Pay by Check

Persons who have never had a bank account often think it a very complicated affair. On the contrary it is very simple. When you deposit your money in this bank we give you a pass book showing the amount of your deposit, also a check book. These checks are merely orders on the bank to pay a certain sum to a designated person or firm. When properly endorsed the check is paid, cancelled and returned to you a valid receipt showing amount, date and to whom paid.

Any additional information you may desire regarding the check plan of protecting your income cheerfully furnished.

SENATOR STILLWELL INDICTED FOR BRIBERY

Grand Gury Found Indictment Where Fellow Senators Acquitted. Trial Next Week.

New York, May 12.—State Senator Stephen J. Stillwell, indicted today by the grand jury for bribery on charges preferred by George A. Kendall, President of the New York Bank Note Company, on which charges he was exonerated by the State Senate after a hearing at Albany, surrendered in the office of Distreit Attorney Whitman late this afternoon. He was immediately taken before Justice Seabury and informed the court that his failure to appear earlier in the day was occasioned by the illness of his counsel, State Senator McClelland, Attorney J. B. Wilson, temporarily retained by the indicted senator, requested and was granted adjournment in pleading until to-morrow morning. Bail in the sum of $5,000 was furnished by Stillwell.

District Attorney Whiteman today indicated that Senator Stillwell would be placed on trial wtihin the next week or ten days.

"The case of Senator Stillwell is of paramount importance," said the District Attorney, "and I am prepared to prosecute it as soon as the case of police Sergeant Peter J. Duffy, charged with bribery, is disposed of."

ATTEMPT TO WRECK ERIE TRAIN.

Twice Within a Week Scrap Iron and Stone Were Placed on Tracks Near Patterson, N. J.

Paterson, N. Y., May 12.—Another attempt to wreck a train on the Erie Railroad was made tonight, similar to the one frustrated Saturday when the Chicago Express ran into a pile of rocks, but without leaving the rails. Tonight scrap iron and rocks were placed by persons unidentified on the tracks eight miles north of the city. The engineer of a local train saw the obstruction in time to stop a few yards away. He was proceeding slowly in obedience to orders issued as a result of the incident Saturday. A letter of the black hand type was received by the Erie board of directors a week ago threatening accidents on the road if trains continue to stop "for the accommodation of the scabs of Paterson."

Detectives assigned to the case assumed that this communication was from silk mill strikers or sympathizers and have been guarding the track in the vicinity of the city.

New Free Library Building Opening

The Formal Reception at the New Home of Andover Free Library Tuesday Night was a Pronounced Success.

"Isn't it just splendid," was the expression heard from every corner of the new library building Tuesday evening, at the public reception given in honor of the opening of the Andover Free Library's new home. That sentence fit the occasion better than any other, and the large crowd of Andover people entering the completed and well furnished library for the first time were not slow in forming the words.

