Deputy Sheriff Puts Andover Lights Out

What could have been a fatal accident or caused considerable property damage occurred on Andover Main street a little after 1 o'clock Friday morning, when a heavy car driven by Deputy Sheriff Wilbur Rounds of Whitesville went into a skid on the Dyke Creek bridge and struck a village electric pole which held a transformer, telephone lines and high voltage electric lines. The impact broke the pole at the base, the car continuing in a skid and stopped directly in front of the News office in a tangle of telephone lines, village street lines and 2300-volt high lines.

Mr. Rounds and a passenger, Lawrence Nye, also of Whitesville, miraculously escaped without injury. They had just gotten out of the car when a 2300-volt line struck the steel top of the machine in a blinding flash of light before burning out.

It was late Friday afternoon before workmen could get the mess straightened out, a new pole and transformer set and service resumed. The street lights were not on until Saturday night.

This accident was very fortunate in a number of ways. Besides the narrow escape of the occupants of the car from being electrocuted, electricians say that with that entanglement of wires it is a wonder that the 2300 did not feed back thru the 110 house circuit which was entangled with it and set fire to some of the nearby buildings.

This accident brings out forcibly the advantage of having the electric poles which carry the high voltage lines run back of the buildings where an accident of this kind could not affect them. Another feature in such a move, which the village board and electric department have been advocating, is that it would generally take the lines out of the trees which also cause considerable trouble in falling branches breaking lines and making short circuits.

Andover village was also out of electricity Tuesday morning for about an hour, while the village and telephone men were straightening out electric and telephone lines which the wind had entangled in such a manner that the electric current was coming back thru the telephone lines into the Andover telephone central.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Geil Reynolds, Mrs. John Lewis of Andover and the employees of Crosset's Trucking Co. of Wellsville for their kindness during our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Gertrude Steadman,
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Steadman
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Steadman and family.

Gasoline and Fuel Oil Rationed

Announcement has been made by distrubutors that gasoline and fuel oil will be rationed this winter throughout the nation in greater or less degree—depending upon conditions of supply and demand.

In New York state distributors, garages and service stations will be cut to what they sold one year ago, which means in most cases practically a 20 per cent reduction over present demands.

Clemment R. Steadman

Clemment Russell Steadman died at his home on North Main street, Andover Friday morning, December 12, 1947 after a long illness.

Mr. Steadman was born February 26, 1871, in North Fork, Pa., a son of Llewellyn and Helen Nudd Steadman. He was married May 11, 1898 to Gertrude Taylor who survives him, also two sons, Gordon Steadman of Andover and Gerald Steadman of Horseheads, four grandchildren, three great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Frederick C. Mulhollond Funeral Home in Andover, the Rev. Harold C. Hill of Wellsville officiating. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, Andover.

Methodist Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party sponsored by the WSCS will be held this Friday evening, December 19th, at the church.

The merriment will start at 6:30 with a tureen supper to be followed by an entertainment and Christmas tree.

This is a family party and includes all the families of the church and congregation; especially the children of the Sunday school and their parents.

Each family bring a dish to pass and rolls for the family. Also table service.

Second Andover Well Proves Good Producer

Another oil well was drilled in and shot last Friday near Water street here by Vincent Helmheld of Fords Brook, the second in a series being drilled in that section of Andover.

The well, located on the Herman Lehman property, proved a good one, both in oil and gas. The first one drilled was on the Robert Smith property.

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rowland are parents of twin daughters, born Wednesday at St. James Mercy hospital, Hornell.

NEWS EARLY NEXT WEEK

Next week being Christmas week, the Andover News will be published early.

Please have news items and advertisements in the office the first of the week.

Not Too Late

If the spirit of Christmas prevailed, not just for a few days in December, but thruout the year, this undoubtedly would be a better world in which to live.

Many become involved in routine matters and all too soon forget the noble sentiments which inspires them as the holiday approaches.

On November 24 most residents of Allegany county received a letter from the Allegany Health and Tuberculosis Association. Many may have neglected answering this important letter. It is a letter that comes every year. It is a letter which reminds the people of an important work which is being done in Allegany county—work which should be continued.

But this work cannot be continued unless everyone remembers to answer that letter. For this particular letter enclosed sheets of Christmas Seals. Many look forward to receiving them each year because Christmas Seals have become a symbol of the fight being waged here against tuberculosis—a fight which all should participate in for their own protection, and for the protection of their families.

Sometimes, however, many over look the fact that funds are needed for the campaign against tuberculosis and that the tuberculosis association depends solely upon the generous purchase of Christmas Seals to support its tuberculosis control work.

It isn't too late to answer that Christmas Seal letter. Keep the spirit of Christmas alive. Follow thru by answering that letter, today.

Dr. Bready Speaks In Andover

Last Sunday evening Dr. J. W. Bready, author of "This Freedom—Whence," which is now in its 11th printing was guest speaker at the Methodist church to a union service of Methodists and members of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Dr. Bready's book, which contains revealing historical facts to prove that our present freedom has come about because of the Wesleyan revival of the 18th century, is a fine speaker as well as an author and his visit to Andover was thoroughly enjoyed by those who heard him.

Holiday Programs on Alfred Carillon
