The association is the largest of its kind in Allegany county, and has been in existence twelve years, as well as favorably known in this and surrounding counties. Address to the stockholders: "We intend to build and pay for many more."

Wisner Cook's class of twelve young men in the M. E. Sunday School made him a surprise visit at his home about three miles east of this village, last evening. Mr. Cook had no suspicion that the event was to take place until the young men drove up to his house. They carried with them a fine easy chair which they left as a token of respect for their teacher. Mr. Cook treated his guests to warm sugar made from sap gathered this month. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and the boys say that for a royal good time no better place can be found than Mr. and Mrs. Cook's home.

The members of the class in china painting taught by Miss Adelaide C. Evans gave her a surprise supper last evening at the home of Mrs. F. S. Clark. The members of the class were Mrs. A. M. Burrows, Mrs. J. L. Williams, Mrs. Ella Bundy, Mrs. Emma Conn and Mrs. Clark. Mrs. J. C. Bassett and Mrs. G. W. Probasco were also present. The dishes used were, as far as possible, those decorated by the members in class, and as it was a four course supper, the number of dishes was not small. All present had an enjoyable time. Mrs. W. B. Bundy was also a member, but went away before the arrangements for the supper were completed.

Last Sunday at dusk a strange woman was noticed wandering about near the residence of Ira Kemp, west of this village. She would go from the road to the fields, and back to the road, with no apparent object in view. She entered Mr. Kemp's barn, but came out immediately, and resumed her unexplainable act. She was tracked some distance westward, then, evidently having taken the road, all trace of her was lost. Deputy Sheriff O'Donnell and others drove to Elm Valley, thinking to find a trace of her there, but none could be found. Later it was ascertained that Simeon Hann, who lives just this side of Elm Valley corners, had seen a woman pass his house. She stopped and looked into Mr. Howland's window, and went on. Who the woman is, and where she belongs, are mysteries yet unsolved, but from her actions she was evidently not in her right mind, and the purpose of searching for her was to take care of her and save her from possible danger of being frozen or starved.

Prange Bros. began cutting ice on the pond this week Monday. It is being loaded in cars and shipped to Hornellsville as fast as it is cut.

There were phonograph concerts at Prest's opera house Friday and Saturday evenings of last week. The entertainments came out at the big end of the horn, but were not a howling success financially, nevertheless.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brundage, who have resided in this place for some time past, have removed to their former home, Canistota. Mr. Brundage moved here to assist in caring for the late B. C. Brundage, which duties he performed until the death of the latter a few weeks ago.

If there were a little more snow on the ground, one of these moonlight nights would be just the time for the girls to take the boys sleighriding. We think we could be satisfied with the quantity of snow if one of those pretty girls we have in mind—but, then, she probably won't come.

The second quarterly meeting will be held in the M. E. church next Sunday. Love feast at 9:30 a. m., followed by the usual services, reception of members and the Lord's supper. Union service in the evening; subject of sermon, "Shirking Duty;" with a prelude on "Woman's Rights and Woman's Wrongs."

As will be seen by J. C. Ross' ad., that gentlemen is closing out his stock here with the intention of removing to LeRoy. Mr. Ross and his family have made many friends in Andover, and all will sincerely regret to see them leave town. We understand Mr. Ross will become interested in a cigar factory, and will spend at least a portion of his time traveling.

The Hornellsville Times says: "The Western Division of the Erie is to be double tracked next summer between Hornellsville and Andover and between Belvidere and Cuba. This came direct from the officials. Between Andover and Belvidere there are six or seven long iron bridges the widening of which involves a considerable outlay and expense and this portion of the road will probably not be double tracked until the year after next."

The ladies of the M. E. church conceived a novel idea of surprising their pastor and family. Knowing that several members of his family were stopping at home for a few days, they hurriedly got together, invited over forty members and friends of the church, prepared an elaborate supper in the dining room of the church, Saturday evening and announced to the household of the parsonage that "supper was waiting in the church." A more surprised family never was seen. Entering the room the guests found long tables laden with "viands of various kinds to allure the taste," and a large company of happy people. The pastor and family were given the seats of honor at the tables. After doing justice to the sumptuous meal, the evening was informally passed in song, pleasant chatting and getting acquainted. The occasion added another green spot to the memory of a minister's wife and children, and the originators and all concerned deserve this public mention and profound thanks for their kindness.