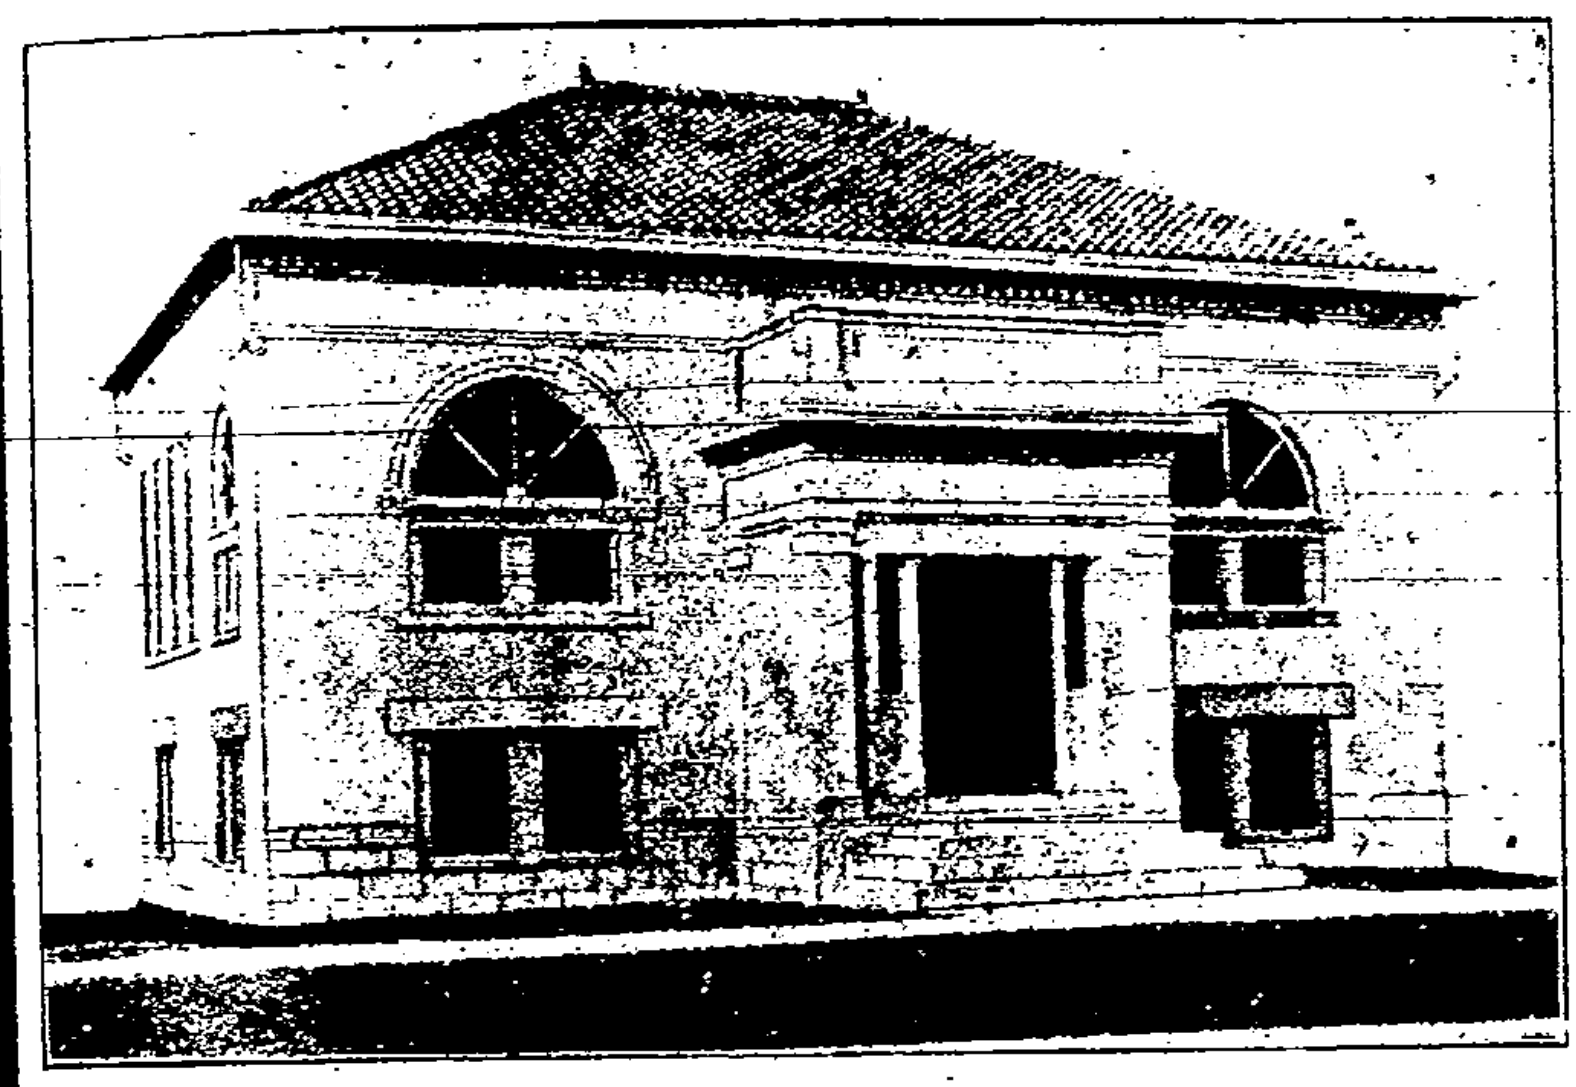
The public reception was a great success in every particular. The simplicity of the affair, together with the cosmopolitan spirit entered largely into the pleasure of the occasion.

