What Is a Study Hall

by Rose Mary Baker

Most of us have wondered just what a study hall should be like at some time or other. I have myself.

Should a study hall be so quiet that you can at all times hear a pin drop? Should everyone be scared to make any noise or should there be an easy familiarity which enables a few whispers to escape unnoticed?

I don't think that a study hall should be a place where silence should reign supreme, but neither do I think it should be a confirmed madhouse with everyone talking when they wish. The time of year also should determine the amount of noise permitted in the study hall, most of us will agree. Now, at the close of the year when all of us are or should be making the best use of our time in study halls, if we have our work all done we should have more consideration for others. With finals and Regents coming soon we should keep the study halls as quiet as possible for those who wish to study. The teachers wish to do this so if they refuse a few speaking permissions it is for our own good and we can benefit from it only by co-operating with them.

A real study hall is one in which those who wish to study [illegible] with the others quietly [illegible] their spare time other ways.

Sophomore Symphonies

It seems that "Rudy" Shutt had a pretty good time Friday night. How about it, Rudy?

We could tell by the twinkle in "Weasles" (Louise) eyes that she was having a wonderful time with Jack. Nice huh?

Joycie was of course enjoying herself with —— ? Well, can't you guess by yourself?

It seems Mary Alice lost her ring Friday night but of course "no one" knows where it is. Or do he?

Rosemary and Evelyn really were getting around. Were they the ones from Wellsville that you met skating?

It seems that "Annie" Greene and "Bernie" Kellogg had a little disagreement resulting from Friday night. How about it Annie?

We saw that Don Hills was in town Friday night. How about it Joycie?

It seems that there is a certain Junior girl who is causing a little trouble for some certain Sophomore girls (no names mentioned but we hope "the girl" reads this and takes it as a hint to keep quiet). JL-OJ

At Last It's Off!

The first year book of '47 in Andover Central School is finally on its merry way to the printers in Kansas City, Mo. Our work has not been in vain, you might say it is a yearbook to be mighty proud of—one to make the Senior Class of '47 remembered by all.

According to the president of the Senior class, Doris Wintemberg, our yearbook will return before the end of the school year for everyone to treasure its contents in the years to come. Be patient, students, and this yearbook will be here before you realize it. Isn't it wonderful—first ACS yearbook in a quarter of a century! AJB

Panthers Shut Out Canisteo 5 to 0

By Ray Smith

Tuesday May 27 "Jim" Smith pitched a no-hit, no-run ball game over the supposedly strong Canisteo nine on the Andover diamond. "Jim" had the best of support with but two men reaching second and a few reaching first. There wasn't a ball hit by Canisteo that left the infield. The locals tallied five times on seven hits four of which were doubles by Joe Smith, Jim Smith, Jim Burgett and Earl Richardson.

Smith went the route on the mound with 15 strikeouts and collected a double and a single for three trips to the plate. "Jim" Burgett, calling pitches, worked well from behind the plate and in three trials at bat smashed a double. Earl Richardson wasn't busy at second but had a couple of grounders hit his way. Earl clipped the ball for a double and a single for three trips to the plate. Joe Smith who hasn't been hitting too good this season also drove a double in three times at bat. The rest of the team turned in an exceptionally good game but the outfielders had nothing to do. Bill Holt at the initial sack stopped a wild throw to spoil a stall to second. This was Andover's first no-hit. no-run game of the current season.

Tonight, Thursday, May 29, the baseball squad will experience the thrill of playing at Tullar Field, under the lights. The locals will meet Whitesville tonight under the lights at Wellsville at 8 p. m. This game has been arranged to take the place of the June 5 night game with Wellsville which has been cancelled. This is one game in which the locals want lots of support.

GRADE NEWS

In Miss Recktenwald's room the pupils are making farm booklets and also a truck. Claudette Corwin and Edgar Hoagland are absent from school.

In Mrs. Robison's kindergarten the pupils are coloring animals and making a barn for their farm unit.

In Mrs. Hall's first grade the pupils are still working on their bird project and writing stories about birds. Leo Alvord and Robert Neville are absent with mumps. The children are making hats to wear in the parade on Memorial Day.

In Mrs. Elliott's third grade the children are reviewing for their coming tests. The play put on was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Helmer's third and fourth grade pupils have a collection of shells which were contributed by Ernest Weirich. Anne Harvey has a collection of shells which her father brought from New Guinea. They also have pictures of tropical fish.

In Mrs. Schwarzenbach's sixth grade they are decorating bulletin boards for Memorial Day. The pupils let the chipmunk go after they had it all winter. They are studying salamanders, toads, and peepers in science.

In Mrs. Joyce's seventh grade Betty Reisman and Milton Burdick have left school.

In Mrs. Gath's and Mrs. Joyce's seventh grades the people enjoyed a party Monday, May 26th in the gym and cafeteria, with refreshments, games and dancing.

In Mr. Carmody's eighth grade we find that Harry Foster has gone to Rochester for another operation. The pupils are also reviewing for their Regents.

Locals Participate In County Meet

by "Ray" Smith

Last Monday, May 26 the local tracksters left the halls of ACS at 11 o'clock to journey to Bolivar to take part in the annual county track meet. This year found five schools in the meet, Alfred-Almond, Friendship, Fillmore, Andover, and Richburg. Whitesville withdrew.

