An Odd Fellow's Temple.

The Cuba Free Press says that at the last meeting of Cuba Lodge, No. 691, I. O. O. F., a committee was appointed to investigate the matter of erecting an Odd Fellow's Temple in Cuba. The committee will look up available sites for such a building, estimate as to cost, etc. If the Odd Fellows should decide to erect a Temple, we understand the building would be a two or three story brick; the first floor to be rented for merchantile purposes and the upper floors to be used by the Lodge. Cuba people sincerely hope the Odd Fellows may decide to engage in this most commendable enterprise.

An Andover Woman Asks

"Have you a floor paint that will last two weeks?" Yes we have Devco's; it has a beautiful gloss and will wear two years if properly applied.

ODD FELLOWSHIP

Seventy Members Enjoy Banquet in Celebration of

ITS EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY

An Evening of Unusual Enjoyment Passed at Which Rev. V. L. Eggleston Gave the Following Address.

Ladies and Gentlemen:
I am grateful for the courtesy by which I am permitted to address you, and I request your indulgence while I speak of Odd Fellowship as its teachings have impressed me during an active membership of six years.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows is a product of this Republic, the first lodge of which was instituted in 1819 by a then obscure man amidst difficult surroundings with only five witnesses to its birth. It came as the offspring of necessity, produced by the lack of fraternal duty and love; and when it was proclaimed by its humble author from the lowly place of its birth, skepticism and doubt assailed it, rejected it with derision, as the conditions it was created to relieve were treated by influences ever at war with right and justice. It was different with those who were pinched by misfortune and driven in the maelstrom of misery that swept like a simoon over their hope and destiny. They looked upon it as a Bethlehem of the western world, as an evangel with open palms tearing from the faces of the distressed the curtain of misery darkening their lives to redeem afflicted homes from penury and ignorance. The generous and wise accepted the new birth and its baptismal creed as the harbinger of true fraternity, the forerunner of mutual relief; but it was the poor and needy, the sick and distressed and the helpless women and children who marveled to know the ministering angel that came with such healing upon its wings, bringing gladness to them, and the answer in their new-made and joyful hearts christened it Odd Fellowship. From then until now it has been animated by such practical purposes and deeds, as its religion and faith. It has done more to illustrate true friendship, symbolize honorable love and exemplify abiding truth in the fraternalization of man than any other agency ever brought forth from the hand of time.

It was indeed a temple of humanity dedicated to fraternity, a fraternity in the family of man, to foster and hasten the period when universal love would cement in one bond a belief in the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man. And who was the builder of this temple? No pomp of heraldry emblazoned his hitherto obscure name. No hereditary honors glittered around his brow. A stranger in a strange land whose footprints on American soil were made as the roar of England's cannon was still resounding in the capital of the young Republic and the dying echoes were still reverberating around the place selected as the home of fraternal love, where was cradled a fellowship born of a heart imbued with justice and true benevolence. He was unlearned in books, but wise in nature's lessons; unacquainted with literature, yet tons of it are printed and diffused to teach the world what was said and done by him. His heart, touched by affliction, had drunk deep of the waters of life and he stood forth redeemed and disenthralled from the bigoted prejudice of caste and the curse of selfishness.

In such spirit and such heart, he, Thomas Wilkey, fresh from the forge, organized a fraternal revolution that has now its followers in every clime, bound in a loving brotherhood as strong as hoops of steel can fasten the adamantine hills. I am proud of my connection with this great Order, which I believe is held to be the greatest among Fraternal Orders as it certainly is the most progressive. I think this can be truthfully said without injustice to the other Orders. We do not of course lay claim to the antiquity of the grand old Masonic Order; but in all the essentials of brotherhood and fraternity, we are certainly their equals. I can illustrate this point perhaps better by a little story. A little girl asked her father, "Papa what is a primitive Christian?" "Why" he said "One of the old Christians, one of the first Christians, one of the ancient Christians," to which the little girl answered somewhat regretfully, "Then we are not primitive Christians are we papa?" "No, we are not." Then the little girl after a moment's thought brightened up and said, "But we get there just the same, don't we, papa?" That girl will be a good Rebekah some of these days. And so it can be truthfully said of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, that altho we do not have the antiquity and many of the ancient rites and ceremonies, yet, "We get there just the same."

Our brotherhood stands for the noblest principles in the world, Friendship, Love and Truth.

There could be placed before men no worthier ideal than yours to beckon them forward to high thinking and noble achievement. Based upon such principles your order is one of the great beneficent forces at work in human society, breaking down the barriers that separate between man and man, and ushering in the brotherhood of humanity that is to be. In the very midst of a selfish and almost brutal struggle for money and power, this is the mandate of your order: "We command you to visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead and educate the orphan." You stand therefore resolutely opposed to all forms of self-seeking and self-indulgence; you stand for kindly, loving, self-forgetful service to your fellow men.

In the very midst of widespread indifference to the duty of free investigation; in the very midst of shallow, insincere conformity to custom and traditionage and of even violent an-

Against the Law to Kill Ducks Now.

For the information of some who perhaps are ignorant of the fact, the News publishes herewith the law regulating the killing of wild ducks. It is as follows: "Ducks, geese, brant, or swan shall not be taken from Jan. 1st to Sept. 15th, both inclusive, (as amended by Section 1 of Chapter 256, laws of 1903).

Lucy Stone Election.

A business meeting of the Lucy Stone Club will be held with Mrs. Backus, Tuesday afternoon, May 3, at 3 o'clock. Election of officers and amendment of the constitution of the society are among the important items of business to be considered.

To Organize a Band.

A meeting of musicians, and would be musicians, was held Monday evening in the effort to organize a band. Fourteen were present and it was thought advisable to make an effort in that direction provided sufficient musical talent can be had. Another meeting is called for tonight, the outcome of which will be given our readers next week.

Notice.

The Legislative Session for the year 1904, having adjourned on April 25th, I will hereafter be in my office at Andover, N. Y., and devote my entire time to the practice of the law.
Dated Andover, N. Y., Apr. 20, 1904. J. S. PHILLIPS. 18

CANNON BROTHERS

DEPARTMENT STORE

Two Fifty Shoes At Two Dollars

Over a hundred pairs of Ladies' Shoes, direct from the factory in Kid and Patent Leather, including all the Spring Shapes. Several styles distinctively new. Their real value is $2.50, but they go at $2.00 as a leader in the Shoe Department. Every size and width—the wear guaranteed.

Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits

There is something about the "tailor-made" that distinguishes them, yet is hard to describe. The Suits we show have all the style and fit that can possibly be put into a garment. We have been looking around some and know that our prices are lower than those of out-of-town stores by 10 to 25 per cent. We buy directly from the manufacturer saving all jobbers' profits, besides being able to get garments specially made when we cannot fit from stock. If you need a suit it will be to your advantage to call on us.

W. B. Erect Form

Is the very newest idea in Corsets. Women who dress with the mode and who follow prevailing fashions cannot wear any other style of garment. The lines in dress this season make the use of this corset imperative. Made with long hips which produce a perfectly even and smooth effect.

$1.00 Each.

House Dresses

Great stock of Percale Wrappers in Navy, Red, Grey and Black. Well made nicely trimmed. Our order was placed before the rise in cotton, which accounts for the price—$1.00 Each.

Acorn Waists

20 styles of white and colored, priced from 50c to $3.00. The choicest ones are being picked, are you going to be left?

Fancy Hosiery

New embroidered and drop stitch effects for men and women at 10 to 25c. Children's Stockings at 10 and 15c, that for wear equal those usually sold at double the price. Try them and see.
