Have You a Membership Card?

"Junior Red Cross," yes, we've all heard of this, but do we all know what it means? Many people do not know what it is or for what reason the club has been organized.

The Junior Red Cross is a voluntary organization for high school pupil who have free time for it. It's purpose is to aid in social work similar to that performed by the Senior Red Cross.

Boys and girls in high school can join by giving their names to Miss Anderson, who is in charge of it, and who will, in turn, present them with a membership card. There is no fee to pay to become a member. All that is asked of one is that he be willing to give of his time freely for about an average of one period a week, and do what is expected of those who are members of such an organization.

The time and place of the meeting as yet has not been arranged. An announcement of this will be made as soon as plans are completed.

The ACS Chapter of the Red Cross plans to pack Christmas baskets to decorate them, and to send them to several families who would have no Christmas otherwise. REH

Operetta Progresses

The Christmas operetta scheduled for December 18 in Andover Central School's auditorium is progressing in fine style.

"The Madonna's Choice" is the typical Christmas play dressed up in two merry and graceful dances, executed by Geraldine Lynch and Virginia Loring.

The whole plot is centered around Satan trying in vain to tempt the Madonna with gifts of wealth, happiness and beauty.

Thru the patient coaching of Miss Marian Hanneman and Miss Dawn Sequin, the parts have been learned very successfully. VML

Joan Theetge Writes Poem

Miss Joan Theetge, who has recently moved to Andover from Delaware, has written a poem about Europe as she sees it.

Europe today, I understand, is not a pleasant place,
The people clothes are rags and baks, not satins, silks and lace.
To die from hunger over there is quite a common thing,
And that is an example of what this way may bring.

Joan Theetge, Grade 7.

With Needle and Spoon

The girls of the Homemaking A and Home Economics seven classes are making and wrapping Christmas cookies in gaily designed boxes to take home. These cookies are displayed down in the show case in the lower hall near the office. The girls of the 9th grade Homemaking Class have been making cookies in the shapes of shields, guns, battleships and bombs. They are decorating them with colored frosting to hang them on the Christmas tree.

The girls of the 7th and 8th grades are making figures out of gumdrops to put under the Christmas tree in a snow scene.

Elementary Grades "All Out" For Christmas

From the observations of the reporters it was found out that all the elementary grades are "all out" for Christmas.

A very clever bulletin board was found in Mrs. Allen's first grade. On another board a picture of Santa, his sleigh and reindeer were found.

In Miss Gottleib's third and fourth grade was found a table adorned with Christmas presents for the parents. Miss Clark's second grade is also finishing Christmas presents.

Miss Sequin's room is busy making stockings for their fire place which they have recently made. They have also a new pupil, Avery Sly.

The fourth grade room of Miss Perkins is the scene of many and fascinating Christmas decorations. Marie Gilbert, a pupil in that grade has gone to Elmira. Jack Wheaton who was injured is absent from school.

Miss Rectenwald's kindergarten is a center of activities for the holiday season. On their side board they have painted a huge picture of Santa Claus riding over a village. They, too, have a new pupil, Louise Miller.

Miss Jordan's fifth grade didn't have any news because they haven't started their Christmas program yet.

Mrs. Schwarzenbach's sixth grade has a very attractive manger scene and bulletin board. They will have a Christmas party in English class soon, with Mary Ellen Driscoll as the announcer. They also drew names for Christmas presents today.

Miss Jaekle's seventh grade welcomes back two former pupils Joan Theetge, who attended Seaford Delaware School and Celia Peters, who formerly attended Bath school.

Mrs. McKibben's eighth grade has been too busy finishing old business to start any new, but they will plan for a Christmas party as soon as possible. VML-BD

Gitta Sereny Reviews European Situation

"What are you going to do about it?" asked Miss Gitta Sereny, talented Hungarian actress and speaker, as she bid farewell to an extremely quiet and deeply impressed audience after the most dramatic and interesting assembly program to which the Andover Central School students had even listened.

Miss Sereny spoke "From Darkest Europe" in a Straight-from-the-shoulder" fashion. She held the audience spellbound while she told interesting accounts about her life in Europe. In her talk she tried to make us realize how thankful we should be to live in a country like the United States.