Andover didn't show up too good, but as well or better than could be expected. There will be no Allegany county representatives from Andover at Rochester this year, excepting "Jim" Burgett, who will pitch horseshoes June 7th.

It has been a poor track season, with the school engaged in so many other activities that it was hard to work the local cindermen. Next year will bring better results with Coach Conde and lots of good material back.

Girls Attend Play Day at Wellsville

Saturday, May 24, four girls from Andover Central School made the trip to Wellsville High School for a very enjoyable playday.

The girls who attended were Dolores Ellis, Joann Joyce, Ella Mae Clair and Phyllis Nye. The schools attending the playday were Wellsville, Andover, Alfred-Almond and Scio. The forenoon was spent playing softball. At noon, refreshments of ice cream, cookies and milk were served in the cafeteria. After lunch, softball playing was continued until 2:00. Transportation for the Andover girls was provided through the kindness of Miss Doris Church. PN

4-H Club Holds Meeting

The 4-H Club meeting was held Wednesday, eighth period, for the older group. There were about 25 members present. They discussed planting trees which some of the members have already received. They also discussed the strawberry plants which they are to receive and also the baby pheasants. They also had a lesson on fire protection and fire control and decided to enter in the fire prevention contest sponsored by the Allegany County Farmers' Co-operative Fire Insurance Company.

Sports Near End At A. C. S.

By Ray Smith

After a long, hard but good year, local sports at A.C.S. must come to a close. It has been a fine year with much cooperation and backing built up for Panther teams in the future. We all must leave the halls of Andover Central some day and probably the things we shall remember and cherish most are those basketball and baseball games. Sports in high school is practically the only activity that engages the entire student body in one way or another. It isn't possible for everyone to get a chance to play, but it is up to all to support the teams and this means as much as a victory to know you have a school be hind you. I think at this time the local athletes would like to thank you for your support and ask of you the same solid backing for the seasons to come.

SPORTS NEWS

By Earl Richardson

Friday morning, May 23, was the day of the annual horseshoe pitching contest held at Scio. Andover was represented by Carl Clark, Jim Burgett, Earl Richardson and Jim Kessler. Scio was represented by Markson, Collins and two other contenders.

Markson from Scio took first in the county with 35 points out of a possible 150; Burgett took second with 25 and one of the unknown contenders from Scio took third with 23 points. Richardson and Collins tied for fourth with 22.

The first three places will go to Rochester to pitch. Burgett is the only one from Andover to go this year, so we wish him a lot of luck.

ACS

Seniors Highest In Honors

For the seventh marking period the Seniors have the highest percentage of honor students, as 38 per cent of the class have their names on the honor roll.

Twenty-five per cent of the Junior class and 20 per cent of the Freshman class took home honor report cards.

Come on Sophomores, the Freshmen are beating you! We fail to see the name of one Sophomore on the honor roll.

Come on, the rest of you, too! We would like to see everyone's name on the honor roll after exams.

Boys, we're ashamed of you. The girls outnumbered you 13 to 6. JJ

How Can We Improve Our Eighth Period?

By Rose Mary Baker

How to improve our eighth period, is a question all of us should take into consideration and soon. In reality regents week is just ten school days away. What can we do to make every minute of these ten precious days count? Here are a few suggestions.

Students waste more time in going to and from their lockers than they do in any other way. The method most successful in reducing this loss of time is bringing all our materials with us when we come into the eighth period then many needed minutes won't be lost getting permission to go to our lockers and returning from them. Being to our eighth period on time is just as important as it is to be to any other class on time and it is even more important now, so we can count promptness as being a time saving element. Attending review classes during the eighth period is to our own advantage, but there is no sense of attending if we just go to take up space. It would be better to stay away entirely.

We can make our review classes count if we really apply ourselves to our utmost and try to understand what is being said. For those of us who don't attend review classes a few good study habits quickly formed and an effort concentrate will help greatly. Remember, when we enter the door of the exam room it is every man for himself, so perhaps a few minutes of our own time now will reap us the benefits later for which we have been striving all year long.

Freshman Frolics

As we could all plainly see, Nedra Burrows and Teddy O'Dell were enjoying themselves immensely Friday night at the dance.

Is it true that Betty Howland and Bud Benedict broke up? What happened, kids?

Who were you and Donna Nobles waiting for Friday night, Thelma Perry?

What's this we hear about the tails on Ray Benedict's car? Did you have anything to do with them, Lois Honegger?

Did you have fun at the dance Friday night, Joyce Linza? He is nice, isn't he?

The girls who went to Nedra Burrows' party had a good time. Where were the boys?

We didn't see Maxine Filler at the dance Friday night. You'd better watch Bill Glover or you'll lose him.

Where were you Friday night, Frances Baker? I didn't see you at the dance.

See you next week.

Junior Class Dance Nets $65

Friday evening, May 23 the Junior Class of ACS sponsored a round and square dance, featuring music by the "Cornhuskers," which proved to be a success in every way.

The original idea of a refreshment stand proved very successful, as did the coat check service.

The class made a net profit of $65.

The class wishes to express its whole-hearted thanks and appreciation to all those who helped make the dance the success that it was. PJD-HKY
