JUDIGIAL SCANDAL

ion Likely To Be Removed.

Washington, Oct. 17 .- The attorney general has taken cognizance of a scandal, that has long prevailed in this city. It has been well understood for a long time that a suit for debt brought before almost any one of the justices of the peace in Washington would result in a verdict for the plaintiff in every case where there was a chance for collecting the money, and the impression has been widely spread that the attorneys practicing before these courts "pooled their issues" and divided their fees. Attorney General Harmon, , it is officially stated, is now considering the question of recommending the removal of certain justices of the peace of the District of Columbia, upon the report of the examiner who recently investigated their methods in cases of landlords against tenants, to recover possession of rented property. It appears from the report that the practice of issuing summons in such cases is in direct violation of the statute, has been the common practice of some of the justices. It also appears from the report that this law is very much abused: that it is not used to obtain possession of property, but merely as process to enforce the payment of rent; i that in many cases judgment by default is given as a matter of course London.
