Will Germany's Emperor Stand the Strain?

Methodical Methods and a Superior Memory-No Hope of Reconcillation With Bismarck -Congress of Social Democrats.

(Copyright by the United Press.)

Berlin, Oct. 2.—Emperor William's deer-stalking expedition in Sweden has been his orty-g-nutue holiday for many weeks. From his arrival at Gothenburg weeks. From his arrival at Gothenburg Thursday until be boarded the Hobenzol-lern again at Karlskrona on Saturday no official dispatches were sent or received by him. Even this brief respite from state cares afforded him more complete rest than he has taken before. The concens of opinion among the officials around him is that he overexerts his body and brain and will not long bear up under the strain. He does not sleep sufficiently at night, begins work in the early morning, and proceeds with feverish unrest throughout the day. Dr. Lucanus, chief of his private cabinet, finds it a trying task to keep up with the activity of his imperial master, who openly chaffs him if business be not pushed ahead rapidly enough. Inlan interview with the United Press correspondent, Lucanus expressed great admiration of the emperor's capacity for incessant work. The emperor worked methodically, Lucanus said, and was aided by a fine memory. It was never necessary for him to write his speeches beforehand. He had always a skeleton of the subjects to be is that he overexerts his body and brain and ays a skeleton of the subjects to be uched and filled in the blanks as he made touched and meet in the simans as a demands in address. After speaking he, dictared to the chief of his cabinet the whole speech usually without the slightest change, as he remembered the slightest turn of a phrase. It was a rare occurrence for him to hesitate even in recalling a word or santance.

The newspaper discussion of the emper-The newspaper discussion of the emper-or's relations to Bismarck does not abate, although the public have been distillusioned as to the probability of their becoming friends. Official opinion, as explained in last week's letter, never shared the popular illusion. Reports are still rife as to ex-changes of messages between the emperor, Bismarck and the Empress Frederick, as to mediation through Count William Bis-marck, and as to the empror's planning to mediation through Count William Bis-marck, and as to the emperors planning a visit in Friedricheruh. The truth is there is no present plan of reconciliation. Neither the emperor nor Bismarck ever intended a reconciliation to be acheived to any way except by the others complete submission. With the growing strength of the prince the Bismarckian newspapers are increasing the offensiveness of their criticisms of the government. The congress of social democrats will be opened on October 22d. The delegates and Iron.

New Yons, Oct. 2.—A new solution of the silver question has been offered by Thomas A. Edison. In an interview he said: "The hankering after gold and silver is largely traditional. People allow themselves to be governed by the old ideas on the rubjety of coinage formulated at a time when national credits did not exist and currency would only be taken at an and currency would only be taken at an intrinsic value. What we need is a new standard of value. I think that the best dollar could be made out of compressed wheat. You take a bushel of wheat and squeeze the water out of it and then compress it into a hard cake the size of a silver dollar and stamp the government mark upon it. That would represent actual value and labor performed, and then you could got your oldar, for when could eat your dollar, for when could eat your dollar, for when you wanted to use the wheat all that would be necessary would be to put your money to soak. We should then have the bushel of wheat as a permanent unit of value, which all farmers would appreciate, and the currency of the country would represent actual worth and labor performed. Both gold and silver could then be dispensed with and the present himstallic mobilem solved. Our could then be dispensed with and oppresent bi-metallic problem solved. Our currency, moreover, would be as good as gold or silver in foreign exchange, for our wheat goes to all countries of the world, the solution of the solution age," continued all. Edison, "I am sur-

"In all this talk about metal for coinage," continued Mr. Edison, "I am surprised that no face has auggested iron, iron is the most precious metal. Mankind has no use for either gold or silver, iron could not be unspensed with. If the people would only give up this foolish, traditional, hereitary haukering for gold and silver, those metals would not be worth the price of old lead and would be kicked aside by civilization. The human race on the other hand cannot dispense with iron, iron must be produced to keep pace with consumption or its price will steadily rise. The demand for iron is steady and will hever cease. Therefore, why not issue The demand for iron is steady and will never cease. Therefore, why not issue treasury certificates on iron? This is the greatest iron producing country in the world and our output amounts annually to more toan the output of gold and silver. Instead of loading up the treasury with these useless metals, and, as people would want bills of large denomination to accompany the wheat dollar, why not buy iron or steel instead, and issue treasury certificates upon that."

A Matter of Mealth.

Housekeepers faintly realize the danger of an indiscriminate use of the numerous baking powders nowadays found upon every hand, and which are urged upon consumers with such perfound upon every mand, and which such per-sistency by peddlers and many grocers on account of the big profits made in their sale. Most of these powders are their sale. Most of these powders are made from sharp and caustic acids and alkalies which burn and influnc the alimentary organs and cause indigestion, heartburn, diarrhead discass, etc. Sulphuric acid, caustic potash, burnt alum, all are used as gas-producing agents in such baking powders. Most housekeepers are aware of the painful offects produced when those chemicals are applied to the external flesh. How much more acute must be their action upon the delicate-internal their sotion upon the delicate internal membranes! Yet unscrupulous manufacturers do not hesitate to use them, ufacturers do not hesitate to use them, because they make a very low-cost powder, nor to urge the use of their powders so made, by all kinds of alluring advertisements and false representations. All the low priced or so-called cheap baking powders, and all powders sold with a gift or prize, belong to this class.

Baking powders made from chemically pure cream of tartar and bi-carbonate of soda are among the nost useful of modern culinary devices. useful of modern cuming devices.
They not only make the prepuration of finer and more delicious cookery possible, but they have added to the digestibility and wholesomeness of our food. But baking powders must be the design of the state of the delicious constitutions and the state of the st our food. But baking powders muss be composed of such pure and whole-some ingredients or they must be taboode entirely.

Dr. Edsen, Commissioner of Health of New York, in an article in the "Doctor of Hygiene," indicates that the advantages of a good baking powder and the exemption from the damage of the purple of the barth. der and the exemption from the dan-gers of bad ones in which the harsh and caustic chemicals are used, are to and caustic chemicals are used, are to be secured by the use of Royal Baking Powder exclusively, and he recommends this to all consumers. "The Royal," he says, "contains nothing but cream of tatar and soda refined to a chemical purity, which when combined under the influence of when combined under the influence of heat and moisture produce pure car-bonic, or leavening, gas. The two materials used, cream of tartar and soda, are perfectly harmless even when eaten, but in this preparation they are eaten, but in this preparation they are combined in exact compensating weights, so that when chemical action begins between them in the dought they practically disappear, the substance of both having been taken to form carbonic-acid gas." Hence it is, he says, that the Royal Baking Powder is the most perfect of all concaivable agents for leavening purposes. It seems almost incredible that any manufacturer or dealer should urge the sale of baking powders containing injurious chemicals in place of those of a well-known, pure and wholesome character simply for the sake of a few cents a pound greater profit; but since

"All right, sir," said the waiter, as if requests for the common house fly were the most natural thing in the world. Then it was that the young man's eyes bulged nervously. After considerable exercise of both leg and fist agility the waiter caught a fly and brought it very carefully to Professor Hermann. The optics of the nervous young man literally glared with expectation. Placing the fly on the table the Professor, in a most tender manner, lifted a delicate little green lizard from the lapelof his cout, corraled it in front of the fly with a tiny stake of gold, and then you should have seen that lizard jump. The fly disappeared ar quickly as a bit of Hermann palmistry and the eyes of the lizard blinked. The young man's face had in the interim assumed an expression almost human, and Professor Hermann pordered his own breakfast.—[New York Recorder.
