you'll think of something extra-special and show them up!

Don't you think it would make you feel important to attend a basketball game, and hear a cheer—the cheer you wrote in November, being given?

It really wouldn't be hard to write a cheer and then enter it in the contest. Just sit down with a pencil and some paper and think of some words, which have a little rhythm, which a person can really shout with feeling, and which would not be too hard for the cheer leaders to "work out" successfully with actions. Don't write anything which will be too difficult for that. After you have written your cheer, sign your name to it and take it to one of the Intramural Council members or take it to "Coach" Ingerson.

Maybe the reason you people haven't entered this contest very enthusiastically is because you haven't any idea what to write. If this is the case, go to one of last year's cheerleaders, such as Marian Stevens or Ruth Lynch, or go to some one on the Intromural Council. They will give you an idea as to what a contestant is expected to write.

On the alert, Andover—it's time to show the boys who will be on the basketball squad this year that we are backing them up enough to write cheers to urge them on to victory.

Senior Hoe-Down Is Success

Cats, ghosts, and witches rode the walls of the ACS gymnasium Saturday evening, October 31, at the Senior Hallowe'en dance.

The music of Henry Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Rogers was enjoyed by those who attended the "Hoe Down." Nelson Brewster called and dancing was from 9 to 12 o'clock.

During the evening six mysterious figures entered the dance, dressed in costume. However, the majority of the guests were not in costume.

Refreshments of cider, doughnuts and sandwiches were served in the cafeteria by the Seniors during intermission.

The financial report on the dance will be made in next week's paper. BEC

George Karcanes Is President of Student Council

George Karcanes, after being elected president of the Student Council, presided at the meeting which was held Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 28 in Miss Baker's room during activity period. Other officers elected were: Paul Kilbane, vice president and Barbara Brownell secretary and treasurer.

A few plans were outlined for the coming year. Discussions were held on the possibilities of a student talent assembly in the near future, forming a Varsity A Club, sponsoring dances after basketball games, and the publishing of a book which would serve as a record of school activities for this year. This book would be kept on file in the library.

It was decided to hold a meeting once a month on Wednesday afternoon during activity period. Special meetings will be held if necessary.

Members of the Student Council who were present were Ruth Lynch, Arretta Dunham, Miles Gorsuch, Virginia Loring, Barbara Brownell, George Karcanes and Paul Kilbane. BB

Grade Pupils Present Hallowe'en Program

"The Three Jolly Pumpkins," a one-act play, was the main feature of the Hallowe'en program presented Friday morning, October 30, as the first assembly program of the year for grades 1-6.

The program opened with the Junior orchestra playing "The Monitor's March." Bruce Nye, the master of ceremonies, led the group in the salute to the American flag and the singing of "America." A few words were spoken to the group by Mr. Bretsch. A song, "Jack O' Lantern," was sung by the first grade. A Hallowe'en poem was given by Donald Scott and Geraldine Ann Lynch tap danced, "Zeke Goes Steppin'," accompanied by Audrey Baker at the piano. This was followed by a ghost dance performed by Betty Howland, Norma Short, Joan Woodruff and Mary Ellen Driscoll.

Next, the one-act play was presented by Kent Harder, Dorothy Dodge, Mary Alice Horan, Patricia Sackett, Phyllis Buregr, Joyce Linza and Richard Hann. The grade chorus sang "The Erie Canal."

The program was closed with a selection "Pinky, the Sailor" played by the Junior orchestra.

Many parents and friends were welcomed to the assembly. CMH

Behind the Scenes With the Senior Cast

"Yo' shore make a cute So'thern belle, Barbara." Your accent is the real McCoy. We believe that it could get you by in any Southern society.

Well, Marilyn, do you think that you could make the team next fall in football? We mean your "27, 17, 32, 44, hip." Certainly sounds real enough. Perhaps Mr. Ingerson will draft you for the football squad soon.

How is your "insinuating" coming along, Betty Halsey? As Sarah, the cofired maid in "Brother Goose," Betty is doing an "extra special" performance.

"Art" Temple and "Slip" Karcanes may be classed 1A for their ability to play the older brother and the kid brother, respectively, in the play. Slip certainly handles himself well as a girl-crazy kid. That really takes acting ability, doesn't it, George?

