THE SCHOOL HOUSE BURNED.

And the Teacher and a Four-Year-Old Boy Perish in the Flames.

Yesterday morning a sad calamity took place at the country school house at Coopersville, two miles north of the village of Nunda, N. Y.

There was no outside door to the school house, the only means of entrance to the building being through the wood shed, which was nearly full of wood. This wood took fire in some unaccountable manner before the morning recess, and when discovered by the teacher, Miss Porter, the inside of the shed was a mass of flames. When Miss Porter opened the door, the flames came into the school room as from a furnace under the high wind, and it is supposed she was suffocated almost at once by her clothing taking fire, as she stepped back a few feet and fell where her body was found. Her head was nearly all burned away and also one leg. John Willard, aged four years, son of Conrad Johnson, was also burned to death. He ran to the teacher for protection when he met his sad fate.

There were about twenty pupils in the school when the fire burst in at the door, and when Miss Porter opened the door all was confusion. There were two heroes in that school room, Melvin and Charlie Chambers, aged 16 and 14 years, sons of James Chambers, and the oldest boys in the school. Their action undoubtedly saved many other lives. The only door to the school house was a sea of flame, and no one could escape that way. These boys smashed out the windows and literally threw the children out to save their lives. Melvin was severely burned about his face, but remained in the school house until every child was rescued. James Chambers and Conrad Johnson saw the fire first from where they were drawing gravel at the creek, and ran their horses to the scene. The whole building was a mass of flames and nothing could be done to save it. People flocked to the place as rapidly as possible. Before anyone could reach there, Mr. Chambers and Mr. Johnson were met with the charred remains of Miss Porter and the little boy, coming to town. All that was left of the burned boy was his trunk, arms and legs being burned entirely off. It was one of the most shocking occurrences that has taken place for years.

The people of Coopersville will never build another school house with only one door, and that entered through the wood shed.

ORGANIZE IT NOW!

"It" Refers to a Board of Trade, Village Improvement Society or Some Similar Organization.

Another week will probably see An-dover's system of water works completed, and the organization of a fire department well under way. We will then, as a village, have several things to boast of, among which are a first class union school and academy, an abundant supply of natural gas for lights and fuel, complete fire protection for the business and residence portions of the village, the purest of water for domestic purposes, an incorporated village whose affairs are run on business principles, and one of the pleasantest villages in the state to live in.

Does any reader suppose that with all these advantages we are not in a position to invite the attention of manufacturing concerns, and persons who desire to educate their children or live in a place where the people "have something?"

And does anybody think these things will advertise themselves—that manufacturers are looking for just such an opening as this, and the moment they happen to hear about it they will make a grand rush for Andover?

There is just one way to make the town boom—and that is to boom it!
This may be the most desirable place on earth for residence, and it may possess unequaled advantages for the manufacturer, but no outsider will take special pains to acquaint himself with the facts.

There isn't much use in arguing this question—almost any person in town will admit that all the work must be done at home, and doubtless a sufficient number of business men and citizens are ready to join forces in doing the work. All that is necessary is for some one to start the ball rolling. Get the business men to agree to attend a meeting at a certain time and place to take the preliminary steps, and the thing is done.

Don't wait another day, but get to business now.

Now For A Hose Company.

Last evening a meeting of several persons interested in the organization of a hose company was held in L. C.
Van Fleet's law office. No steps were taken toward perfecting the organization and the meeting was adjourned one week in the hope of securing a larger attendance. Every person who is willing to become an active member of a hose company is invited to attend the next meeting, and it is hoped the organization may be perfected at that time. Remember the time and place, at L. C. Van Fleet's office, next Tuesday evening.

The Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors of this county convened at the court house in Belmont Monday afternoon. E. J.
Norton of Scio was chosen chairman by acclamation. Charles Stillman of Alfred was chosen clerk in the same manner, and he appointed C. E. Ingham of Hume as his assistant. After these preliminaries had been arranged the Board adjourned until Tuesday morning, when the routine work began. The Republican members of the Board held a caucus Monday afternoon and awarded the printing of the session laws to the Cuba Patriot. The Democratic members will make a similar award to the Wellsville Democrat.