The reception committee, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brundage, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. John Common, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Brundage, Mrs. Roxanna Burrows, Mrs. Gertrude Burrows, and Mrs. Addie Coleman, had a hearty welcome for all. The Bloss Orchestra rendered a fine instrumental program. The decorating committee consisting of Mrs. J. E. Cannon and Mrs. Gertrude Burrows, had the rooms tastily decorated with potted plants and flowers, whille the entire ensembale were served fruited punch in the assembly room in the basement.

Of our new library building Andover people justly feel proud. It is a beauty, both from the exterior and interior, and reflects much crdeit upon the officers and trustees of Andover Free Library, and the architect and contractor who constructed the building. While we are jubliant over the possession of our fine new building, we also appreciate thefact that but for the generous donation received, the new library building in Andover would not now exist. Frankly the whole beautiful structure is a gift to Andover people. Andrew Carnegie gave $8,000 toward its construction. Mrs. J. M. Brundage gave the site, which is not only in the central part of the village, but one of the most valuable sites on Main street.

A fine modern library building, well equipped and furnished, has been the dream of those most interested in the wllfare of the Andover Free Library since its organization in 1899. This dream has now become a reality. The building stands on South Main street, on the lot formerly known as the B. C. Brundage lot, between the Andover State Bank building and the News Printing House. It is of fire-proof construction, 47 feet on Main street and 34 feet deep. It is built of buff brick, trimmed with gray brick, and has a tile roof. It has one story and a basement. The main floor will be entirely occupied as a library room. The basement has an assembly room, trustees room, and furnace room. All floors are of re-enforced concrete. The wood work, furniture and book racks are all harmoniously finished in golden oak, and the walls are decorated in terra cotta.

A short history of Andover Free Library at this time will be of interest.



ANDOVER'S NEW LIBRARY BUILDING

History of Andover Free Library

A co-operative library having 105 volumes was organized in 1896. It had eighty-two subscribers. This run a year or so, when the members seemed to lose interest in it, as there were no new books being added, and it was decided to donate the books to the Lucy Stone Club and Hawthorne Club who were at that time laying the foundation for a free library. The tender of the books was accepted by the women constituting the membership of the two clubs and a meeting of all the women interested in the movement for a free library was called to lay plans to solicit books and funds for that purpose. This meeting was held on the evening of November 19, 1898, at the M. E. church. Mrs. E. B. Fries, of Friendship, was present and assisted in the movement by answering questions and explaining the way the Friendship Free Library was started. Later a soliciting committee was appointed who divided the territory into divisions and made a systematic canvass for pledges of money and books. The result of this solicitation together with the untiring efforts of the clubs and various woman organizations, suppers, entertainments and benefits, held in the interest of the library, made possible the organization of the Andover Free Library Association on October 15, 1899. The organization meeting was held at G. A. R. Hall and the following persons were elected the first trustees: Jesse L. Grantier, H. A. Benedict, Miss Bell Brundage, Mrs. Thomas McTighe and Mrs. H. C. Coleman.

The library started with 214 books, valued by State Inspector Eastman at $150, together with books obtainable from the State to the amount of $75.00 and $184.00 in cash.

To-day Andover Free Library has over 3,000 books which are loaned and 400 reference books that may be consulted in the library. Last year there was loaned from the library 9,451 books.

C. E. Brown, Andover's popular furniture dealer, donated a fine seven piece wicker set to the assembly room of the new library, Tuesday evening, at the opening.

The following have kindly donated books to the Andover Library during the past year: Mr. A. B. Richardson, Mrs. L. C. Van Woert, Mr. J. Comstock, Walter Perry.

BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZING

Meeting Held Monday Very Enthusiastic

In response to a notice in last week's News, fourteen gentlemen gathered at the play room parlors of the Young People's Club, Monday evening, and discussed the needs of Andover, from many angles. It was the sense of those present that the first step was to organize an association of some kind, and for that purpose J. E. Cannon, E. D. Baker, B. S. Brundage, C. L. Earley, H. B. Williams and F. W. Burrows were appointed a committtee to arrange a plan for organization and perfect constitution and by laws.

The gentlemen will again meet Tuesday evening of next week to listen to the report of the committee.

WILL BUILD GOOD ROADS OR NONE

The Order of Commissioner Carlile is "A Dollar's Worth of Road for Every Dollar Expended."

Albany, May 15.—"New York state should have the best highways in the world; no one familiar with the conditions believe it has been getting them. At two referendums the people have voted to expend $100,000,000 in the construction of good roads, and they have a right to insist that the highways be improved. But until I am satisfied that roads will be built which will give the people a dollar in value for every dollar invested in them, I am not going to approve of further construction."