Still sarcastic, eh, Mary? Well, don't let it influence your fine sense of humor too much. But, then "the play's the thing," they say.

The breeze that is caused on the stage every once in a while during play practice is really something to see. Doris Mead crosses the stage at such a fast pace that she may soon put the south wind out of business.

Why is it, "Cee Cee," that you are always the villain in plays and Elaine Pope is the heroine? Too bad we couldn't have it vice-versa this time.

"Dot" Baker has a new nickname. She is now called a "cackling dummy." This is one of tomboy Marilyn Hardy's names for the maid, who is Dorothy. MB

American Education Week Nov. 9-13

Parents Invited to Visit School Next Thursday and Friday. High School to Have War Effort Display.

Parents and friends of Andover Central School are invited to visit the school next week Thursday or Friday in celebration of American Education Week. Regular classes will be in session during the day and Thursday evening the building will be open with a display by the high school pupils depicting the part the school is playing in the War Effort.

Parents of grade pupils are particularly invited to visit the grade rooms during the day. Parents of junior and senior high school pupils are welcome to visit any classes during the day and are invited to come to the building Thursday evening to view the exhibit and become acquainted with the high school teachers. Refreshments will be served in the homemaking room that evening.

The high school will feature other displays, among them being the annual Book Week display in the library. This will also be open Thursday evening. A booth for the sale of War Stamps will also be open for business.

A special assembly program will be presented Thursday morning, featuring Jesse Phillips Robertson in "Song Hits of 1942 (BC)." Mr. Robertson explains and demonstrates many rare musical instruments used in ancient times. Parents and friends are invited to this program in the school auditorium.

The theme for this year's American Education Week is "Education For Free Men." All American citizens should visit their school during that week and see how important a part the public schools are playing in preparing our young people to meet the challenge to our freedom.

English IV Class Listens to Raymond Massey

Last week the English IV class listened to a selected recording from the play "Abe Lincoln In Illinois," by Robert Sherwood. The part of Lincoln was played by Raymond Massey who also played Abe Lincoln when the play was produced on Broadway.

Only two or three important scenes were played for the class but these records served to give the class an idea of how a Broadway play sounds, especially the voice inflections of the actors. DJM

Wednesday, Nov. 11 Is Vacation Day

On Armistice Day, which is Wednesday of next week, Nov. 11th, the students of Andover Central need not report. This day, on which the Armistice of World War 1 was signed, is still a legal holiday in the United States. Therefore, the schools acknowledge it by declaring a one-day recess from studies. BD

J. P. Robertson To Present "Song Hits Of 1942" (BC)

World Traveler to Sing, Display Instrument

Mr. Jesse Phillips Robertson, well known for his unusual music, costumes and traveling experience, will present a very unique musical travelogue Thursday morning, Nov. 12 in the ACS auditorium at nine o'clock as an assembly program for the Junior and Senior high school.

A. C. S. pupils will travel from Broadway to Baghdad with Mr. Robertson by way of music.

While in a Ziegfield cast with Eddie Cantor, and later appearing with Fred Astaire and Victor Moore, Mr. Robertson spent his days studying the physics of music at Teachers' College, New York. He became interested in Oriental music and visited museums in Syria, Palestine, Egypt. He has studied archaic excavated musical instruments and has reconstructed them for his own use—in this program.

Mr. Robertson plays the long-neck flute, symphonia, timbrel, rhubabi, ten-string psaltery, shoulder harp and saddle drums. He presents his program in costume, with ancient costume and modern humor.

The public is cordially invited to attend what promises to be a remarkable hour of worthwhile entertainment. JB

Exchange Club Gives 27 Prizes

What was all the commotion in the streets Saturday night? Didn't you know that the Exchange Club was sponsoring a parade for the young people in the community?

The parade was a huge success with witches, skeletons and clowns, galore! About one hundred of the younger children gathered at the Legion Park and marched through the main streets ,led by the town band and the fire trucks.

The children were dressed in many different costumes. There were hobos, with bundle and all, witches with tall hats and broom sticks, Russian cossacks, Spanish dancers and clowns.

Among the prize winners were a majorette dressed in a patriotic costume of red, white and blue; a Spanish girl in red and yellow; a man from the world beyond, known as Mars; and a Russian cossack! Twenty-seven prizes were given of fifty and twenty-five cents.

