

W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Andover meets the first and third Thursday in each month.

"They are slaves who will not choose, Hatred, scoffing and abuse, Rather than in silence shrink From the truth they needs must think. They are slaves who dare not be, In the right with two or three."

The following verses are by the well known poet, J. P. Trowbridge:

"What would become of this world of ours, So sorely in need of our highest powers, And waiting the stroke of millennial hours, If women should smoke?"

"What could atone for the loss crept in To the baby's kiss and the cradle hymn, And the coarser life that would soon begin, If women should smoke?"

"Where would the noblest sentiments hide, Where would the purest of fancies abide, For mother, and sister, and sweetheart and bride, If women should smoke?"

"Just as we find on a frost-bitten farm Odorless flowers that have ceased to charm, So would a blight fill the earth's best balm, If women should smoke."

I'm proof against that word failure. I've seen behind it. The only failure a man ought to fear is failure in cleaving to the purpose he sees to be best.

The Cincinnati Times-Star says: Civilization is having no back-set in Colorado, as far as the rights of women are concerned. There the mothers and wives and sisters are moving steadily on. The amendment to the State Constitution, granting the right of suffrage to women, not the meagre right to vote in matters of education, but in all that the term right of suffrage for men implies, was carried by a substantial majority. Colorado now has the proud distinction of being the first State of the Union thus to gracefully yield to the inevitable. Some of the recent Territories, notably Wyoming, came into the Union with a woman's suffrage constitution, but Colorado is the first to recognize and correct the error. It is a proud distinction. It is like wise an example which other States must sooner or later follow. The idea that women must share the burdens of government, and none of the honors, is a decayed idea, most cherished where men are the most savage.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of the state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by L. A. Burrows.