"Hitler," she says, "is no coward, he is just an evil-genius." Miss Sereny was asked to go to Germany in 1938 to play the lead in a show because she could speak good English. She was invited to lunch one day by a friend of Hitler. This young man "talked and talked and talked and said nothing."

In Germany is a group of young boys between the ages of ten and eighteen who know how to shoot and drive tanks. If Hitler needs an army he could get these young boys together and have a very well trained and well equipped force in one day. 100,000 boys between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one form the Death Troops and when Hitler invaded Austria, August 11, 1938, the boys of the Death Troops marched in and took control of the large cities. These young men persecute the wives of the high Austrian officials. By doing this Hitler hopes to make the enslaved people lose their "human dignity."

Miss Sereny came to America one year, two weeks ago to-day to be with her mother. She is engaged to a Captain in the British Army in Africa.

After hearing about the conditions in Europe, we should consider Miss Sereny's question, "What are you going to do about it?"

Are Girls Interested In Sports

"What's the matter coach? Why can't we have organized contests and champions in basketball, table tennis, archery or volley ball like other schools do?" These questions heard by coach Ingerson throughout the year.

Then they organize such a contest — a ping pong tournament. Do the girls hurry to sign up for the tournament? Do those girls who don't know the game very well, go to the corrective exercise room, where the ping pong tables are kept and learn to play? No! Practically no one signs up for the tournament. Of course, this fine cooperation makes Coach anxious to organize other tournaments and become greatly interested in what the girls physical education classes are doing. He feels like smiling and patting on the back the next girl who comes to him and asks him to help organize some basketball games between the different classes. What would you do in his place?

What's the matter with girls of A. C. S.? Certainly we are just as interested in sports as most of the boys. Our attendance at basketball games proves that. The Girls Intramural Council is considering an idea of two A. C. S. champion basketball games and an exhibition game. Do you think they are going to continue this plan if they see how we enter into this tournament? Are we going to always sit back and listen to the boys talk of their part in sports or are we going to enter into things and have something to talk about for ourselves? Come on, girls, let's see one hundred per cent of the high school girls sign their names by Monday as contestants in this tournament.

Christmas, 1942, Is A Solemn Occasion

The spirit of a war-time Christmas pervades the genuinely thoughtful and sincere composition which has been written by the boys' sports editor of the Hi Herald, as a part of his work in the English III class. One might say that this serious piece of work illustrates that Miles Gorsuch is not only gifted as a sports' writer, but he seems to have hidden talents in other fields of journalism, as well.

"MY FAVORITE HOLIDAY"

My favorite holiday, as far back as I can remember, has been Christmas. Christmas is rated as nearly everyone's favorite holiday, probably because it is the time of feasts, merriment, thanksgiving, gifts, and everything else that makes Christmas what it is; a time when everyone can forget his troubles permanently, have fun, and even forgive his worst enemies.

I don't like Christmas best because of the gifts, Santa Claus, and my favorite vacation — that's only a small part of the reason why it is my favorite holiday. The real reason why I love Christmas is the joys of small children, their beliefs in Santa Claus and the spirit, thanks, and the open-heartedness of everyone. It is a time when a person can be thankful that he is living to appreciate his favorite holiday and the blessings and joys included in it.

To-day, as never before, we should be thankful we are a free country at Christmas time. Our boys are fighting on every front, boys we have known as fathers, brothers, husbands, and, more than ever, friends, friends that we have always known and will never forget. We should appreciate this Christmas more than ever before, think of our boys over there and wait until after the waar to have our real "Merry Christmas." Let us reserve this one for thanks for everything we have.

I love Christmas, then, for everything, but more than all, for the things that most people forget during their merriment and should remember more than anything, namely, the smaller things that mean the most.

Why Are You On The Cub Staff?

There are many factors which are taken into consideration when making up the cub and varsity staffs for the Hi Herald. Among those people placed on the cub staff are several who have ability and talent, but whose articles have been late, or carelessly written. Lack of information, lateness, poorly written articles, and lack of neatness, all contribute to the demerit of articles. On which staff you are placed, depends on these factors and on attendance at meetings.

