

Rockwell Bros.

Our November trade has been highly gratifying—far in excess of the corresponding month in any previous year since 1889 (the time we began business in Wellsville.)

In the face of the general hard times this statement to some, may flavor of romance, but it can easily be verified to the satisfaction of anyone who may challenge its truth.

Now for December! This month in Dry Goods is always the largest of the year. We are determined that this December shall be not only the largest in this year but, like the month just passed, the largest of any previous year.

To this end we are going to push things for all they're worth. Our limited space will permit the mention of but few of the many attractive bargains we shall offer:

THE ANDOVER NEWS.

At a meeting of the Allegany County Publishers' Association, held at Bolivar, April 29, 1892, the following rules were unanimously adopted to take effect the week beginning May 5, 1892:

Rule 1.—That not less than 5 cents per line be charged for resolutions of respect, and local notices of entertainments from which revenue is to be derived.

Rule 2.—Cards of thanks to be charged $1.

Rule 3.—Obituary notices, except such as are published as a matter of news, and lists of wedding presents to be charged for at not less than 5 cents per line.

Mr. H. A. Benedict was in Wellsville Monday.

F. A. McKee of Friendship was in town Monday.

The recent cold nights have made skating on the pond.

Mr. J. P. McGinty is home from Pittsburgh for a short stay.

Editor Willard, of the Belmont Post, was in town Monday.

Miss Josie Parker of Allegany is visiting in Andover.

Miss Nettie Perry visited friends in Elkhira during the past week.

Mr. C. H. Richardson of Wellsville was in town Monday evening.

Miss Georgia Woodin of Buffalo visited at E. J. Atwood's last week.

Mrs. M. A. Lawrence of Oramel is visiting friends and relatives in town.

W. A. Barney has gone to Cuba, where he now holds a position as telegraph operator.

Mrs. Jesse Briggs and son Wallace, of Independence, called on Andover friends and relatives Monday.

Guy Wood of Wellsville spent Thanksgiving at the home of his father, C. M. Wood of this place.

W. J. Richardson, wife and son Fred, of Belmont, spent Thanksgiving with J. W. Richardson.

Miss Bertha Osborn of Wellsville, visited Andover relatives last week, returning home Sunday evening.

Miss Angeline Babcock of Nortonville, Kansas, is the guest of Mrs. N. M. Lanphear of Lanphear Valley.

Messrs. G. B. Proper and L. N. Corwin returned last week from a hunting expedition to Pennsylvania. They report game scarce.

Miss Louie Ellis closed her term in Lanphear Valley last Friday, and Alva F. Randolph assumed the reins of government there on Monday.

The Board of Trade matter is under discussion by the business men of this place and indications are that the matter will be brought to a focus soon.

Mrs. Mary J. Brundage was in Greenwood from Saturday until Tuesday, being called there by the serious illness of her son's wife, Mrs. B. G. Brundage.

The Publishers' Association held an interesting session in the Fassett House, Wellsville, on Monday of this week. The next meeting will be held in Andover the first Friday in February.

The Euterpe Club has consented to appear at the fair soon to be given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, and their singing will be one of the drawing cards of the entertainment.

Andover's water works system is about complete. They have ordered new fire apparatus, and will soon have a fire department equal to the progressive requirements of the town.—Cuba Patriot.

E. A. Osborne of Wellsville should advertise in the News. He has sold pianos to A. M. Burrows, W. B. Bundy, E. J. Atwood, and the piano for the School within a few months. There's a large field yet to cover.

Bridget Dixon died at the home of her brother, Martin Dixon, in Hartsville, Wednesday, Nov. 29, 1893, aged 68 years. The funeral services were held at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in Andover, Friday last.

Charles Hunt, a former resident of Andover, died at his home in North Bingham, Pa., Nov. 28, 1893, of internal hemorrhage, aged about 59 years. He leaves a wife, the daughter of George Perry of Andover, also four sons and one daughter.

A young crane flew through the glass of the cab of the engine drawing train 18, Tuesday evening, near Andover. It fluttered around and finally broke the glass in the side opposite to the one at which it entered, after which it was captured, and the fireman carried it to his home in this city.—Hornellville Press.

Train 18 now carries the mail eastward over the western division of the Erie, an order to that effect having been made last week, taking effect Monday of this week. In some respects the new departure is an improvement, as it will assure the distribution of mail early in the evening. The through mail from the west, however, will probably not be received until one day later than heretofore. Mail for the east now closes at Andover postoffice at 6:40 p. m.

The Chautauqua Circle will meet with Mrs. Emma Conn Monday evening, Dec 11th. The program is as follows: Quotations from Milton; Sketch of his life, Miss Freeborn, answer questions No. 5 and 6 in 12 page memoranda, and question 53 on economics; one fact from Roman History; one fact from economics; one fact from each article of the weeks reading in the Chautauquan; reading from the writings of Thomas Moore, by Miss Spaulding.

The News is in receipt of a copy of The American Youth, published in Chicago, containing a story by Philip O'Connor entitled, "Little Toney." The piece is well written and the story is deeply affecting, being undoubtedly founded on fact. It recounts the fortunes and final death of a little newsboy wail, who found his wealthy mother just before he died. Mr. O'Connor also sends copies of the Chicago Record, telling how nearly 3,000 hungry newsboys were fed in that city Thanksgiving Day. Mr. O'Connor is the veritable "King of the Newsboys" in Chicago, and the little fellows have many times demonstrated that the genial "Phil" has a solid grip on the biggest portion of each individual heart.

Fine stationery cheap at C. & B's. Wait and buy your Christmas presents at the fair, Dec. 15.

Boots, Williams & Co's is the only place in town where you can get beraz shoes.

New and Improved C. & B's

Mrs. Mourhess has plenty of the Japanese baskets for fancy work. Her stock of millinery is complete.

Empire and northern light flour, also a full line of fresh groceries at Weeks, Williams & Co's.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual fair Wednesday evening, Dec. 13. A "B" supper will be served from 5 to 7:30. Come and get a good meal of "B's" for only 30 cents. The program will commence at 8 o'clock, and will consist of music, vocal, instrumental, speeches, etc., and a general good time for all. We have everything to sell that can be thought of.
