Seniors Deem Dance a Success

The Senior dance, which was held in the gym on Friday night, April 11, was a success, both financially and entertainingly. The "Cornhuskers" music was just right for both the "rounds" and "squares."

Tickets were sold both in advance and at the door and this venture put $33.00 into the Senior treasury.

During intermission sandwiches, coffee, milk and ice cream were served in the cafeteria. Ten dollars and seventy-eight cents was pocketed by the Seniors on the lunch.

Despite the fact that everyone was tired by 1 o'clock, it is the general opinion that all had "a good time."

Mrs. Laura Hall's first grade proudly reports perfect attendance following a well earned Easter vacation.

Mrs. Martha Robison's kindergarten regrets the loss of a pupil, Merle Greenman, who has moved to Wellsville. Judith Baker is absent with a broken arm, resulting from a fall.

—Miss Mary Gaus didn't have any news to report but we noticed she is wearing a very beautiful diamond.

Carolyn Helmer's third and fourth grades have both lost a pupil since Frank and Burt Greenman have moved to Wellsville. Merle Sherman and Patricia Padden are absent.

Miss Ruth Baker's fourth grade has started new arithmetic and spelling contests. The leaders of the arithmetic contest are Janet Lang and Ray Halsey. David Conde's side won the contest recently completed. The leaders of the spelling contest are Janice Fulton and Edward Harkenrider with Mike Smith's side holding top honors for the contest just completed.

Miss Ruby Jordan's fifth grade has conducted a contest for perfect papers in arithmetic. Top honors for the class went to Mary Ann Joyce, who had 14 perfect papers, with Ann Wood following with nine perfect papers. The team led by Ann Marie Joyce won over that led by James Grossman 43 to 41.

Miss Doris Church's fifth grade had three visitors for their Easter party. They were Lyle Nye, Hugh Church and Linda Marvel. Mrs. Nye furnished cookies for their party. The Tigers are ahead in the spelling contest by 19 points.

Mrs. Harriet Schwarzenbach's sixth grade people who attended the Shrine circus in Buffalo, Wilda Mascho, Kent Harder and Richard Fulton, reported a very good time and have started their essays on what they saw. RMB

Freshman Frolics

Joyce Linza really looked slick Monday morning, must be she got to ged early Sunday night! How about it, Joyce?

We didn't see Eadie Dunham dancing much Friday night. What's the matter, can't he dance, Eadie?

We have two definitely steady romances blooming in our class. Could it be Betty Smith, Duane Hackett and Aquinas Lynch, Don Scott.

Teresa Padden has focused her attention on Teddy O'Dell.

We see Thelma Perry has a sty on her eye. What have you been doing, Thelma?

Exchange Club Awards Poster Prizes

Last night, April 16, the Exchange Club awarded the prizes for the Poster Contest, which they conducted among students, for publicity for their annual minstrel show held April 16-17. A first prize of $5.00 was awarded to Patricia Ludden, with Dolores Ellis receiving $4.00 for second price and John Bridge, $3.00 for third prize. Seniors Serve Supper

On Thursday evening, April 10, the Senior Class sponsored a dinner for the members of various Boy Scout committees from the surrounding communities. Although it involved quite a bit of hard work it netted the Seniors $22.00 in profit.

A delicious dinner consisting mainly of baked ham, creamed potatoes, beets, cookies, and ice cream, was served to 65. Those who served as waitresses were Doris Wintemberg, Pat Ludden, "Essie" Temple, Jean Stevens, Audrey Baker and Patti Fulton. They were ably assisted by "Jim" Smith and "Jim" and "Rich" Kessler.

Although it seemed as if those dishes would be forever waiting to be washed, the supper was a success and the Seniors had fun, too.

Forever Ambush

The souvenirs certainly were plentiful at Memorial auditorium. Almost everyone bought something to remember the good time we all had.

We hear that some of the kids really got a face full of water while they were at the zoo. You shouldn't stand so close when the monkeys are drinking water.

Teddy O'Dell and Lawrence Hoyt really had a good time coming home from the circus, didn't they?

Jo Ann Marsh, was that Vic Daley you sat with part of the way home?

Thelma Perry and Maxine Filler were "good girls" for once.

