Hope promised to conquer from fate, Left all for the agonized burden Of death for the Flag of the State."

To all veterans of the War for the Union and to many civilians, Memo- V() rial Day is the most important, the most interesting of our days of public observance. Many towns annually vote an appropriation for the proper observance of the day. Our own town has not yet done so. The burden of labor and outlay has been! sustained by the Grand Army Post, supplemented by financial aid from some of cur patriotic citizens; but the veterans themselves have borne the brunt. Ought not our living herces to receive, by vote of their townsmen, at the coming annual town meeting, financial assistance in doing memorial honors to our dead heroes? Is recognition, in the form of an appropriation of a sum sufficient to defray the necessary expenses of the day, anything more than a just tribute to our soldiers, living and dead? Think of it.

the twentieth time in the history of the United States, Senators and Representatives met in solemn conclave, Wednesday, Feb. 10th, to declare the vote which silently transfers the Gov. ernment of a great nation from one set of rulers to another. The Capitol was crowded in anticipation of the ceremony which was to mark the vented confusion or the intrusion of uninvited visitors. The spectators of day, but excellent arrangements prethe count were largely the members of Congressmen's families and their intimate friends, the galleries, by resolution, having been reserved for their use. One section, of about 200 seats, was thrown open to the public. At 1:50 the official count was announced as follows: For President of the United States, William McKinley 271; William J. Bryan 176. For Vice President of the United States, Garrett A. Hobart 271; Arthur Sewall 149; Thomas E. Watson 27. The Vice President thereupon declared William McKinley and Garrett A. Hobart respectively elected President and Vice President of the United The Up-to-date Jeweler. A burst of handelapping followed this statement, and the great audience quietly dispersed.

The Buffalo Express has this to say concerning Fred A. Robbins:

"There is one man in the Legis. lature who, if he had been placed at the head of the trust committee, would have inspired confidence and ould have been taken seriously. He Assemblyman Fred A.