After the prizes were given, cider and do-nuts were served to all who were there. P. A. T.

CHIT-CHAT

The Seniors wish to thank the students and townspeople for their fine turnout at the dance held last Saturday night.

We were all surprised to see Anne McDonough back in the realms of ACS. She just had to bid her last "adieu" to the crowd. Good luck, Anne!

Don't be alarmed at the sight of various girls staggering around the halls. Some of the chemistry girls took too many whiffs of chlorine gas.

Do you really think Paul Ryan may join the Air Corps, Virginia Loring?

Miss Anderson was really surprised as well as pleased that George Karcanes knew all his lines for play practice Thursday afternoon. Nice going, George.

The Ag boys seemed to enjoy the banquet Thursday night.

Too bad you had to leave early Thursday night, Ruth Lynch. We had a nice party in the homemaking room after serving the FFA dinner. But we understand.

If anybody sees Barbara Brownell looking intently at Mr. Fribolin it's only so she will recognize him.

Who made those mysterious phone calls to "Bebe" Dean and "Barb" Childs?

Doris Mead ought to be healthy eating so many Wheat Puffies. Do you eat them plain or with milk and sugar, Doris? If you readers don't get the meaning, come to the Senior play. BB

Andover Square Dances at Social Hour

Miss Sherwood, Miss Hussong, Mr. Bretsch and Mr. Louis Snyder, brother of Miss Elizabeth Snyder, were present in the capacity of instructors at the social hour held in the gymnasium last Friday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

This social hour was held for the express purpose of teaching the art of square dancing to those who wished to learn. It also provided an opportunity for those more experienced dancers to "practice up" for the Senior "Hoe Down" which took place the following evening.

Dancing was to the music of the Student Council records which were played by Mr. Maloy. A group of approximately 60 boys and girls were present. FMM

GIRLS PLAY SOCCER

Not to be outdone by the prowess of the boys at that rough and tumble game of football, the girls have been trying their hand at another game. Now, boys, don't get excited, it's only soccer—but the way the girls play it, it is as rough a scramble as any boys' football game.

As a result of two soccer games held on Friday afternoon, the "Red Beetles," under the leadership of "Euthie" Hardy, defeated Norma Crownpr's "Green Hornets" with a score of 3 to 0. The second game was held on another field and Arretta Dunham's "Brown Monkeys," lorded it over the "Blue Devils" under the leadership of "Dot" Baker with a score of 5 to 0.

The most outstanding player, as a whole on Ruth's "Red Beetle" team was Marilyn Hardy. She played a fine game and made two of the three scores. The winning team in the other game obtained its victory thru the scoring ability of Cecelia Lynch and the blacking of "Bebe" Dean.

There are some girls in ACS who say that they never see their name in the paper. Well, gals, why not settle down and do something in intramurals? This reporter will surely write about your achievements in this section of the paper. MEB

F. F. A. Initiates "Greenhands"

The Andover chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its first annual banquet on Thursday evening, Oct. 29, in the Andover Central School cafeteria.

Following a fine dinner served by the Homemaking A girls and prepared by Mrs. Wood under the supervision of Miss Mahl, the ACS band offered several selections.

Then Richard Ludden, toastmaster, introduced Principal Bretsch who extended a cordial welcome to everyone present. Following this the Andover chapter degree team initiated the Ag. 1 students as "Greenhands." The boys who were brought into the organization were Donald Baker, John Horan, Charles Joyce, Eldon Kaple, Harrison Lunn, John Padden, Earl Leon and Carlton Ordway. Mr. Bretsch, principal, Reginald Sootheran, president of the Exchange Club and Lloyd Meade representing the Board of Education, were also welcomed into the organization as honorary members.

Reginald Sootheran gave an interesting talk about the agriculture fair held in September and awarded the prizes at this time. A total of $70 in War Stamps was given away to those who had earned them.

A. D. Fuller gave an interesting speech about the future of farm boys and presented each 4-H Club member with a pin and a certificate telling what work he had completed and the nature of each project.

Each person present then joined Richard Ludden in the Pledge to the American Flag. DJM that only a very few people have read it. There are three excellent stories included in it, however.

