the first comptroller of the currency, addressing the national banks, once said:

"Do nothing to foster and encourage speculation. Give facilities only to legitimate and prudent transactions. Distribute your loans rather than concentrate them in a few hands. Pursue a straightforward, upright, legitimate banking business. Treat your customers, liberally, bearing in mind that the bank prospers as its customers prosper."

This bank has endeavored to follow the advice of this great financier in the conduct of its every day business. As to our consistency in so doing, we refer you to those with whom we transact business; as to the success whichthis policy has attained, we refer you to our published statements.

We offer to all unsurpassed facilities in the handling of checking and interest accounts; we want your business and feel confident that you, like others, will feel satisfied with the treatment you receive.

The use of our fire proof vault for the safe keeping of valuable papers is offered to our depositors free of charge.
