ANDOVER NEWS

A PROGRESSIVE FAMILY NEWSPAPER FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY PEOPLE — IN POLITICS INDEPENDENT BUT NEVER NEUTRAL.

VOL. 57, NO. 51. ANDOVER, N. Y., FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, DEC. 17, 1942. $2.00 Year; 5c Copy

T. R. Bassett Passes From Life Suddenly

Andover people were deeply grieved Monday morning when the sad news of the sudden passing of T. R. Bassett became known. Mr. Bassett had risen in the morning apparently in usual health, had eaten his breakfast and shoveled the snow from his sidewalk. After cleaning the walk he returned to the house where he was suddenly stricken.

Thomas Reading Bassett was born at the Bassett homestead in Independence May 27, 1865, a son of John C. and Elizabeth Reading Bassett and passed from life at his home in this village at 8:30 Monday morning, Dec. 14, 1942. When a young man he moved with his parents from Independence to Alfred where he attended Alfred University, after which he taught school one year in Independence and spent a year in California.

Upon returning East he took up the jeweler's trade at which he worked at Wilson, N. Y., after which he operated a general store and postoffice at Independence for a time before establishing a jewelry business in Andover village which he successfully conducted a number of years. In 1917 he sold his jewelry business to C. H. Watson and accepted a Civil Service position in the State laboratory at Albany, where he remained 14 years. Upon returning to Andover he was employed for a time in Bakers Hardware before retiring from active business.

Mr. Bassett was a highly respected citizen, possessed of a genial disposition and fine character whose passing is greatly regretted by a host of friends.

Dec. 25, 1890, he was united in marriage with Miss Ella E. Brown, who with the following children survive: Mrs. Elizabeth B. Huff of Buffalo, Earl C. Bassett of Lockport, Mrs. Ralph B. Rogers of Cleveland, Ohio and J. Chandler Bassett of Buffalo. A sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter of Rhode Island also survives.

Mr. Bassett united with the Seventh Day Baptist church of Independence in 1880 and has always been a loyal and contributing member of that church.

Services were held at the home on Dyke street at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Walter L. Greene of Andover and Rev. Edgar D. VanHorn of Alfred officiating, with interment in the Independence cemetery.

NOTICE

It has come to the attention of the the Mayor and Trustees of the Village of Andover that certain owners or occupants of buildings or lots have not been cleaning their sidewalks of snow or ice after a snow fall, but have let the snow and ice remain on their walks.

This is therefore to notify the said owners or occupants that under the Village Ordinances every sidewalk must be cleaned from all snow or ice within twelve hours from the time the same has fallen, and that snow which may have fallen in the night shall be removed before noon of the following day, and upon neglect so to do the Village may, without notice to the owners or occupants, cause the same to be removed and the expense thereof levied and collected out of said property the same as any corporation tax.

It has also come to the notice of the Mayor and Trustees of the Village of Andover that certain children have been throwing snow-balls upon the streets of the Village. This is therefore to warn these individuals that this practice must cease under penalty as set forth in the Village Ordinances of not less than $3.00 for the first violation and $5.00 for each violation thereof.

Therefore, we strictly warn such children or adults to strictly refrain from throwing any missile, including glass, stones, sticks or snowballs under penalty of the hereinbefore mentioned Ordinance.

Firemen Answer Two Calls This Week

The Andover firemen answered two calls this week, the first to a barn belonging to Wm. Chase on Baker street, which was practically destroyed and the second to the garage of Curtis Ruger on Dyke street, where a gas stove had ignited clothing. But little damage was done.

Local Town and County Tax Rate Slightly Lower

The town and county tax rate for the town and village of Andover for 1943 will be slightly lower than the 1942 tax, according to the list of county tax rates released this week from the office of Denzil G. Perkins, clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

The tax rate in Andover township in 1943 will be $19.25 per $1,000 valuation as compared with $19.34 per $1,000 valuation this year. The village rate is $15.29 as compared to $15.93 in 1942.