Andover's supervisor, T. N. Boyd, received a petition before leaving home, asking that the law prohibiting fishing in the Andover pond be repealed. The petition was numerously signed by citizens of this place. Unless the law is repealed it has one year yet to run.

It is understood that an effort will be made at this session to make an appropriation for building a new jail in Belmont. The same thing was tried last year but was voted down.
The surface indications are that it will be more successful this year.

MAY BE A MURDERER.

A Man Arrested In Andover Answers Descriptions of a Murderer Wanted In Texas.

Monday evening of this week a tramp, aged about 45 or 50 years, applied to Deputy Sheriff Calvin Slocum for a night's lodging in the village lockup.
Without knowing it this man walked into a trap that had been set for him for two or three days. Mr. Slocum had been on the lookout for him, being assisted in the search by a detective who had followed the man from Salamanca, but who had lost track of him here.

Deputy Sheriff Slocum kindly assured the man that he could accommodate him with a night's lodging, and conducted him through the door of the "village inn," after which he arrested him on the charge of being a vagrant with no visible means of support.
This arrest was made principally for the purpose of holding the man until the officials in Texas could be notified where they could find a person answering the description of the man they wanted for a murder committed in Nacogdoches county, Texas, over three years ago, and for whom a reward of $200 is offered by the Sheriff of that county.

Deputy Sheriff Slocum assures us that the man he arrested is almost perfectly described in the circular published by the Texas Sheriff.

The man was searched Monday evening by the Deputy Sheriff. He carried a bundle, in which he claimed he had a kit of shoemaker's tools, but which really contained a lot of dirty, bloody rags, a few time tables of Western railroads, and nothing more. The man had no money.

He was arraigned before Justice Harman yesterday morning, on the charge of vagrancy. Upon being questioned by attorney Van Fleet he said his name was George Brown; that he left Texas Sunday night and walked to Andover, passing through Elmira, Ringhamton and Salamanca.

He was committed to the county jail for sixty days. The Texas Sheriff has been notified, and if he proves to be the man wanted out there we will probably hear more about it soon.

The prisoner was taken to Angelica yesterday by the Deputy Sheriff.

Oil Notes.

Brainard, Lester & Co. finished a well on Uriah Davis' farm last week, which showed a small quantity of gas and considerable oil. The well was shot this afternoon.

The Mutual company on Monday began drilling a well on Eugene Warfield's farm, on the hill above the big water spring.

Greenwood Pays Her Bonds and Celebrates.

Last Thursday the Town Board of Greenwood canceled the last of the bonds which were issued a number of years ago to induce a railroad to pass through that village. Nine years ago the original bonds were refunded and new bonds issued, which have been paid as they became due.

After the last bond was canceled last Thursday as above stated, nine guns were fired in honor of the event.

Our sister village is to be congratulated upon thus getting out of debt.
We would be glad to extend further congratulations if they had secured the road.

Died.

Phebe Jane, wife of John Bennett, died at her home in the town of Alfred, about four miles north of Andover village, on Tuesday, Nov. 14th, 1893, aged 74 years. Deceased had been ill since June last, and the cause of death was cirrhosis of the liver. She leaves a husband and two children, Mrs. Alexander Hoard of Almond, and Henry M. Bennett of Alfred.

The funeral services will be held at the house tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

John O. Mullen, son of John Mullen of Greenwood, died at his father's home Sunday, Nov. 12th, 1893, aged 37 years.
The deceased had been a sufferer from epilepsy for years, and this disease was the cause of his death. The funeral was held Tuesday at the house, and was very largely attended. Rev. G. M. James of Andover officiated, and the burial took place at West Greenwood.

And a good lamp must be simple; when it is not simple it is not good. Simple, Beautiful, Good—these words mean much, but to see "The Rochester" will impress the truth more forcibly. All metal, tough and seamless, and made in three pieces only, it is absolutely safe and unbreakable. Like Aladdin's of old, it is indeed a "wonderful lamp," for its ravelous light is purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light and more cheerful than either.

Look for this stamp—The Rochester. If the lamp dealer has not the genuine Rochester, and they style you want, send us for our new illustrated catalogue and we will send you a lamp showing every variety of over 2,000 varieties from the Largest Lamp Makers in the World.
