Fruit Crops Nearly Average In New York State

Albany, Sept. 16. — Apples now being gathered in New York, promise 14,040,000 bushels in contrast to the 2,160,000 in 1945, a season of many complete orchard failures, according to a Federal-State report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Somewhat similar relationships prevail throughout the Eastern and Central States. In the Mountain and Pacific States, of which Washington, California and Oregon are most important, production is slightly in excess of the 10-year average. The national crop in commerciaal areas of 35 states is placed at 116,697,000 bushels, 72 per cent in excess of the record low production of 1945, six per cent under the 1944 crop and four per cent below the 10-year average. As usual, New York is second in apple production, being exceeded by Washington.

Peaches have developed well in New York, with harvest of the early varieties completed and the main Elbertas well started. A total of 2,024,000 bushels is indicated, compared with 1,660,000 a year ago, 1,824,000 in 1944 and the 10-year average, including some very poor crops, of 1,431,000 bushels. Generally excellent peach crops have been the rule throughout most peach growing regions.

An excellent grape crop also is in prospect with a forecast of 61,600 tons in New York, nearly twice as much as the light crop in 1945, slightly more than the 1944 crop and 5 per cent above average. Early varieties are being picked. The main Concord harvest will be important in late September. Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan grapes also exceed last season, and together amount to 66,700 tons compared with 25,900 last year, 77,900 in 1944 and 78,800 the 10-year average. The California grape crop, nearly equal to 1945 and substantially above average, is estimated at 2,606,000 tons of which 1,488,000 tons are of raisin varieties, 529,000 tons of table varieties and 589,000 tons of wine varieties. The aggregate national crop of 2,816,800 tons of grapes is slightly in excess of 1945 and 1944 and 10 per cent above the 10-year average.

Though more than double the light New York pear crop of 1945, the 656,000 bushels in 1946 are little more than half the 1944 crop and less than two-thirds the 10-year average. In the far West, the major producing region, excellent production lifts the national total to 34,133,000 bushels, slightly above 1945, about 7 per cent more than in 1944 and 18 per cent above the 1935-44 average.

Bean Crop More Abundant But Under Average

The expected total of 1,144,000 bags of dry beans in New York in 1945 exceeds the very short crop of 679,000 bags last season; the 10-year average is 1,184,000 bags; (bags of 100 pounds, uncleaned basis). The final out-turn will depend largely on weather reasonably favorable for ripening of the late planted fields and harvesting the crop. The national 1946 crop of 14,741,000 bags, though exceeding the 13,578,000 bags of 1945 is substantially under the 10-year (1935-44) average of 16,408,000 bags.

Early indications are that the Red Kidney variety in New York will total 832,000 bags, compared with 458,000 a year ago and 528,000, the 10-year average.

Do not use a copper kettle to heat acid pickling liquids. Unless the copper is bright and shiny, the acid will react with the tarnish on the metal and form poisonous salts.

Always Keep To The Right

Delores Snyder

Many people say keep to the right. Do you know why we should do this? To stop confusion, to avoid accidents in the school halls or on the streets.

Many people just plow through the halls or along the streets as though they were the only human beings in the world that were walking or traveling along these thoroughbares. Take Mr. A. for instance. He always drove his car on the left side of the road or in the middle. Is it any wonder that there was an article in the paper that Mr. A. had been admitted to the hospital with a fractured skull? If he had known anything of traffic rules this wouldn't have happened. Then there was the case of the high school boy who thought the halls was the football field and he was trying to get past all obstacles to make a touchdown. He hasn't landed in a hospital yet but he might if he knocks down the wrong person one of these days.

Always remember if you want to live a longer and happier life obey all the laws of safety, especially "Keep to the Right" in all kinds of traffic.