The highest tax rate is in the Town of Ward which is $29.96, an increase of $5.46 over last year's figure and the lowest is in Bolivar with a rate of $9.50 in the village and $10.62 in the township.

The tax rates show 15 of the county's 29 towns and four of the 12 villages have increased rates. The towns in which increased rates prevail are: Alfred, Allen, Alma, Angelica, Belfast, Birdsall, Burns, Centerville, Cuba, Granger, Independence, Rushford, Scio, Ward and West Almond. Villages with higher rates are: Alfred, Angelica, Canaseraga and Cuba.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Church announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Annalee, to John H. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Coleman of this village.

Miss Church is a member of the Jasper Central School faculty and Mr. Coleman is inspecting the installation and operation of Moore steam turbines in boats for the Navy on the West Coast.

Wellsville People Victims of Monoxide Gas

Tragedy visited Wellsville Monday in the form of carbon monoxide gas which took the lives of Harry Morse Sr., 50, and his son, Harry, Jr., 8. Mrs. Morse and two other children were badly affected but revived at Jones Memorial hospital.

The tragedy occurred at the Morse home in Proctor Terrace where the deadly gas was flowing from an open gas stove. Robert Morse, brother of the victims discovered the tragedy when he visited the home late Monday.

In his report, Dr. Cooley, coroner, stated that he believed that either the father or mother awakened Monday morning, turned on the gas and went back to bed to wait for the house to warm up, and were overcome by the fumes.

Letters and News Briefs From Boys In Service

The following letter was received this week directed to Howard Gath from Sgt. Francis E. Cable who recently returned to Ft. Devens, Mass., after enjoying a leave of absence with relatives and friends in this vicinity:

Sunday, 12-13-42
Uncle Sam's Repair Shop

Greetings to "Flash" Gath:

Dear Flash:

The holiday spirit is upon me and because of it I am writing you, letting you know I have forgiven you for insinuating that I was an inmate of this institution instead of a patient. Also for wishing me into the same sanctuary with our common friend, "Willie." I find it hard to forgive that, but I do.

So, "Flash," old pal, you can start the New Year with a clean slate, minus hard feelings on our part.

I must say that outside that one letter, I have enjoyed your epistles to Willie. When you take your pen in hand and jump on Willie's back like a cat on a dog, I feel that life is worth living.

As we are his only friends, I wish that we could give him something for Christmas. No doubt you will agree that a necktie would be the most appropriate present in his case. You know what I have in mind—the kind that fits snug around the neck—with you and myself hauling on the free end. What a blessing to mankind if we could but do our shopping early. Yours would be the honor of throwing the "necktie" over the limb.

No doubt you were informed that I was home on leave and I must tell you what happened:

For three weeks I looked for Willie without success. If you will remember, he had rashly promised me a spaghetti dinner some time ago.

Well, the longer I looked, the madder I became. I knew he was dodging me. Finally I remembered his great weakness—that old "Oil of Health." That's Willie's holiday spirit the year around. His Christmas cheer is bonded and taxed.

Accordingly, I laid for him in a public place (no, it wasn't the post office) and as he entered I grabbed him by the throat, determined to end his career, or at least to teach him a lesson.

After I had massaged his windpipe, hanging on like a bat to a rafter, he sank to the floor, limp as an old sock. I expected someone would call a cop, but instead everybody stood up and cheered.

As I looked at Willie in his horizontal position, with his tongue hanging out, I felt sorry. I knelt beside and said: "Willie, speak to me. Are you hurt?"

Opening his eyes he replied: 'No—just dry."

Being a bit upset, and not thinking, I called for a glass of water—and Willie fainted, so I left before anything more developed.

Aside from this episode, I enjoyed my furlough while in the old village. I saw a good many of our friends, but I just barely said hello to Earl Kemp.

I happened to be on Main Street when I spied Earl coming down the street like a "bat out of Tip Tip." I expected to visit, but he merely shook hands and started on. I said "What's the big rush?"

"Been deer hunting," he called back, "and just ran one into the barn up Chicken Hollow. Going to get me a license now." I'd forgotten about it being deer season.