Prepare Now for V-I-C-T-O-R-Y AFTER VICTORY

The problem of changing from war work, after World War I, to peacetime production, plunged us into a long and grim depression.

Rural America felt this depression five years ahead of industry and business. We tried to warn labor and capital but they would not believe the warning and insisted the rainbow and the pot of gold at the end would last forever.

Finally, the bubble broke and the storm came. We had 12 million unemployed, the domestic market for farm production was gone, and even the smaller export market survived only when we loaned Europe the money to buy our products. Farm income was reduced, mortgages increased and many farmers lost their farms while industry, big and little, was at its wits' end to survive.

To Prevent a Worse Depression.

Our problem is to prevent even a worse depression at the end of this war. Every industry, big and little, has been retooled to produce airplanes, tanks, cannon and weapons of war. Millions and millions of dollars have been spent for this purpose.

When this war is ended it will take the same millions of dollars to turn these industries back to peace-time production.

Lessons of World War I.

We learned after World War I that our country cannot prosper unless agriculture prospers. We know now that our country cannot prosper unless agriculture, business and industry, and labor are all prosperous. Whatever our personal feeling may be, the fact remains that all of these groups taken together make up our domestic market which consumes over 90 per cent of our total production.

Labor can purchase its maximum of farm products if each worker has a permanent job at good wages. The employer can pay good wages if he has something useful to manufacture and some one has the desire and the money to buy it. Jobs at good wages depend upon an employer who is making the money necessary to pay the wages.

Farm Prices Reflect Good Business.

This makes it plain that with employers and business busy in useful undertakings, with all workers employed at good wages, farm prices will be good and consumption at its maximum.

The key to the situation is that employers shall have the cash money at hand to change from war manufacture to peace-time activity with the least possible delay when this war ends.

Our United States Senate is searching for a plan that will produce maximum revenue to the government to insure victory; provide a fund at the end of the war big enough and quickly enough to convert business and industry from war work to peacetime necessity, but without the government having to borrow and lend the money for this purpose after the war is over.

Here Is a Simple, Practical Plan.

For the solution of all these problems there is one simple plan of outstanding practical value, based on the idea that war profits from all companies, big and little, should be used for this purpose.

The tax rate on war profits is figured at about 90 per cent. Business and industry, big and little, would be permitted, however, to deduct from their taxable war profits 20 per cent of such profits, provided the deduction is used to purchase United States Recovery bonds.

Recovery bonds would be a special kind of bond for this purpose only. Recovery bonds could not be sold or borrowed upon during the war, and neither would they pay any interest. They must be held by the purchaser until the end of the war.

The day the war is over these bonds would automatically start to bear interest, could be bought and sold, and become the same as any other government bond. The purchaser could sell them or borrow upon them to obtain the money to change his business and plant from war production to peace-time production when and as he needed money to do this job.

Profits for Peace-Time Recovery.

In other words, business, big or little, would be required to contribute 20 per cent of its own war profits to provide the money to change its own plants back to peacetime production.

The fairness and equity of such a plan is perfectly plain. Each company, by using 20 per cent of its own war profits to buy Recovery bonds, builds its own backlog to bridge from war production to normal peace-time activities. Big companies and small companies will buy in proportion to their size and needs until the war is over. In the meantime, our government receives the maximum in revenue to produce for victory, and we, the people, have established security against the worst depression of all time.

With such a plan adopted and in operation, we can all give our maximum to the war effort, secure in the fact that when the war is over we can quickly and safely go back to the paths of peace. The necessity for such a plan is so apparent, the evils of depression so grim and widespread that we, the people, can well afford to take time out to support our senators and congressmen in this effort to bypass another depression.

TO ROUSE FLOW OF LIVER BILE

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts tonight. Half an hour before breakfast, take as much as will lie on a dime in a glass of water (hot or cold) or in your morning cup of tea or coffee and keep this up for 30 days. Kruschen taken this way helps relieve such symptoms as sick headache, bowel sluggishness and so-called bilious indigestion when due to insufficient flow of bile from the gall-bladder. You can get Kruschen, a famous English formula made in the U. S. A., at any drug store. You must be satisfied or money back.
