ATTENTION! ALL HOME CANNERS!

Before you begin your 1944 canning, Good Housekeeping Magazine advises you: use the boiling-water bath method for tomatoes and fruits, only. Can all vegetables except tomatoes by the correct use of a pressure cooker to be sure of killing botulinus germs. In the last few years, cases of botulinus food poisoning have cropped up in widely different parts of the country. Buy, borrow, share a pressure cooker—but don't can low-acid vegetables any other way. If you want further information, write Good Housekeeping Magazine, 959 Eighth Avenue, New York 19, N. Y.

Buy Bonds—and more Bonds.

Cool in heavy clothes at 92 degrees, these bronzed young Mexicans do a fine job on the pneumatic tie tamping guns.

Seven hundred Mexican volunteer laborers are working in track gangs on the Erie main line between Ashland, Ohio, and Elmira, N. Y., helping to keep the tracks in good condition for the continuing handling of war-time movements. They were imported in May on a six-month war emergency contract at a very opportune moment to offset the acute labor shortage in the maintenance of way department where track work is limited to a comparatively short working period because of weather conditions.

These dark skinned natives, bronzed by years of sun acquired in their native lands 6,800 feet high on a plateau near San Luis Potosi, are very good workers in their new environment. After proper instructions on the handling of raliroad tools they quickly learned the knack of tie tamping, laying rails, reballasting and other track jobs. They thrive in the hot weather, some even wearing flannel shirts and sometimes sweaters in addition to their heavy sombrero hats without perspiring.

"Our Mexican workers are very adaptable to these tough new jobs," said P. F. Nichols, division engineer at Youngstown, after observing them in and around Leavittsburg, Sterling and Kent, and getting favorable reports from gang foremen. "Their teamwork on the tie tamping guns is very effective after careful training, and their ability to learn is encouraging." They seem happy at work and they never fail to wave their big hats and smile at the engine crew and passengers on passing trains.

Most of the men are married, some quite young, and have children back home in the hills for whom they admit homesickness. Off duty in the railroad camps they go into a huddle writing letters and cards to the folks at home.

These workers are part of the pool of 90,000 Mexican volunteers who came to this country to aid the railroads and farmers, and to help themselves by hastening the defeat of the Axis powers. They came here under the good offices of the Mexican government which maintains close contact with them, and was made possible thru the cooperation of the War Man Power Commission in Washington.

The Erie Railroad tapped this pool for 700 men, and among them are farmers, teachers, college professors (who act as interpreters), tradesmen, clerks, policemen, stone masons, and some musicians.

Negotiations for the workers assigned to the Erie was conducted in Washington by I. H. Schram, chief engineer, Maintenance of Way, of Cleveland, Ohio. The WMC delegated the Railroad Retirement Board, with headquarters in Chicago, as their representatives in the United States and Mexico to select and allot groups of men to the labor shortage area, and thru the cooperation of the Board and the Erie management the necessary agreements and transportation problems were settled.

Bringing the men to this territory required the operation of special trains with well-stocked diners from El Paso and Laredo to pick up the men brought to these points by the Mexican National Railroad. They were in charge of P. F. Arroyo, general agent, Passenger Department, Jersey City; P. F. Nichols and J. M. Collins, assistant superintendent dining cars, who helped them thru the formalities of passports, repatriation cards, photographs, finger printing, etc.

Farm Field Day Program Will Interest All

Belmont, N. Y.—A "Guesstimating" contest for young and old and a complete program for farm wives on the preparation of foods are features of the program planned for the Farm Family Field Day at Alfred, August, 3rd.

The "Guesstimating" Contest will involve the guessing and estimating of many items with which farm people work. Examples are "How many acres in a particular field" and "How long is a specified rope?" Both young people and farm men and women will want to try their skill in this contest. Appropriate prizes for the winners have been provided.

Packaging of vegetables, fruits and chicken for home freezers and freezer lockers will be the primary demonstrations of interest to farm wives. Since farm wives are responsible for the poultry on most farms, they will be interested in the entire poultry demonstration and exhibit program. One feature will be a demonstration of the trussing of a chicken and the cutting of one for fricassee.

Other items planned to attract the ladies will be exhibits of flower arrangements for tables, opportunity to obtain help on the care of house plants, and observation of commercial ice cream making processes.

These and other programs for the ladies and the young people will be going on throughout the day while the men are busy with demonstrations and exhibits of all kinds of particular interest to them.

Super Salesman

A tourist stopped in front of a little country store, dumbfounded at the sight of an enormous display of salt piled on the premises. Stack after stack, inside the store and out. "Ye Gods man, you must sell a lot of salt," exclaimed the tourist.

"No, I don't sell much," replied the storekeeper, "but you shoulda seen the guy that came here last week. He really could sell salt."

24-Year Record Broken By June Milk Price of $3.12

New York, N. Y., June 18.—The New York milk pool today broke a 24-year record with the announcement from Dr. C. J. Blanford, administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, that the uniform price to dairy farmers for June deliveries to the metropolitan milkshed is $3.12 a hundredweight. The highest recorded price for June milk until today was the average rate of $3.10 in 1919.

The New York pool price, however, will be augmented by dairy feed payments from the War Food Administration which will raise the total return per hundredweight to a minimum of $3.57 in the milkshed. Feed payments are collectible at 45 or 55 cents a hundredweight according to the state in which dairy farmers live.

Farm income from the current pool, including butterfat and location payments will amount to $20,849,126.64, but the WFA payments, figured at the lower rate, will boost the total returns to the record amount of $23,788,472.52.

Pointing out that the actual price is two cents less than the estimated rate of $3.14, Dr. Blanford explained that the lesser figure was the result of three distinct factors. Production, rising to the peak of 423 pounds per day per farm, exceeded expectations, while fluid consumption failed to measure up to the quotas which were the basis of the projected use.
