England's newest acquisition, the principality of Chitral, in North India, has been formally placed under its new Mehtar, the lad Shuja-ul-Mulk. The installation was purposely made teremonious to impress the Chitralis with the fact that Great Britain still tolds the reins. Till the young Prince comes of age the Indian Government will appoint his Misisters, while a British political agent will reside at Chitral, and the British garrison will provide the Mehtar's guard.

The tone of the German press toward France is always interesting, out has never been more so, even in its fiercest days, declares the New York Herald, than during the last month, since the official acceptance of the National invitation to be represented at the Paris Fair in 1900. The Tagblatt professes to see in the accepted invitation an indication that peace for many years will continue and a possibility of complete reconciliation ultimately, which last, to a foreign student of the Franco-German situation, appears the wildest of philanthropic dreams.

The latter made desthe Dervishes. The latter made desperate efforts to recapture the boats, but a heavy fire was poured into them by the troops and the gunboats and they were finally compelled to abandon their attempts to regain possession of the boats and their cargoes. After their defeat the entire Dervish force redefeat the entire Dervish force re-treated southward upon Dongola. At the same time the expedition's steam-ers started for the same place, and being the quicker, reached there before the Dervishes. The city was found to be deserted by warriors and the steamers at once landed a force of in-fantry to hold it until the arrival of fantry to hold it until the arrival of the main body of the expedition. At the time the dispatch was sent the Dervishes were approaching Dongola Dervishes were approaching hongoverland, and scouts reported that they were carrying many of their wounded with them. Included among their wounded are some of the most noted chiefs. It is expected that as the Dervishes are without food or other stores that they will make a most desperate attempt to get possession of Dongola. El Hafir was not taken by the troops until after a most stubborn resistance on the part of the Dervishes had been overcome. The riflemen of the latter than the behind well made mind forts. overcome. The riflemen of the latter fought behind well made mud forts and in trenches that were strewn with These defences, however, were soon wrecked by the heavy fire of the Egyptian artillery and the Maxin battery that was manned by the Connaught rangers. The Dervishes stood the fire brayely but were finally comthe fire bravely but were manly com-pelled to withdraw from the place. Their cavalry took no part in the en-gagement, remaining some distance off in the desert watching the result of the battle. When the British and Egyptians landed the entire force re-treated southward.

Dervishes Were Outwitted.

London, Sept. 21.—The correspond-ent of the Daily News who is with the ent of the Daily News who is with the Soudan expedition telegraphs that in the attack on El Hafir the [Dervishes were outwitted. They all advanced on land to meet the troops, thus permit-ting the gunboats to slip past the town, sink one of their steamers, and hurry on to Dongola. When the Dervishes saw the move they turned and tried to overtake the gunboats and save Don-gola, but the land forces of the expedi-tion headed them off. The Staffordtion headed them off. The Stafford-shire regiment will follow the gunboats to Dongola, and thus the Dervishes will to Dongola, and thus the Dervishes wil be placed between two fires. Wac Bishara, the leader of the Dervishes was wounded at El Hafir. He was car ried outside the range of the guns. A prisoner states that when he saw tha he was defeated he exclaimed: "Allah is against me!"
