Farm & Home Special To Visit County

Cornell University's "Farm and Home Special," a demonstration train carrying the latest developments in research to farmers and homemakers of the State will be in Allegany county on Tuesday, April 16, according to word received by C. R. Harrington, county agricultural agent.

The train will stop at Belmont on the John Street siding and be available for inspection in the morning between the hours of 9 and 11:30. It will be in Hornell on the Buffalo Street siding between 2 and 5 o'clock on the afternoon of April 16th.

This is the first time in about a quarter century that such a demonstration train is being sponsored by the State Colleges at Cornell in co-operation with the Erie Railroad, and is a partial answer to the cancellation of the annual Farm and Home Week at Cornell.

According to County Agent Harrington, many features will be presented on the "Farm and Home Special." These include the latest on farm building ventilation, DDT, automatic watering, home vegetable storing, new varieties of potatoes and other vegetables—in short, a train of eight cars full of research developments.

Cornell specialists will accompany the train, meet the visitors and explain the exhibits in the hope that many of the new things will be widely adopted by farmers and homemakers of the state.