This is the answer John N. Carlisle, commissioner of highways, has made to thousands of inquiries from all sections of the State as to when construction work would be commenced and when new contracts for higaway improvement would be let. So insistent are the people of New York for good roads that Mr. Carlisle said recently it seemed to him that they were all most ready to take poorly constructed roads rather than none at all.

No Long Delay

"I do not believe there will be any long delay before construction work can be resumed," continued Mr. Carlisle. "For the first time in the history of highway work of the state a thorough study will be made of conditions relating to both soil and climate, and an effort will be made to obtain the best type of construction. I believe that the state is fortunate in having obtained the services of two men so eminent and experienced in highway work as Colonel William De Washington and Harold Parker. Mr. Parker is perhaps the most experienced road builder in this country and has, in the highways of Massachusetts, erected a monument to his skill and ability.

"I only ask that the people be patient for a little while and they will be the gainers by it. Instead of building highways one summer that will go to pieces before the next Spring, we are now going to try and find a type of road that will give lasting qualities and then with a slight maintenance charge can be kept in repair for a long time. If we can solve that problem the people of the state can well afford to wait a little while before the new construction work begins.

Disorganized Department

"No man not familiar with the conditions can understand how disorganized this department was when I became commissioner. Although it was, and is now, spending on an average of $50,000 per day, there was no system in its office work and mail was received at the post office in five private letter boxes. No on thing surprised me more than the fact that this department, charged with the expenditures of $100,000,000 in construction of new highways, had no facilities for making a scientific study of road construction.

"There was nothing resembling a library; no scientific or engineering papers treating with road construction were taken, and instead of having the experience of men in other states who had met and solved some of the same problems, this department was proceeding, without any information except what it obtained by experience, to reconstruct the highway system of the state.

Much Money Wasted

"It is not necessary to tell the people that with this lack of system, and with this slipshod method of doing business, that money has been wasted. There is evidence of it in every county where highways have been constructed. Not even the engineers believe that some of the roads, if built according to contract, would stand the traffic, but it was expected that the contracts would be modified by supplemental agreements, and in nearly every instance this was done.

"It may be necessary for me to approve some supplemental agreements and contracts that have already been let, but on contracts that are entered into the future the work will be done according to specifications.

Delay Will Pay

"So, from every viewpoint, it is better that they shall be a slight delay in beginning the construction work this year than to have it proceed in the unscientific and unsystematic way in which it has been done in the past.

"When the committee of engineers have completed their study of soil and climate conditions, have prepared new specifications, and have put the engineering end of highway construction on a better basis than it has ever been before, then the work of building good roads in this state can be taken up with some assurance to the people that they are going to have highways that will last and which will be a credit to this state, which has been more liberal than any other in the expenditure of money for the benefit of all the people in this way."

GAVE BOLIVAR TEAM HARD DRUBBING

Andover High School Team Win Easy Game from Oil Town High School. Score 11 to 0.

Andover High School Base Ball Team chalked up another victory to its credit last Saturday. The boys took the overland unlimited to Bolivar, and the speed mania brought on by the oder of gasoline continued throughout the nine innings of the fray. Our boys put up the snappiest kind of an argument. James Richardson baffled the opposition with his peculiar perambulations. Jimmie does not pose as a strike out king, but he does know how to make pseudo Wagners but easy grounders to the infield. He saves his strike out stuff for emergencies. Backus, behind the log caught one of his best games. His deadly throw to second discouraged many an embryo raffles. But three balls were hit to the outfield while Bolivar batted. Hardy gobbled up the two which came his way and Emery would have had the other one if he had not become lost in a wood church hole out in the right field.

It took our boys two or three innings to get used to the dope ball served up by the Bolivar moundsman. But when they did solve the puzzle, it was all off with the game. Backus and J. Richardson poled out two baggers and H. Boyd returned to form by giving the outfielders plenty of exercise.

The diamond was graced by the presence of those two eminent arbitrators White Sox Dougherty and our own Leo Snyder. Never was umpiring any more satisfactory.

Memorial Day Program Arranged

Local Camp Sons of Veterans Have all Arrangements Completed for Fitting Observance of Memorial Day.

