Farm Bureau Plans Breeders' School

How to develop a herd improvement program based on the newer scientific methods of breeding will be demonstrated at the Allegany county dairy breeding school scheduled for February 5 and 6 at the Caneadea Grange hall. Graydon Brandt of the New York State College of Agriculture will conduct the school.

All dairy cattle breeders have at one time or another some surplus animals to sell. Today, buyers are gradually changing their methods of selecting dairy animals. What has brought about this change and how to breed the kind of animals the buyers will want to purchase will be discussed at this school.

The breeding school will run for two days with a morning and an afternoon session each day. The sessions will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and close promptly at 3 o'clock. All dairymen interested in efficient milk production and increased farm income will want to attend all of these sessions.

The Allegany County Agricultural Society re-elected the following officers at the annual meeting held Friday evening, January 18th:

President, Bruce Chaffee; vice-president, Myron Morton; secretary, L. L. Stillwell; treasurer, Clair M. Evans; general superintendent, Myron Morton; supt. of grounds, Charles Seely; assistant supt., James Young, Sr. William Breneka and F. L. Casterline were re-elected directors to succeed themselves for three years.

The dates for the 1946 fair were set for August 28, 29, 30 and 31.

INEVITABLE QUESTION

A farmer visited his son's college. Watching students in a chemistry class, he was told they were looking for a universal solvent.

"What's that?" asked the farmer.

"A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a good idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

"Eliza, this makes the third time this morning that I have told you to put your hand over your mouth when you yawn."

"Yassum, missus, ah heard yo', but de last time Ah tried to hold mah han' ovah mah mouth, I jus' naturally bit myself."

Professor: "I forgot my umbrella this morning."

Wife: "How did you remember you forgot it?"

Professor: 'Well, I missed it when I raised my hand to close it after it had stopped raining."
