A New York paper gives an account of a number of horses dying, which, on investigation, was found to have been caused by eating golden rod. As this plant grows wild in this part of the country, along roadsides, in the lots, and all over, this danger ought to be known to farmers and others who own horses.

One of the largest lumber and timber land deals in the history of Pennsylvania has just been consummated in Jamestown. It involves the timber right to three thousand acres of land in the vicinity of Friendsville, Somerset county, and twenty-one million feet of lumber. The purchasers include a number of Pennsylvania and New York state lumbermen.—Potter Enterprise.

A few nights ago burglars broke into the West Salamanca postoffice and secured about $140 in money and $100 in stamps. The money and stamps were kept in a wooden safe fastened with a padlock, which did not prove to be proof against the burglars' skill. The postmaster, N. A. Waite, has been very unfortunate since taking the office. It has been robbed twice and once completely destroyed by fire.

A twelve-year-old boy of Hammondsport recently broke one of his legs while riding down hill, and the limb was put into a plaster-of-paris cast. The child's sufferings were terrible for several days, when it was discovered that mortification had set in, and it became necessary to amputate the leg half way between the knee and ankle to prevent blood poisoning. The cast had been put on too tightly, and stopped circulation.

On the farm of William Doud stands today the oldest and probably the only old fashioned up and down saw mill now in use in the county of Allegany. It was built way back in the twenties, long before a circular saw for cutting lumber was thought of. It, of course, from time to time has been repaired, but is in all essentials the same as when put up, and what is more, is in good condition for business, and every year saws out quite a quantity of lumber.—Fillmore Observer.

A company has been organized under the laws of the State of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $55,000, to be known as the New York and New Jersey Potato Company (Limited). The company is composed of eleven whole sale firms and individuals who handle about 60 per cent. of all the potatoes that are sold at wholesale in the New York market. The object of the company is to control the marketing of New York State potatoes, which are received in bulk from distant points, so as to insure the members a fair profit and to enable the farmers to obtain a reasonable remunerative price for their potatoes. When potatoes were sold on commission the rate of commission was from 15 to 25 cents on a barrel. This company proposes hereafter to sell all the potatoes it handles at a uniform commission of 10 cents on a barrel and not buy crops on speculation, as has been the custom in the past.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Andover meets the first and third Thursday in each month.

The income of all the missionary societies of the world is stated to be about $14,000,000 a year. The United States government has recently resolved on an expenditure of something over that sum on three battleships and twelve torpedo boats. An English exchange compares these sums with football receipts, which in England alone amount to $20,000,000 per year. There is a sermon in these figures.

A young woman of Washington, D. C., was recently sent to the workhouse for fifteen days for smoking a cigarette on the streets. It would be inconvenient, for obvious reasons, to visit with like punishment all the young men and boys who smoke cigarettes on the streets, but why this special discrimination against a woman?

There are no more forceful utterances apropos of the great cause than those of Col. George W. Bain. In a public lecture he said: "Take out every saloon and put a school in its place, take out every distillery and put a church in its place, take out every brewery and put a W. C. T. U. in its place, and this would soon be the wealthiest and most prosperous nation on the face of the earth. Now for every dollar we spend for schools we spend ten for saloons, and for every dollar for churches ten for saloons. The whole system is a chain."
