Another Record Cow In Clarke Herd

Brattleboro, Vt., April 8.—A registered Holstein-Friesian cow in the dairy herd owned by Carl V. Clarke, Andover, has recently completed a 313-day production record of 587 pounds of butterfat and 16,858 pounds of milk, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces. This is more than three times the production of the average dairy cow in this nation.

Her official name is Hillview Ann 2132325. She was milked two times daily and was five years eight months of age when she began her test period. Her sire is Yankee Cascade Veeman 758216.

Testing was supervised by Cornell University in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

WANDERING WITH WILLIE

THE following from a GI Joe describes many of the fellows now back from service:

"The Army says I can't wear a uniform after I arrived home because I'll be impersonating a soldier.

"The stores say I can't buy a suit of clothes because they haven't my size.

"The police say I can't go on the streets naked because it's against the law.

"I would gladly stay off the streets, but I can't find a house to live in and with the shortage of lumber, I can't buy a barrel.

"And having been wounded, the Army won't take me back because I'm not physically fit."

YOU know last year it was almost dangerous to go walking in this burg because "Bus" Childs was so doggone busy with his little tractor going from garden to garden. But this year it's twice as bad because S. George Sackett done got him one too and between them they claim they are going to turn this village over and we don't mean to the Indians. It was rumored that last week Childs tried to borrow the Sackett job so as to save the wear and tear on his own, but no soap.

GETTING in contact with the moon by radar is all very interesting, but what we would like to know is what it takes to get in touch with some sugar and butter.

THERE'S "something about a minstrel that is fine, fine, fine," as the soldier saying goes, and if the way the boys are pushing it along up at the school is any indication of the final outcome, we anticipate seeing one of the best minstrel shows this year that has hit Andover in a good while.
