Priest Assaulted By Poles at Freeland, Pa.

Thrown From the Church Steps and Prevented From Entering the Edifice—Fierce Battle With the Police Follows—Clubs and Stones Flung—Prominent Part—Several Injured.

HAZLETON, Pa., May 28.—The trouble over which the congregation of St. Cost-mer Polish Catholic church at Freeland has been divided for a year or more has just culminated in a bloody riot, in which four men were shot, two of whom will die. A number of others were seriously injured. The names of the victims are: Victor Tipnoky, shot through the head. Peter Yosmoski, fatally shot in abdomen. James Travinski, shot in the right leg. Joseph Dutch, shot in hip. Chief of Police James Gallagher, severe cut on head. Officer Jones, nose broken with a stone.

A large number of parishoners sustained numerous cuts and bruises, being hit with clubs, and to escape arrest fled. The trouble in the church dates back for a year and arose from prejudice. The pastor of the church, Father Maszoka, is a Lithuanian and the congregation is about equally divided into Lithuanians and Poles. The Poles wanted another pastor and the Lithuanians refused to accede to the demand and for months a species of undeclared warfare has raged.

Yesterday it was rumored that the Poles contemplated attacking the priest if he attempted to say mass. Father Maszoka was determined to say mass, however, and escorted by Police Officer Jones, he approached the sanctuary of the church.

As he mounted the steps a number of Poles hurled themselves upon him and threw him to the ground. The priest then tried to gain entrance to the front door, but was again repulsed by Poles, who stood guard.

An attack was made and Officer Jones was hit in the face with a stone. Chief Gallagher, who had detailed other officers to preserve order, endeavored to control the mob, but only precipitated the attack.

Chief Burgess McLaughlin escorted the priest home, and while drafting recruits and deputies, the fighting became general. For half an hour pandemonium reigned during which guns and clubs were used with terrible effect.

When order was finally restored the place resembled a battle field. When the police recovered themselves, most of the beligerents had fled. Four Poles were subsequently arrested and locked up.

HER FIRST OCEAN STEAMER.

Hearty Welcome Accorded the Visitor on Her Arrival at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 28.—After a voyage lasting 23 days the steamer Craggs from Bergen, Norway, has arrived at this port and steamed up the river amid a hearty whistling welcome from every steam craft in the harbor. The sailing vessels dipped their colors as the foreign visitor passed by and the Craggs answered the salute with her heavy-sounding whistle.

A large number of Scandinavian residents went out in the bay and boarded the Craggs, as she rounded the North point. The little steamer is the first vessel of the European merchant marine to visit Milwaukee. After unloading part of her cargo of herring here the Craggs will leave for Chicago.

Unknown Smith Turns Anarchist.

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—Coxey's Unknown, alias Smith, Bozarth etc., addressed a meeting of populists and others on the south side here Sunday. After revolutionary advice to his hearers he said that he wanted an army of one million to go to Washington, inundate the capitol and sink into oblivion the law makers' trust, the greatest of all trusts. There's a terrible crisis at hand, he says, and if the right kind of men are not sent to congress this year, the people will have to fight, so he advised workmen to organize for balloons and bullets. If they fail at the ballot they can resort to the bullet. Pittsburgh is to be to the coming revolution what Lexington was to the war of independence. Bozarth's remarks were loudly cheered.

Departed Heroes Remembered.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 28.—For years it has been the rule with Grand Army posts of Brooklyn to assemble on the Sunday preceding Memorial day, and go to the cemeteries, where the graves of the departed brethren are given the usual floral adornment. No soldier's grave, no master how humble, is forgotten. All the cemeteries this year were handsomely decorated with flags, bunting and flowers, and in each one could be seen old Grand Army men tenderly placing a token of respect and esteem over some comrade's grave. The most important event of the day was at the naval cemetery, where fully 5,000 people gathered to hear assistant secretary of the navy, William McAdoo, deliver an oration.

Joint Union Service.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 28.—The result of a conference between committees representing the two national religious bodies now in session here, led to a joint union service in the big convention hall last night. It began at 9:30 o'clock, after the services in the regular churches were concluded. The audience numbered over 5,000 persons. Rev. Dr. S. A. Mutchmore, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, presided. Ten minute addresses were made by distinguished divines from the general assembly and the Baptist May anniversaries.

Arkell Orders a Naphtha Launch.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., May 28.—W. J. Arkell has placed an order for the construction of a naphtha launch to run on the canal, and which is to be used for the purpose of towing boats. The launch will be built by the firm of the late Richard K. Folsom, and will cost about $1,000.

DIED IN A POOR HOUSE.

End of the Sad Career of a Once Beautiful Circus Rider.

JOLIET, Ill., May 28.—Mary Labor, aged 84 years, has just died at the county farm here. In 1840 Joliet was visited by a circus in which was a star equestrienne. Her riding delighted every one and she was applauded to the echo. While in Joliet she was taken sick and was compelled to leave the show. All her gaudy friends of the circus deserted her and she was thrown on the world in her sickness.

AFTER HER WANDERING BOY.

Gen. Kelly's Mother Will Try to Take Her Son Home.