Don Mulconery and Doris Wintemberg sure liked the back seat of Bus 1. Wonder why? MF

Roving Reporter

Last Tuesday, April 8th many of our high school students attended the Shrine Circus in Buffalo, and when asked the question "What did you like most about the circus?" replied in the following statements:

Dolores Snyder, a member of the Junior class replied: "I think I liked the tight-rope walker the best. He pretended to be a drunken sailor and would weave back and forth on the rope, pretending to fall, keeping you in suspense every minute."

Lawrence Hoyt, also a Junior, stated that he liked the trapeze acts and the animal trainers the most.

Doris VanCuren, a Senior, said "I liked most the act where the lions and tigers did their tricks while all in one cage."

Donny Mulconery, a popular Freshman replied: "I liked everything but especially the female trapeze artist."

Rebecca Foster, a Senior, stated: "I especially liked the woman being shot from a cannon, also the trained lions."

Joan Woodruff, a Sophomore, replied briefly: "I liked the seals the best."

Phyllis Mascho, a Junior, said: "The trapeze performers were especially interesting."

Teddy O'Dell responded in a roguish phrase, "The women."

All students who attended the circus expressed their appreciation to the Shriners for sponsoring the affair, and all hope to be able to attend again in the future. HKY

Junior High Frolics

We all welcome Harry Foster back to the eighth grade room again.

Dick Hancock and his little blond are still going strong. Where were you Saturday, Louise?

There are a few of the eighth grade girls that are more than willing to ride in "Bernie" Burger's convertible. Nice, isn't it, girls?

Alice Bostick, Archie Baker and "Vic" Daley all enjoyed their trip to the Shrine Circus in Buffalo. Alice liked Miss Victory, who was shot from the cannon, best; Archie, "Eddie the Monk" and "Vic" the eats.

"Marcy" Smith still gives Franklin Cornish those looks.

Green's new record, "Carle Boogie," seems to wow the kids who have spent their vacation buying cokes, etc.

Donna Nobles enjoyed Easter Sunday in Bolivar. Bob's cute, isn't he, Donna?

Who's the boy Phyllis Burger has been making eyes at in study hall?

"Aggie" Davis seemed to be having fun at the dance Friday night. Don was generous, wasn't he?

We see Bob Perry and Lois Honegger are still going to the movies every Saturday night.

"Pat" Sackett still sits in study hall and occasionly stops to gaze at Bob Baker.

Colleen McAndrews and Beeby Ordiway make a good pair. They never stop their giggling during classes.

We see that Barney Bostick is spending most of his time in Wellsville lately. I wonder why.

Who's the Ernest Janet Hall mentioned lately? Someone new, Janet?

Elizabeth Bridge, we see that Norm was up Friday night. DMN-PJB

Students Display Talent in Minstrels

On Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17, the Andover Exchange Club is presenting it's third annual Minstrel Show in the school auditorium. The "old minstrels" will be aided by the Girl's Glee Club, which will sing the choruses of the various songs.

Mrs. Donald Kent and Miss Audrey Baker will appear as vocal soloists and Patricia Ludden and Katherine Joyce offer a trumpet duet. Several pupils of Miss Geraldine Lynch will appear in a novelty dance. A girl's trio featuring Audrey Baker, "Essie" Temple, and JoAnn Theetge will sing a number arranged by Miss Boyd. Helen Ryan of Hornell appears in a tap dance and Charles Jacobs of Alfred Ceramics School faculty, gives a monologue. To top everything Frank Fagan presents a juggling act.

The high school orchestra provides the opening music for the show. Because so many high school students are participating in the show, their fellow-students should be in the auditorium to enjoy their talent.

SPORT NEWS

by "Ray" Smith

There isn't much doing so soon after a long vacation, but with the ground dry we shall see the baseball and track squads out for their daily airings, that is if it doesn't rain.

Next week Friday, April 25th the crowds will be milling on the diamond (we hope) for the first baseball battle of the '47 A. C. S. season. If A.C.S. takes baseball in stride there may be a county championship in sight for the Panthers. If possible the locals will see action against an experienced Alfred-Almond nine and a powerful orange and black squad from Wellsville. I haven't as yet become acquainted with the '47 track schedule, but I do know there will be the annual county meet which draws teams and spectators from the entire county. We know A.C.S. will support spring sports.

CHIT-CHAT

Hi Peoples! Here we are, full of news after that nice, restful (?) vacation.

The latest thing around the main drag seems to be little silver whistles dangling from everybody's arm. More noise!

