COMPOUND INTEREST

The trouble with most advertisers is that they expect immediate returns of large proportions. One prominent advertiser illustrates the principle of advertising in this way:

"The money expended for advertising is the same as if placed at interest. The profits from the advertising are virtually the interest on the investment.

"The sums spent for advertising are properly chargeable to capital account because the resulting good will is something that tising has been properly done, can usually be sold for the face value of the investment. "The rate of interest is determined by the skill with which the investment is made. "Just as the quickest way 1 increase invested wealth 1. compounding the interest, just a the quickest way to realize re sults from advertising is to compound the returns."-Advertising Experience.
