To keep parsley, mint and watercress crisp and fresh to serve as garnishes, wash them thoroughly, shake off the water, place them in a covered glass jar and put the jar in the refrigerator.

I Am An American

Did you ever put into words what it means to be an American?. T. A. Erickson, former Minnesota state 4-H Club leader has expressed it rather beautifully in his history of club work in Minnesota.

In a section entitled "The Heritage of Young Americans," he writes in part: "I am an American, one of the heirs to the riches of the most beautiful country in the world. I have a share in its hills and its valleys, its winding streams and beautiful lakes . . .

"As an American, I may till its fertile soil and produce nutritious food and the fibers for my clothing. . . . As an American, the freedom that we in the United States of America love so well is mine, and I will guard it in every way that I can. . . . The churches invite me to worship in my own way, that I may know the true meaning of the 'abundant life'. . . The government exists for me and I have a share in its responsibilities thru my vote and loyalty . . . The public school is open to teach me the American way of life. . . .

"Because America gives me so much, it is my duty to treasure these riches and guard them with a keen mind, healthy body, skillful hands and a loyal heart."

Cookie Place Cards

If you want to make a hit with guests at your child's next birthday party, give them cookie place cards. Frost fancy-shaped cookies and before the frosting is dry, write the name lightly with a toothpick. Fill the depression with silver dragees, chocolate decoretts or cinnamin drops.

Poison Pins

Obvious labels on bottles containing poison are a wise precaution. But they won't stop the night-time reacher for head ache medicine.

Cornell specialists suggest that householders mark all bottles containing poison by putting pins in their corks. The sleepy, careless groper surely would heed such a "pointed" stop signal!

Cabbages — Fit For Kings

This is a discussion of cabbages, a food fit for kings. The Cornell University Food Information Service advises increased use of this versatile vegetable which is delicious, nutritious, and cheap.

Every homemaker knows that it is delicious—in salads (try a "Red and White Salad," shredded white and red cabbage with minced onion, sliced nuts and salad dressing); or cooked, creamed, served with corned beef.

Thoughtful homemakers know that it is nutritious, an important source of roughage, minerals and vitamins. Careful homemakers know cabbage is cheap; there's no waste and it is raised extensively.

So include cabbage frequently in your conservation menus.

Dusty Radiators

Now that furnaces are working again, it's time to remember the dust-gathering talents of radiators throughout the home. Don't let them get out of hand! Occasionally you would be smart to place an old dampened sheet or moistened newspaper behind each radiator and below it; then aim the blower tool of your vacum cleaner through the radiator openings. Off goes the dust to be caught on the moist surfaces.

U. S. Bonds are still a good investment!

"Is you gwine ter let dat mewel do as he please?" asked Uncle Ephriam's wife. "Wha's yo' will power?"

"Mah will power's all right," he answered. "You jes want ter come out hyar an' measure dis here mewel's won't power."

ENCORE

Little James, while at a neighbor's, was given a piece of bread and butter, and politely said "Thank you."

"That's right, James," said the lady. "I like to hear little boys say Thank you'."

"Well," rejoined James, 'if you want to hear me say it again, you might put some jam on it."

SILENT APPROVAL

Hickey: "All this talk about back-seat drivers is bunk. I've driven a car ten years, and I've never had a word from behind.'

Dickey: "Guess you're not married."

Hickey: "I'm married all right, but I drive a hearse."

Rodney (after being to Sunday School): "Say, dad, our lesson told about the evil spirits entering the swine."

Father: "Yes, my son. What do you wish to know?"

Rodney: "Was that the way they got the first deviled ham?"

Husbands who praise their wives outnumber wives who praise their husbands about four to one.