Well, "Flash," take care of yourself and I hope we can get together in the near future and deal with Willie as we see fit. If you could find a mechanical brain in the city, give it to him for Christmas and we might let him live. I expect to give him the sleeves out of my vest along with a nickel handkerchief. He caught a cold and every time he sneezes the vibration in his head sounds like a snare drum.

Civilian Protection Forces To Meet in Wellsville

Firemen Purchase Modern Life-Saving Apparatus

At a special meeting of the Andover Fire Department, held Tuesday evening, a representative of the E & J Manufacturing Company was present and demonstrated the E & J Resuscitator, Inhalator and Aspirator to the members and Dr. S. B. Scott as well as a representative of the Sinclair Refinery of Wellsville.

The demonstration proved most interesting to those present and after the demonstration questions were answered by the representative.

The E & J Resuscitator, Inhalator and Aspirator which was purchased by the department following the demonstration is one of few such life-saving apparatuses in the Southern Tier and the most modern owned by any department in the county.

The three features of the E & J apparatus consist of:

The Resuscitator: To revive asphyxiated persons. The Inhalator: To supply the necessary flow of oxygen to the patient, who, tho able to breathe, is in need of higher concentration of oxygen than is found in atmospheric air. The Aspirator: To operate in conjunction with the resuscitator. The slight negative pressure or suction exerted thru this attachment makes possible the aspiration and removal of mucus or other obstruction from the air passages, lodged deeply in the throat. Before and during resuscitation the air passages must be free from all obstructions to permit oxygen to enter the lungs.

A class is being formed of Andover firemen who will be given instruction in the operation of the apparatus, which will prove of much value to Andover and vicinity residents in the future.

The machine is portable, enabling its operation in any place. The consideration was $400.00.

NEWS EARLY NEXT WEEK

The Andover News will be published on Wednesday next week instead of Thursday. Please co-operate by getting your news items, etc., in the office not later than Tuesday noon.

Classification Cards Must Be Carried At All Times

A recent change of Selective Service Regulations now requires registrants to carry with them at all times their most recent notice of classification, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York State Director has announced.

Ever since the First Registration registrants have been required to have with them at all times the registrataion certificate indicating they have registered with Selective Service. The new requirement does not remove from the registrant the liability of at all times knowing his classification and keeping in touch with his Local Board. It does require the registrant to be at all times provided with evidence of his classification.

General Brown explained the Selective Service System has prepared a new Form 57 (Notice of Classification) which, when it is received by the registrant, if of the size of a post card. The information with regard to classification is confined to an area the same size as the registration certificate. The registrant may cut this portion of the card which will fit an ordinary wallet or card case. The registrant is required to place his signature on the card to prevent use by another person.

The new regulation reads as follows:

Effect of Failure to Have Notice of Classification (Form 57) in personal possession. Every person required to present himself for and submit to registration and who is within any age group of persons who have been liable for training and service for six months under selective service law must have in his personal possession at all times, in addition to his Registration Certificate (Form 2) a valid Notice of Classification (Form 57) issued to him showing his current classification. Upon request, such person must exhibit such Notice of Classification (Form 57) to any law-enforcement officer, any representative of the Secretary of State, any representative of the Secretary of Treasury, any representative of the Attorney General, any official of National Headquarters for Selective Service, any official of a State Headquarters for Selective Service, any member of a local board or board of appeal, any government appeal agent, and any other official designated by the Director of Selective Service, and, upon entering active service in the armed forces, such person must surrender such Notice of Classification (Form 57) to his commanding officer who will dispose of it in accordance with the current orders of his service.

The regulations provide further it shall be unlawful for any person to be in possession of a Notice of Classification issued to another person, or to permit one issued to him to be in the possession of another. Provision is made for the replacement of lost notices.

"Registrants will appreciate, we are certain, that the new regulation has been made for their protection. The protection consists of their ability to give evidence at all times of their current classification. We believe this forward step will have the full cooperation of registrants in this State," General Brown said.
