A QUER RAILROAD.
Nantucket Was One Night Miles Long and Had One Person Carried a Pass.
"A rather curious and very economically managed railroad is the Nantucket Central, which runs between Nantucket and Blauvelt, a distance of about eight miles," remarked an old resident of Martha's Vineyard to a Washington Star writer recently. "A round-trip ticket on this road costs 60 cents for the passenger and 80 cents for his trunk. A second trunk is carried for 30 cents and a third for 20 cents, but as the schedule allows for only three trunks the conductor has on several occasions ruled that at the fourth trunk he must begin over again at 80 cents."

side he champions it sure to be victorious in the tennis contests. Any fine afternoon when there is a tennis game in progress Willie Howard is very conspicuous. He is regarded by some of the best tennis experts as the forerunner of good luck. One day lately Willie was in great demand. It is said his services were bid for long before the champion tennis contests began at the Kenwood Country Club.

"My baby was born with cholera," says J. H. Deas of Williams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by Benedict & Van Noy, Andover, and N. E. Coston, Greenwood.

out baby was born with cholera... the stomach... of Deming, Ind. "The baby was moved from here to eight miles a day, had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his house and gave him four drops in teaspoonful of water and he got better at once." The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. Benedict & Van Noy, Andover; E. Breeze, Elm Valley.

MISFORTUNE CAME IN CLOUDS.
New Jersey Family Was Visited by an Extraordinary Series of Mishaps.
Francis Fielder, who lives at Turkey, a small village near New Brunswick, N. J., is wondering why misfortune is persistently pursuing him and his family, says the New York World.
Recently his son Edward fell from a scaffolding at Long Branch and was so badly hurt that for a long time his life was despaired of.
Then Mrs. Fielder slipped from the stoop of her home, breaking her collar bone and several ribs.
The next day Mr. Fielder slipped on some loose hay and fell out of the mow. He was shaken up so badly that he had to keep in his bed for several days.
Next a favorite horse died of glanders and all his live stock had to be quarantined and the outbuildings disinfected.
While this was being done a message was received from a son, at Asbury Park, announcing that he had lost a horse by theft.
The younger son, Garfield, was the next victim of the family Nemesis. He was riding his wheel to work when he ran into a chicken and was thrown against a post, having a collar bone broken and a shoulder dislocated.
Now that all the members of the family and most of the live stock have been victims of misfortunes in one way or another, Mr. Fielder hopes the fates have been satisfied and that brighter days are about to dawn.

TEN AGES OF WOMEN.
They Pass Through Stages of Seven Years and Then Await the End.
It is held by a recent writer on woman that the seven stages of her life may be reckoned as composed of multiples of seven. The first seven years are infancy, the second seven childhood, the third seven girlhood, the fourth seven brings a fully developed womanhood. From 28 to 35—the fifth seven—might be called the infancy of age, for in those years one learns to exercise the faculties and perceptions that have been developed in the previous groups. Up to the age of 42 the lessons go on. Character is being matured and fixed, the definite trend of life established. After that few changes are made in the real person. Slight variations and modifications of opinion there may be, but nothing deep or vital is likely to transform the life.
The common phrases, "a confirmed old bachelor," and "a confirmed old maid," applied to unmarried men and women over 40 are tacit admissions of that fact, intimating that mental and physical habits are so strongly rooted that the adaptability of earlier years has ceased to exist, and the person is incapable of adjustment to a new environment. The tale goes on. Fifty-six, a sturdy middle life; 63, the encroachment of age; 70, the span of existence—the decade of sevens, beyond which lies a mere waiting for the end.

ONE-LEGGED BALL PLAYER.
Eight-Year-Old Boy Runs Bases Without the Aid of His Crutch.
Members of the Kenwood Country club have a mascot in Willie Howard, the one-legged baseball player, says a Chicago paper. The little fellow, eight years of age, is considered one of the most expert amateur ball players on the south side. He manages to run the bases on one leg. Of late the young man has frequently been asked to appear on the tennis grounds. It is said that whatever

DANGEROUS TO GET ANGRY.
Paroxysms Have Frequently Resulted in Death or Mortal Injury.
A study of anger from experiences in about 2,000 cases, collected from reliable observers, has been made by G. Stanley Hall. The causes were many and various, and often being trivial, and the physical sensations accompanying it differed greatly with the individual, says Strey Stories.
Flushing was very general, although pallor was a characteristic in 27 per cent. of the cases. The heart beats were violent, several cases of death from rupture of this organ being reported, and there were sometimes peculiar sensations in mouth and throat, sometimes dizziness or faintness, frequently tears, and generally copious salivation, which might produce frothing at the mouth.
Common sounds were animal-like cries in children, and oaths and threats in adults, while in many cases the throat was paralyzed and there was inability to speak above a whisper, or without crying or trembling; Butting with the head, biting and scratching are noticeable in childish anger.

HABIT IN A HORSE'S WORK.
A Contractor's Animal That Was Useless When a Groceryman Bought Him.
"When I retired from the contracting business a short time ago," said a well known man, relates the New York Sun, "I had a number of horses that I was anxious to dispose of; among them was one named Jerry, which for several years had been used to working on the drum. In such work a horse becomes accustomed to lifting his feet high to avoid striking the hoisting ropes. When the horses were put under the hammer Jerry went to a Harlem grocer.
"About a week later the purchaser of Jerry called at my house and told me he had a lot of trouble with the horse. He said that Jerry would go a short distance when he would stop short and lift his feet high, and after doing this would go a little further only to repeat it again. I told the grocer why the horse stopped short and lifted his feet and also advised him to look up some contractor and sell the animal to him for hoisting purposes. He did so, notifying me that he received a larger price than he paid me for the horse."
