The Excelsior Band of this place furnished music two days at the Cuba Fair last week, instead of one, as had been expected. The boys' music is strictly first-class.
Mrs. F. E. Comstock is again confined to her bed. Her case is extremely critical, and chances of recovery are slight. At present writing she is failing rapidly.
The Citizens' Hose Company of this place will attend the Firemen's Convention in Wellsville Sept. 26 and 27. They will be accompanied by the Excelsior Band.
Last Saturday evening lightning struck a stack of hay owned by F. O. Livermore. The stack stood about ten rods from Mr. Livermore's house and was entirely consumed.
A large number of people from various places were in Andover Saturday evening to listen to Rev. Anna Shaw, Wellsville, Whitesville, Alfred, Hartsville, Greenwood and other places were well represented.

Mr. Hubert Padden and family, who have resided in Cuba for about ten years past, have removed to his old home in Andover. They have made many friends in Cuba who will regret to lose them.—Cuba Patriot.
The finest peach we ever saw was shown us Monday by George Hartrum. It grew on his place this year, and measured ten inches in circumference and weighed one half pound. It is of the Early Crawford variety, and Mr. Hartrum proposes to raise more of them.
L. A. Burrows and Arthur Burrows went hunting yesterday morning. Their horse proved too "frisky" for the drivers, and when coming down the Slocum hill west of this village the animal became unmanageable and ran away. The buggy was overturned and both occupants were thrown out. Both were considerably bruised, L. A. Burrows suffering the most. It will be several days before he is as limber as usual.
Miss Frances E. Willard is very fond of bicycling. When she was at Chautauqua during the summer, one of the first things that she looked up was the bicycling school, and took several lessons during her short stay. She has decided opinions regarding the bloomer costume. "Lady Somerset and I both believe," she said "in such a reform in the dress of women as will make it more conformable to reason, but we neither of us have ever advocated bloomers, and on aesthetic grounds must oppose them. My own bicycling costume is a simple street dress, with the skirt shortened so that it clears the ground. We have neither of us ever advocated bloomers, but we both believe that the taste and skill of artistic modistes will yet evolve a costume for the bicyclist that shall meet the conditions of utility, comfort, and that third condition, which we consider especially important—beauty."
"An Intra-Mural View," a very artistic brochure has been received from The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, publishers of The Ladies Home Journal. At the title indicates, the booklet gives us glimpses of the interiors of the Journal's offices, and some idea of the work carried on there. The numerous illustrations, showing the commodious and well-fitted offices, and the accompanying text, giving us some insight into the work in the different bureaus, requiring a force approximately four hundred employes, indicate the wonderful success which The Ladies Home Journal has achieved in an amazingly short time. "An Intra-Mural View" will be sent to any one who will address The Curtis Publishing Company, and inclose four cents in stamps for postage.

Rev. Anna Shaw's Address.
Prest's opera house was filled to its capacity Saturday evening, by people who went to hear the great woman orator, Rev. Anna Shaw. Over one hundred and fifty extra seats were taken to the hall, and these, together with those provided by the management, were all filled. The address was listened to with strict attention by all, and it is safe to say that every person was deeply interested, if not converted to the speaker's way of thinking. Miss Shaw is entirely different from any speaker we ever listened to. She is the exemplification of wit and brilliancy, and expresses her thoughts in such a way as to send the argument home to every heart, and cut off every counter-argument before it is uttered. Any person who believes no good reason could be given for woman for wanting to vote thinks differently now, if he or she listened to Miss Shaw, for her address overflowed with the best of reasons. Leaving out the question of principles advocated, the speech was also thoroughly enjoyable in every way. Miss Shaw is eloquent, her command of language excellent, her manner charming, and it would well repay a person to go a long distance to hear her, simply for the enjoyment such an event would give.
If the Political Equality Club of Andover shall never more be seen or heard of, as an organization, its members are entitled to the lasting thanks of our people for bringing to this place so distinguished and able an orator as the Rev. Anna Shaw.