Memorial Day occurs this year on Friday, one week from to-day. This year the newly organized camp of Sons of Veterans will have charge of the services for the first time in Andover, and are making every arrangement to have the day observed in a fitting manner. The group of G. A. R. "boys" in Andover, as in other places, is getting very thin, scarcely a dozen are left out of a former membership of nearly eighty members.

The regular Sunday evening Memorial sermon will be delivered by Pastor Clyde Ehret, at the Seventh Day Baptist church. Members of Edward Seamon Post, G. A. R., Ladies of the Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans will attend the service in a body, marching from G. A. R. Hall to the church at 7:15.

On Friday, May 30th, every business place and home in Andover should be decorated with flags in fitting commemoration of the day and the memory of the departed comrades laid at rest. The program of the day will be as follows:

In the forenoon committees will visit the various outlaying cemeteries and decorate the graves of soldiers and sailors.

At 1:15 in the afternoon the line of march will be formed at the G. A. R. Hall. The order of the line will be:

The Andover Band
Sons of Veterans, Escort
Edward Seaman Post, G. A. R.
Flower Girls, Escort
Ladies of the Relief Corps
School Children lead by Instructors
Civic Organizations
Citizens

The march will lead to Hillside cemetery, and the regular G. A. R. ritualistic ceremonies will be read by the officers of the Post, and Prayer by Rev. W. H. Randall. The line of march will reform and go to the Auditorium where the following program will be given. The Auditorium will be open to the public until the G. A. R. and children are seated:

Selection by the Band
Prayer, Clyde Ehret
Reading Orders, Adjutant.
Solo, Howard Richardson
Roll of Honor, U. W. Stratton
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Rev. H. B. Williams
Solo, Miss Minnie Clair
Address, Rev. H. D. Bacon
"America." Congregation, lead by band.

HAWTHORNE CLUB OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of the Hawthorne Club Monday evening, officers of the year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. F. S. Clarke.
Vice President—Mrs. J. M. Brundage.
Secretary—Mrs. R. A. Pease.
Treasurer—Mrs. Wm. Orvis.
Delegate to Chautauqua Assembly—Mrs. Roxanna Burrows.

LOCATING POST OFFICE

Post Office Inspector Johnson Here Looking Over Ground

Post Office Inspector, L. A. Johnson of Friendship, was in Andover Monday and Tuesday, looking over several places suggested for a post office.

Some months ago bids were advertised for a post office building, for a term of five or ten years. Two or three bids were put in and Mr. Johnson was here to look the ground over

The buildings offered the government for post office use were the present location, owned by Mrs. Gertrude Burrows; the store now occupied by the Rice Music store, in the Home Enterprise Block; and the store recently vacated by Fay Davis in the Vars cement building.

Mr. Johnson kindly listened to the good points of each property as related to him by their advocates, and will undoubtedly recommend the one in his judgment best fitted for the purpose, and offered at the most reasonable rent

JOHN FORNESS

(From the Buffalo Currier)

A devout Catholic and an esteemed citizen was called to receive the reward of an upright life on Tuesday afternoon, when John Forness passed away at the family home, 105 Glenwood avenue, comforted by the presence of wife and children and fortified by all the rights of the church. Mr. Forness, though he had reached his sixty-fifth year, had been comparatively active in his business until two months ago, when he became ill with heart trouble.

The name of John Forness has been associated with Buffalo's business life for many years. He was born here and his first undertaking was the grocery business, which he followed for several years; his store was located in Allen street. Then came the partnership with his brother, Hon. C. V. Forness of New York City in the wholesale woolen business. When the brothers decided to establish a branch in Buffalo, John Forness returned and assumed charge. As time passed, the firm bought out the M. Spiegal company and it then became the Forness-Spiegal company, with the late John Forness and his sons as proprietors and managers.

Catholic Buffalo will miss John Fornes. He was a member of the building committee which erected the Catholic Institute; was a trustee of St. Nicholas' Church, and a member of Br. 65 C. M. B. A. Canisius Sodality and the Third Order of St. Francis.

The funeral mass will be celebrated to-morrow morning at St. Nicholas' Church, at 9:30 o'clock, by the deceased's son, Rev. Walter F. Fornes.

Mr. Fornes is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Clara B. Forness, and seven sons, Frederic C., John N., Joseph A., Re. Walter F., Edward G., Robert V., and Girard L., to whom sincere sympathy is extended upon the loss of a devoted husband and kind and solicitious father.

Mr. Forness was a cousin of John Forness of Andover.