QUINCY, Ill., May 28.—While camping here Gen. Kelly was handed a letter by a friend of his mother in which his step-son Maud asked him if he was Charley Kelly, their son and brother, to write them. It had been twelve years since they had heard anything of him. Kelly told the man who handed him the letter that on his return from Washington he would go by the way of Minneapolis, where his relatives live at 404 East Thirty-third street, and take them to California with him.

FRENCH MINISTERIAL CRISIS.

M. Dupuy as Yet Unable to Form a Cabinet.

PARIS, May 28.—The result of M. Dupuy's efforts to form a cabinet is in doubt. Among the many conflicting rumors concerning the crisis is that the Anglo-Belgian agreement as to Central Africa has raised such grave questions between France and England that Casimir-Perier must be retained in the foreign office to protect France's interests. M. Dupuy called upon M. M. Guerin, Poincaré, Delcasse and Felix Faure. He offered the ministry of finance to Boulanger and Bureau successively, but both declined the office.

104 Indictments Against Bissell.

TRENTON, N. J., May 28.—The Mercer county grand jury has returned 104 indictments against Isaac F. Bissell, the defaulting treasurer of the American Saw company, of New York, whose works are located here. The indictments are for an equal number of alleged check forgeries, by which Bissell is said to have procured the sum of about $200,000.

AN UNEXPECTED BOLT

Trouble Over a $1,000,000 Mission House.

The Presbyterian Joint Committee Having the Proposed Structure at New York in Hand Divided in Opinion—Country Ministers' Plans Might Injure Credit in Wall Street.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 28.—The proposed million-dollar Presbyterian mission house for which the Stuart corner at 20th street and Fifth avenue, New York, is now being cleared has caused a serious division in the joint committees of the general assembly, to which the matter was referred. This is the building, descriptions of which have already been printed, which is to serve as the home of the Presbyterian missionary boards now housed in the Lenox mansion at the corner of 12th street and Fifth avenue.

The property was purchased by the home and foreign boards with part of the $600,000 bequest of the late Mrs. R. L. Stuart.

Banker John S. Kennedy, a member of the home mission board, has planned the building and it is he who will advance the funds to complete the building.

John E. Parsons, also a member of the board, has given the board legal advice as to their powers in the premises to invest permanent funds, etc.

The boards came to the assembly with all the details of the plans thoroughly arranged and digested. It took the regular routine, through committees appointed to examine the affairs of the two boards and was reported with full approval to the assembly. There it met with slight opposition and was referred back to a joint committee composed of home and foreign mission's committees.

Since that reference, three days ago, the committee have made strenuous efforts to agree so that the general assembly may not be called upon to discuss the matter. In the meantime all the secretaries, treasurers and agents of the boards who come to the general assemblies annually are in hot water. The situation is extremely delicate for the two boards.

The Lenox and R. L. Kennedy families have raised the issue that the boards are in honor bound to keep the Lenox property as their home for ever. There are, moreover, grave questions of financial policy and real estate valuation that complicate it. The joint committee is composed of ministers without experience to qualify them to determine such questions and elders from interior towns and cities who know little of the needs of such institutions in large cities, or of New York city values.

John S. Kennedy and John E. Parsons came here for a conference with the committee on these questions. The conference lasted an hour and at the end a vote was taken. The committee is hopelessly divided and they will carry their differences into the assembly.

The majority favor the plan and will so report. The minority is said to consist of Lawyer McDougall of Cincinnati and two or three country preachers. Mr. McDougall's objections rest on presidential grounds. He has made a study of Fifth avenue property as compared with Cincinnati property and he does not want the assembly to approve a financial plan of such magnitude without the most careful scrutiny of every particular. The country parsons, however, are moved by other motives. One of them thought it a great waste to pay $370,000 for a lot when the money might have been used to build a hundred western churches and to convert tens of thousands of souls.

A more serious view of the question is that the home and foreign boards handle two million dollars a year. They require large advances from Wall street bankers during the summer season to carry on their work while the churches are gathering funds. Their accounts now show a debt of nearly half a million dollars. This debt is now being carried in Wall street. Without the assistance of the largest bankers in New York they could not do business. If the city banks find that the general assembly is likely to interfere with the business of the boards, there may be difficulties experienced in maintaining their credit.

Intend to "Borrow" a Train.

PUEBLO, Col., May 28.—Three hundred and seventy-five Coxeyites have just reached this city from Salt Lake over the Rio Grande road. Two hundred of the men were the Utah contingent under the command of Gen. Carter. The balance of the men are from California and have been 49 day searching here from Stockton. They report terrible hardship experienced on the Utah desert and show signs of having undergone great privations. The men are by far the best looking set of men that have yet passed through here. Gen. Carter will "borrow" a Rio Grande train and take the men to Denver.

Coal Famine at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—All the flouring mills in this city and vicinity but five have ceased work for want of coal. These five have supplies of wood that will last from four to ten days. Nearly all the large factories in the city are nearing the end of their supplies and the river steamers are burning wood. Railroads continue to consume all the coal in sight.

Jerry Simpson Better.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Representative Jerry Simpson of Kansas is improving rapidly and will probably leave here for Berkeley Springs about June 1. His condition would allow his departure sooner, but the hotel at which he will stay at the Springs does not open until June 1.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe 75 Years Old.

BOSTON, May 28.—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe celebrated the 75th anniversary of her birth Sunday. She received many gifts and flowers and a number of her friends were present.
