The private banking house of N. M. Crane & Co. of Hornellsville, closed its doors Monday morning. The suspension is attributed to the general stringency prevailing in business circles. The value of the assets is stated to equal the liabilities, but cannot be realized on at present.

The meeting of the farmers' club at Prest's opera house yesterday was well attended, and the meeting proved highly instructive. Mr. Jesse S. Phillips of this place who was booked for an address, was unable to be present on account of illness, but there was material present to fill out the program. We will give a full report of the meeting next week.

One of the educational exhibits in the New York State building at the World's Fair is a map 15x15 feet showing the exact location of all the schools of New York, both public and private—about 18,000 in number. One fact shown by this map is that Corning, the smallest city in the state, has more schools in proportion to population than any other city in the world.