"Small Potatoes," by Muir, is a fairly new book in the library. It is a story of the people near Penobscot Bay on the Coast of Maine. It sounds rather like a child's book, but it really is not.

"Pitcairn's Island," by Charles Nordhaff and James N. Hall is another of the rollicking danger stories of the sea for which this year are so famous.

Other books by these authors are "Mutiny On the Bounty," "Men Against the Sea," and "Botany Bay" all of which are in the school library.

"Penrod," by Booth Tarkington is the story of a small town boy who always held the record for getting into tight spots and managing to get out again. "Seventeen" is also by this author. These stories are humorous and "good for a laugh" any time. JB

Class of 1942 Works For Victory

After a thoro investigation, it was discovered that last year's Senior Class is really hitting the road to victory. From the class of 18 members, it was amazing to see that eight of the Alumni are away at school or college and one member has already been called into Uncle Sam's "custody."

Following are last year's graduates and a brief note about what each one is doing at present.

Donald Emery is working for the Empire Gas company in Wellsville.

Stanley Ruger is attending Alfred Technical School studying electricity and radio.

Chaes Gath is loafing until Uncle Sam catches up with him.

Betty Greene has come back to finish her high school course.

Marjorie Bergman and Patricia Lynch are attending the Federal Commercial school in Hornell.

Girl Scout News

Under the direction of Miss Marie Mahl and Miss Elizabeth Snyder, the Girl Scouts met last Wednesday night, Oct. 29.

At the beginning of the meeting a short business meeting was held concerning the girls who were qualified to become Scouts and the girls who wanted to, but had not been present at previous meetings. It was decided that a "waiting list" be made and if there were any vacancies these girls on the "waiting list" would become Scouts before the other girls.

After the business meeting the older girls, under the direction of Miss Dawn Sequin, learned some of the fundamentals of tap dancing, and the younger girls, under the direction of Miss Helen Zeil, studied a few requirements in art. They are planning to make small desk blotters.

After the girls returned to the homemaking room, another meeting was held for the purpose of choosing a committee to divide new patrols.

The meeting was closed with the Girl Scout promise and song.

A Senior Grows Up

Just 16 years ago last September 10th, the Mingus family which lives on Independence hill welcomed a new arrival. A quiet (?) baby girl now occupied the center of interest. The proud parents named her Florence Maralyn. Her eyes were blue and her hair, well, that just wasn't there. It soon became evident that she was destined to have light brown hair in later years.

They say that pink is for girls. Florence favored blue from her baby days.

When she was old enough to eat she liked everything except cauliflower. Anything that's tempting, she says. Soon Florence started to school. The only event she remembers very distinctly from her grade school days is having her hands tied together for "being naughty." Inside information has it that she became involved in a quarrel. She still likes to play ball and says it's her favorite type of general recreation. Her favorite sport is hunting.

Roses are her favorite flowers.

When she was a junior Florence read "Rebecca." She believes that it was the most fascinating book she has ever read. The night she saw "Sun Valley Serenade," was really a memorable one. Her favorite kind of car is a Buick. "Jingle Jangle Jingle" is the song she rates first on her hit-parade.

Florence took business law last year and thinks it is a most interesting subject. Most people think it's hard but she found it decidedly to her liking.

After school "Blondie" (that's her favorite nickname) hopes to go to Geneseo Normal. We think she'll make a grand teacher. What does she want to teach? Remember her favorite subject? That's it. She wants to be a commercial teacher.

Florence is a member of the Varsity staff of the Hi Herald, of the Library Council and is a prominent member of the Senior Class.

We wish Florence much success in her career as a teacher. JB

"Bill" Flint Visits Andover

The youngest Andover graduate since the year 1910, at least, returned to ACS about the first of October for a short visit. William (Bill) Flint, who now lives in Danville, graduated with the class of 540 at the age of 15. He has been working on farms since then, as hired help. He found this kind of work necessary because his age handicapped him in securing other types of work.

Recently "Bill" has filed application for work in two defense plants and is now anxiously awaiting their reply. He feels he may have a better chance now that the Army has taken so many men, leaving many jobs vacant for young fellows such as he. VML

Smart Scotchman

Two Scotchmen tossed to see who would pay for the dinner.

The winner called "Heads!" The loser yelled "Fire!" and escaped in the confusion.
