They believed his case manca. House conference is a growth of the and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, Leisvill views upon them. It has been pursued , during the term of President Roosevelt, who is often in consultation with the leaders of his party in both houses, and the conference is quite a regular thing. Sometimes it is held in the daytime before and after cabinet meetings or when a number of senators and representatives happen to be at the executive end of Pennsylvania avenue to discuss other matters with the president. But the real conferences, the ones that are held for the purpose of getting together on any particular subject, are held in the evening. Then senators and representatives drop in anywhere between 8 and 10 o'clock, or, if it is a spe-
