The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Andover meets the first and third Thursday in each month.

Some of the benefits which will follow, directly or indirectly, from endowing women with equal suffrage will be:

1. The removal of that moral deformity of our civilization, the double standard of virtue.
2. The removal of that great injustice—unequal compensation—to women for work of the same value as that done by men.
3. The abolition of that great iniquity—the partnership of the government, through the license system, with the curse and crime of the liquor traffic; and the partnership between municipal government and vice which now exists to all our large cities.
4. Elevation of the standard of public life. If women were voters in Kentucky, the nation would be spared the insult of Breckenridge's candidacy.

As to all the fears which some good men have as to the effect upon women themselves of being voters, it is enough to say that all these apprehensions (the disruption of family life, etc.) were arrayed, years ago, against the education of women, and the dreaded evils never arrived!

When the queen of Madagascar shut up the saloons in her kingdom, and the ex saloon keepers asked for compensation, she replied, "Compensate those you have wronged, and I will pay the balance."

The measure of a nation's true success is the amount it has contributed to the thought, the moral energy, the intellectual happiness, the spiritual hope and consolation, of mankind. There is no other, let our candidates flatter us as we may. We still make a confusion between huge and great.

For every man, woman and child there was nearly one-half barrel of fermented liquor consumed in the United States last year.

The old pioneers are fast leaving the scenes of their early trials, and look longingly forward to the time when they can lay down life's weary burdens and be at rest.

Mr. Wm. Austin died very suddenly of heart disease last Friday morning. He ate his breakfast as usual, and remarked that he felt unusually well, and a short time afterwards he, in company with a little grandson, started out to feed the turkeys, which were kept in the barn a few rods distant, but he had to sit down when he reached the barn and complained of being cold, and the death sweat broke out at every pore. His son becoming anxious started for the barn, stripped off his own coat and wrapped it about his shivering parent, hitched up the team and took him to the house as quickly as possible, but the last words the old man said were, "I am so cold," and he soon expired. His age was about 67, and he was a hard working farmer, a kind hearted, genial, neighborly man, well liked by all who knew him. Funeral services were held at the house Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., the Presbyterian minister of Andover officiating. Interment in the S. D. B. cemetery at this place. He leaves an aged companion, two sons and four daughters, viz: Charles and Abram, Mrs. H. M. Clarke, Mrs. H. K. Bassett, of this town, Mrs. Will Barney of West Union, and Mrs. Jesse Snyder of Andover.

A large crowd of sympathetic acquaintances and friends attested their appreciation of the worth of the man by attending the obsequies.
