Farm Bureau Membership Expected to Reach 80,000

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Farm Bureau membership in New York State has reached an all-time peak of 79,712 and probably will exceed 80,000 by the end of the year, Warren W. Hawley of Batavia, president of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation, said today, announcing that 1947 membership drives have started in many counties and will get underway soon in others.

"This state's total," Hawley declared, "is surpassed only by Illinois and Iowa, and numerous New York counties already have reached their quotas in the American Farm Bureau Federation campaign for 1,500,000 members by 1950. AFBF membership now is slightly over 1,000,000."

War Supplies Available to Farmers

Farmers in this region who certify, through the Department of Agriculture, that their production is impaired by a shortage of farm equipment and supplies will be given assistance to obtain available property from government supplies, Frank L. Seymour, Regional Director of the War Assets Administration, announces.

Seymour anounced that special personnel in the New York regional office, and in each of the district offices serving rural areas, handle agricultural problems in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture and major farm organizations and ordered each office to expedite action on such certificates of impairment issued from the Department of Agriculture.
