It gives us pleasure to announce to our lady friends that we have secured the services of Miss Bertha Champlain as head trimmer in our Millinery Department for the coming Fall season.

Miss Champlain has had seven consecutive seasons' experience with the firm of Oaks & Cahoun, Rochester, the leading milliners of that city, and is thoroughly conversant with every detail of the work. She leaves soon for New York city to spend two weeks studying the Fall Styles and purchasing stock.

Mr. E. A. Cottrell of this place was nominated by the Prohibitionists' last week for Superintendent of the Poor of this county. We presume Mr. Cottrell did not seek the nomination, and probably will not make any change in his business affairs with the expectation of being elected, but if he should receive a plurality of votes this county would have a model official in its poor department.

They tell of a small boy in Wellsville who crawled under the bed when his mother wanted him, so she left him there until his father returned in the evening. When the father came he was told of the case. He started to crawl under the bed to bring forth his disobedient son, but was nearly paralyzed when the little fellow screamed out, "Hello, papa; isn't after you, too?"

The Milkmaids' Convention opens Wednesday evening, Sept. 10, at Prest's opera house.