The dance Friday night turned out to be more strenuous than the boxing bouts in Whitesville. Mary Alice Horan was the only serious casualty, however. Just a sprained wrist.

A stranger in ACS this week would be quite apt to see a senior girl with dark hair entirely surrounded by her fellow inmates. The reason for this attraction? A very lively lizard chained to her shoulder. If Doris VanCuren is starting a new fad, the brain factory will look more like a zoo.

There is now a new member in the Sacred Society of Horn Rimmed Spectacle Wearers. The lucky gal is Pat Dolan. Right sharp, Pat.

Monday morning Phyllis Burdick looked very much like a victim of a severe case of varicose veins. Just a little accident with an ink bottle is all.

Madge Collins looks just as good as ever after returning from her Easter trip—and a new permanent at that.

We had better take this space to warn any pedestrians who don't have a suit of armor. Jo Ann Theetge is learning to drive. A word to the wise is sufficient, so beware!

Jim Burgett must have been dancing with a tall girl Friday. That stiff neck he's got must have come from looking up at her.

Andover's big game hunters, Earl Richardson and Bill Holt, went out for trout Saturday. That poor little minnow they came back with must have gotten lonesome in Bill's pocket.

Helen Yannie's proud of her new admirer, Georgie Bliven. Don't some people have all the luck?

People were beginning to think Jeanne Stevens had left the old burg for good, but she finally got back from Buffalo Monday morning.

Lila Childs surprised everybody and was right on time for classes bright and early Monday morning. Pass the medals, please.

Well, kiddleys, guess we better be shoveling off. See you next week.

Bulletin Gives Milk Recipes for Farm Home

Twelve ways to use milk, cream, and cottage cheese in the farm home are described in a new Cornell bulletin for homemakers.

The State College of Home Economics developed the recipes, aided by a special grant from the American Dairy Association. Then these recipes were tried out by homemakers and their families and friends, who pronounced the products good.

The College says in the bulletin: "You who produce milk are wise if you use plenty of it at home. The supply is fresh and close at hand. It is economical to use enough to meet your family's needs. It is safe to say that you can buy no satisfactory substitute for your home-produced dairy products with the same expense of money and time."

Ways to use milk or milk products in main dishes, for making refrigerator ice creams, sherbets, cheese cakes, pies and other dishes are all described.

The bulletin, called "A Dairyman's Dozen", has the key number E-709. Single copies are free to New York homemakers who write to the Mailing Room, Roberts Hall, Ithaca, N. Y.

Pat, a Chameleon, Attends A.C.S.

A chameleon, an anima' belonging to the lizard family, visited school Monday morning on Doris VanCuren's shoulder. The animal would move only when stroked by its owner. Pat, as the chameleon was named, frightened more than a few girls. She seemed to get a kick out of doing this. At first, she tried to help Doris with her school work, but decided it was too hard. A few of the girls liked her well enough to want her to crawl around on the table.

At approximately 11 o'clock Pat got sleepy and told Doris she wanted her morning nap. The classes were too boring for her. Doris then put Pat in her lap where she slept until the end of the period. By the end of the day Pat had learned all she wanted to know about school. The lessons were too hard for her. When the last bell rang, she gave a sad good-bye to the "kids" and said that she hoped she would see them again soon.

Prayer For a Teacher

Grant me, O Lord, in a profession where it is easy to be impatient, the gift of unlimited patience.

Help me ever to withhold the unkind word that springs so quickly to my lips.

Make me pass over whatever is imperfect in those whom I teach, seeking out that which is truly good and worthy.

Let me remember, O Lord, to bestow praise freely, recalling the countless times that I have been helped by the encouraging words of others.

Preserve my enjoyment in my daily contacts with boys and girls.

Give me an increased awareness of fellow workers in my own and in other fields, and a keener insight into their problems, lest, in occupying myself too completely with my own needs and interests, I raise up a wall between them and me.

Forgive my frequent errors in planning, my too-hasty judgments, and my emphasis on unimportant details.

Let me be unafraid to admit my ignorance graciously, without hedging or trying to conceal my mistakes.

Help me to understand that learning is not an end in itself, and that "it is not wisdom to be only wise, and on the inward vision close the eyes."

And finally, O Lord, when the shadows lengthen around the schoolroom door and the long day draws to a close, let me willingly relinquish my past to him who will come after me, asking from Thee for him a greater service than that which I have tried so hard to give.

Amen.
