

THE ANDOVER NEWS
ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

HAMILTON C. NORRIS, EDITOR
ANDOVER, N. Y., July 18, 1894.

This is a good time for people to go to Europe who are content with steerage passage. Several steamship companies have cut the steerage rates from $25 to $10.

Another holiday has been added to the list. It is "Labor Day," and was created by act of Congress, the first National holiday, by the way, ever thus created. It will come on the first Monday of September.

Senator Sherman, of Ohio, wants the government to take the matter in hand and regulate the charge for the privilege of riding in a Pullman sleeper. The rates are extortionate. He proposes a bill fixing a mile rate beyond which the company will not be allowed to go. Such a bill should speedily become a law.

The Y. P. S. C. E. convention at Cleveland, Ohio, which was held during the past week, is said to have been the largest ever held, 40,000 delegates having registered. Among the movements started at the gathering are plans for a world wide union of Christian Endeavor, and for systematic missionary extension.

The income tax provision of the tariff bill, as it finally passed the Senate, imposes a yearly tax of two per cent. on that part of every income which exceeds $4,000. For instance, if a man's yearly income is $4,500, he pays two per cent. on the $500. This provision will go into effect January 1, 1895, if no further amendments shall be made to the bill in the House, and will continue in force until January 1, 1900.

The total loss to the railroad companies by the recent strike is estimated at from five to eight millions of dollars. Counsel for many of the railroads are already at work drawing up claims for financial redress from the county of Cook and from the city of Chicago. The losses of produce dealers and commission men will foot up $1,500,000. The majority of the Pullman employes are now striving to regain their places in the shops.

THE INCOME TAX.

Investigations made by Worthington C. Ford, chief of the bureau of statistics, treasury department, lead him to conclude that the possible revenue under the income tax provision of the tariff bill will range from twelve millions a year, at the lowest point, to thirty-nine millions at the highest point.

"I also conclude," he says, "that in the first year of its operation the lowest, rather than the highest possibility will be attained."

These conclusions were reached by Mr. Ford, after a study of the operations of the income tax law of 1865, and of the results reached by the operation of the laws in New York state and foreign countries. Calculating that the whole product of the income tax will be six times the amount collected in New York state, and computing the receipts in that state upon the basis of the operation of those features of the state laws which are similar to those in the proposed law, Mr. Ford says the total receipts would be about twelve million dollars.

He estimates that $340,000 per year will be derived from street railways, and $1,630,000 from steam railroad companies. After an elaborate examination of the workings of the income tax laws in Great Britain, Germany, Saxony, Switzerland, Italy, and France, Mr. Ford says:

"With the exception of incomes of less than $4,000 a year, and with other liberal exemptions granted under the Senate bill, the number of payers would be very small, and the revenue out of all proportion to the cost and difficulties of collection. Wherever an income tax has been in practice for any time, the small incomes, as well as the large, are taxed, and the small incomes yield the largest revenue to the state."

After trying various remedies, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, before I had finished the first bottle, I experienced great relief; the second bottle effected a complete cure."
