The year 1898 has been one of ex ceptional and abounding prosperiti for the Post Office Department of the United States. The postal revenues have increased at a greater rate than ever before. It is expected that the total income of the department will exceed $100,000,000; it has never previously been higher than $82,000, ooo in one year. It is, moreover, ex pected that the postal revenues for the year will exceed by fully $5,000,000 the expenditures of the department.
