Baker Barn Burns At Alfred Saturday

Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the two barns on the Gerald Baker farm on Jericho Hill, Alfred, last Saturday afternoon, while Mr. Baker was out hunting and his wife was in Olean.

The fire was discovered by hunters who telephoned Alfred, but before the firemen could make the two mile run from Alfred the buildings were doomed. However, the home, which had been rebuilt since fire leveled it two years ago was saved.

Lost in the blaze were the year's harvest of crops, a new tractor, four calves and much farm equipment.

Enjoy the full-flavored goodness of produce that is fresh as the break of day. As far as possible, we buy from nearby farms . . . rush the produce to our market . . . and put it on sale the very day it arrives. Housewives who appreciate really fresh vegetables supplement their menus with the bountiful variety of vegetables we offer daily at the low prices that make home meals more economical.
